GAINS TITLE ON SHARKEY'S LOW BLOW IN FOURTH

Jack Leading When He Ends Fight.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 12.—Jack Sharkey fouled Max Schmeling in the fourth round of their prize fight for the heavyweight championship of the world this evening and Schmeling was awarded the victory and the championship on this ground.

They had their battle in the Yankee stadium with about 70,000 customers present and more than $740,000 of the customers' money in the vaults. Sharkey was far ahead of Schmeling at the time the fight ended, having punched him into a dazed condition in the first minute of round three, when Schmeling had to go deep into his reserve strength for the stamina to keep going.

The concluding punch, a left to the body, was delivered as Sharkey leaped at his man close to the ropes. There was a quick muffled drum of gloves. Both of Sharkey's mitts hammered the body, a right hand landing close to the line of Schmeling's trunks.

Max Goes Down in Dust.

Then, unseen by most of the crowd, unseen by one of the judges, and apparently unseen by the referee, Charlie Crowley, a left hand ripped in low and Schmeling flopped to the canvas in a little puff of rosin dust, his dark features wrenched in an expression of agony and one hand clawing at his abdomen as if he had stopped a bullet.

Crowley, the referee, ignoring Schmeling's mute show of complaint, turned to the knockdown timer, who had risen at the margin of the ring and was banging on the deck with his bung starter. Crowley again faced about and seemed irresolute.

He did not disqualify Sharkey, but neither did he pick up and repeat the count.

When the timer had rapped five times the bell rang, ending the fourth round, and Schmeling's seconds, wearing sweaters in the orange and black of the German flag, went tumbling through the ropes in a wild dash to pick up their man. Joey Jacobs, Schmeling's manager; Max Machon, his trainer, and Doc Casey, his third second, grabbed him up and hauled him to his corner, although he was able to use his legs. They whirled the brass arm of the stool up from the ring post, placed it under Schmeling, and eased him down.

Crowley Hesitates on Decision.

Crowley still made no decision of foul, but walked across the ring to consult Charlie Mathison, one of the judges. Mathison said he hadn't seen the punch. Meantime, the intermission was speeding and the fight, officially, was still on. Sharkey sat in his corner awaiting the next bell, strangely quiet for so erratic a man. Crowley then appealed to Harold Barnes, the other judge, who had been sitting just under the fighters as they came along the ropes on his side of the ring.

"The punch was low," Barnes said, and just as the bell rang for the fifth round Crowley walked to Schmeling's corner, apparently still with no definite opinion.

At the bell, Sharkey jumped from his corner, rushed half way to Schmeling's corner and stopped dead with his hands down as Joey Jacobs raged along the ropes, screaming at the press row and calling upon the world to witness that his fighter had been foully dealt with.

"That judge says, foul," Jacobs yelled at Crowley, and then, turning to the other seconds in his corner, he raised his voice to a shrill squawk.

"Don't let him out of that corner," he commanded. "Keep him on the stool. He was fouled and they're trying to get away with it."

Sharkey Strangely Calm.

Sharkey retired to his corner and, with the heavyweight championship and its million dollar value slipping away from him on the comedy of the 24 foot square, his demeanor was a startling contrast with his shrieking, cursing hysteria of that night in Miami, four months ago, when he fouled Fainting Philip Scott of England, but won, nevertheless. Sharkey stood, stately and composed, although gnawing at his upper lip. In a few seconds more the fight was over and, with Jacobs still screaming for his million dollar prize, Crowley decided to concur with Barnes.

Dr. William Walker, the officiating physician, a brother of Mayor James J. Walker, examined Schmeling in

A RESOLUTION

The intolerable outrages of the past year against civic decency and public security in Chicago have culminated dramatically in the cowardly murder of Alfred J. Lingle, a newspaper reporter.

The undersigned Chicago daily newspapers interpret that murder as an especially significant challenge to the millions of decent citizens who have suffered the vicious activities, in defiance of law and order, of some paltry hundreds of criminal vagrants known as gangsters.

Considering the causes and the connotations of the unbelievable total of one hundred gang murders in little more than a year and acting in accord and unison, we pledge our organizations and our resources to the clean-up of gang, police, official, and any other public viciousness wherever it may appear, in order that corruption and the resulting gang activities may be brought to an end, and thereby restoring to the citizens of Chicago civic decency and security of life and property.

Capone Wine Wasted on Miami Society

Miami, Fla., June 12.—[Special.]—Evidence that Al Capone had served liquor openly and had held open house to all comers was given at the second day of the Capone padlock hearings by R. B. Burdine, president of Burdine's, Miami's largest department store.

Burdine was chosen by the finance committee of the Miami community chest in 1929 to call upon the gangster chief and solicit Capone for a donation. The gangster donated a check for $1,000, which was later, on protest of citizens of Miami Beach, returned to him. Burdine was called as a state's witness.

He said that he was sent to the Capone home on Palm island on the morning of March 8, 1929, by the committee. Capone learned of his coming and sent a friend to Burdine's store to meet him and drive him to the Capone home.

Sink Full of Champagne.

Asked by the state's attorney whether he had seen any intoxicants at the Capone home, he said:

"If I have to answer I will say I did. I saw plenty of it. A lot of champagne was served. It was very nice. Some drank Scotch, but champagne was served continuously. I saw a sink literally loaded with champagne, and it looked very attractive."

Asked if any of the guests became intoxicated, Burdine replied:

"Some were sober and some were not so sober."

Burdine said that from twenty to forty persons were moving about the house the two hours he was there. Capone moved about among the guests aiding the Negro butler in serving the liquor. In one of the rooms there was a card game; in others men were sitting around talking. A tailor came to sell some suits, was given a drink, and joined the party.

Appeals for Social Bid.

Burdine also testified that Capone had bought from his store goods that would certainly run into five figures, and that he had talked to him each time that the gangster visited the store.

On the redirect examination, Burdine said he had been approached by Capone's representatives, who suggested that Burdine sponsor the entrance of Capone into Miami society. It was suggested, Burdine said, that he might "fix up some kind of a party outside of his home and have him there as a guest."

Burdine said he failed to agree to the requests of Capone because "I knew I could not carry Capone among my friends, who would not have stood for it. If I did I would be severely criticized. I hate to say these things; I feel very much like a stool pigeon. I was at his house and this talk of a party came up. Some one suggested that I, as president of the country club, could arrange a party there and I told him that I might. But, of course, when I mentioned it out at the club they would not even discuss the thing because they knew it would not do."

"Why not?" Giblin asked.

"It wouldn't do," Burdine answered. "He is what we call a gangster. He doesn't fit in with my friends. I think he's dangerous to society and to the world at large."

"Will you define a gangster?" Giblin asked.

Burdine declared a gangster is "a man who kills when it is necessary, who carries his point with whatever weapon is at hand, who takes the law into his own hands, has no respect for law or decent society, who makes his own laws. He thinks nothing of human life or its sanctity."

When Burdine declared he was a gangster, Capone leaned forward glowering, but was quieted by his attorneys.

10 POLICE DOGS ATTACK CHILD, 6; FEAR SHE'LL DIE

Six year old Lillian Meier, daughter of Gustav Meier, a truck farmer living at 8939 Central Park avenue, Niles Center, was attacked yesterday by ten police dogs and so severely bitten that little hope is held for her recovery at the St. Francis hospital, Evanston.

She had set out alone to call her father to dinner from the farm. The dogs escaped from a kennel on the place of Mr. and Mrs. Max Jacob Hartman, which is located on a stretch of prairie near the Meiers. She had walked but a half block when the pack leaped upon her, bearing her to the ground and viciously scratching and biting her face, body and legs.

Her father, who had left his work earlier than usually, witnessed the tragedy a block away. He was carrying a hoe. Running up, he charged the animals, knocking them down one after another, as they fought back. Mrs. Meier, hearing the screams, came to his assistance. The child was finally rescued.

Three of the dogs were later captured by the Niles Center police, and three returned to the kennels.

Dives 1,426 Feet in Ocean; Tells Sights

William Beebe, scientist and explorer, who is investigating the secrets of "Davy Jones' locker" off the coast of Bermuda, descended 1,426 feet under the surface of the ocean yesterday in a steel ball with fused quartz windows. Two days ago he descended 800 feet. Mr. Beebe herewith describes his experiences:

BY WILLIAM BEEBE.
[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 12.—I descended with Otis Barton in a steel ball 5 miles south of Monesuch island to a depth of 1,426 feet.

We were lowered at fair speed from the deck of the tug, Barton attending to the telephone and being clearly heard by Gloria Hollister, who was taking notes on deck. I was watching the observation windows. The cable meter registered 1,426 feet and the measured lengths of cable showed 1,428 feet, where the pressure was 652 pounds to the square inch and the weight of the water on the sphere 3,100 tons.

See Deep Sea Fish.

We flew the flags of the Explorers' Club of the New York Zoölogical society.

A dead fish fastened to the sphere attracted the deep sea fish in the vicinity, many luminous ones and shrimps were readily observable, attesting to the scientific value of the apparatus. All the light rays except the blue and violet at the end of the spectrum were cut off and it seemed brilliant outside, but the light was insufficiently strong to read the oxygen gauges within.

Stay Under Hour and Half.

The only discomfort we felt was the reduced pressure when, after one and a half hours from the time we had left the deck, the sphere was opened and the pressure relaxed. It had increased, due to the oxygen released from the tanks, only the carbon dioxide having been absorbed by the sodium. Otherwise we were both perfectly all right.

Expect Senate Will Approve Tariff Today

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 12.—[Special.]—Adoption of the tariff conference report by the senate tomorrow by a margin of probably two votes was assured today when Senators David A. Reed and Joseph R. Grundy [Rep., Pa.] announced their intention to supportr it, though they didn't entirely approve of it. They said business needed a quick end to tariff uncertainty.

On the basis of polls which are generally accepted to be correct, 49 senators, a bare majority, favor adoption of the conference report, while 47 oppose it.

44 Republicans for It.

The 49 for the bill include 44 Republicans and five Democrats, while the 47 against include 34 Democrats, 12 Republicans, and one Farmer-Labor member.

The actual totals in tomorrow's roll call will be somewhat less, as there are likely to be as many as six sets of pairs. If six senators are paired for the bill and six against it, the conference report will be adopted by a vote of 43 to 41, a margin of two votes.

After approval of the conference report by the senate it will be sent to the house, where final action will be taken on Saturday. The long pending bill will be in the hands of President Hoover early next week. It continues to be a virtual certainty that the President will sign the measure, although he will be bombarded with appeals to veto it.

Wants Early Relief.

"My strong inclination has been to vote against this bill, however paradoxical it might seem for a Republican protectionist from Pennsylvania to do such a thing," said Senator Reed. "But in recent hours I have come to the conclusion that that would be wrong, not because of such great merit in the bill itself, although it does give some relief in some places; not because I approve of these agricultural rates, because I do not, but because American industry is entitled to be relieved of the agitation that has been going on now for nearly two years; because American business has stood about all of us that it can stand; because it is almost better that tariff legislation be ended than that it be ended right."

Senator Grundy expressed generally similar views.

THRONGS HONOR ALFRED LINGLE AT LAST RITES

City Pays Tribute to Slain Reporter.

$55,000 IN REWARDS.
Rewards totaling $55,000 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Alfred J. Lingle, slain TRIBUNE reporter, was buried yesterday afternoon in Mount Carmel cemetery. The funeral services at Our Lady of Sorrows church, 3121 Jackson boulevard, were attended by a throng that filled the church to its doors. Other friends, unable to gain entrance, crowded the steps and sidewalks outside. Military organizations joined in the tribute to Lingle, who was a veteran of the world war.

Squadrons of mounted police, of patrolmen afoot, of American Legion post members, in and out of uniform, detachments of naval reserves and blue jackets from the Great Lakes Naval Training station, and a company of Chicago firemen participated in the procession that escorted the funeral cortège the final mile to the church doors.

Honor to Lingle.

In the church were officials, capitalists, plain clothes men, lawyers, judges, and, most of all, Lingle's own world of the newspaper—from publishers down to reporters, linotype operators, men from the pressroom and the mailing department.

Among those in the church were: Deputy Police Commissioners Thomas Wolfe and Martin Mullen, Chief of Detectives John Stege, Capt. William Schoemaker, Coroner Herman N. Bundesen, Judge Francis B. Allegretti, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, State's Attorney John A. Swanson, Deputy Chief of Detectives John Egan, Capts. Daniel Gilbert, Michael Grady, and Daniel Lynch, Judge Edgar A. Jonas, Judge William R. Fetzer, Capt. William Schramm of the west park police, Assessor Charles Krutckoff, County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer, Ald. Joseph B. McDonough, and Howard Savage, past national commander of the American Legion.

Police Lead the March.

As the hearse, followed by a long line of mourners' cars, reached Central Park avenue and Madison street in Garfield park, the military escort waiting there in line started south toward Jackson boulevard. Motorcycle police cleared the street down to and beyond the church.

Mounted police, six abreast, reined their horses to a walk as the cavalcade moved past the church. They were followed by khaki clad patrolmen marching afoot, pacing to the slow tempo of the dirge played by the Chicago Federation of Musicians' band, just behind them. Then came members of the Union Labor post of the American Legion in civilian clothes.

Members of the Gas company's Legion post, in uniforms of red and blue, and the drum and bugle corps of the Commonwealth Edison post, with muted drums and draped bugles, ranged themselves at attention in double file on the north side of the street, next to the long files of police on their left.

Firemen Take Up Position.

The company of city firemen marched past and stood farther east in the same order.

A crack company of Illinois naval reserves, their rifles over their shoulders, paced to a position directly in front of the church steps. The band from the Great Lakes Naval Training station, which was next in the line of march, was maneuvered into position beside the reservists and to their right.

Then came the slow roll of muffled drums, and the blue and gold uniformed drum and bugle corps of the Medill-Tribune American Legion post, of which Lingle was a member, marched up the steps, forming a double line through which the casket was borne. As it was taken from the hearse the naval reservists snapped to "present arms," and his former comrades stood at salute.

Family Enters Church.

On the arm of her brother-in-law, Ted Lingle of San Francisco, who arrived early yesterday morning, Mrs. Helen Lingle, the widow, entered the church. She was followed by Lingle's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Darst of Kansas City.

After them, uncomprehending but awed, walked a small boy with Jake Lingle's curly black hair—Alfred Lingle Jr.—and his smaller sister, Dolores, with a sober little face beneath her frilly poke bonnet.

Against the gold and white and indirect electric lighting of the high altar, a tall crucifix stood out in silhouette as the silvered bronze casket was borne to the sanctuary for the requiem high mass that followed.

There it was placed between six large lighted tapers by the pallbearers—some of Jake's best friends. They were Commissioner of Police William Russell, James Doherty, Moses Lamson, and Edward H. Johnson of THE TRIBUNE staff; James Murphy of the Daily Times, and "Buddy" McHugh of the Evening American, veteran police reporters; Lieut. Tom McFarland of the detective bureau, and Harry Ash, assistant attorney general of Illinois.

Three Priests Perform Rites.

Three Servite priests participated in the requiem mass, with the Very Rev. Jerome Mulherin, a friend of the slain reporter, as the celebrant.

"Thou shalt not kill," Father Mulherin reminded the congregation in his discourse, "is a commandment that was promulgated by God on Mount Sinai. It is a law that still holds good. When Cain slew his brother Abel, God said to him, 'the voice of thy brother's blood crieth to me for vengeance; thou shalt be a fugitive on the face of the earth,' and so the murderer of this man who lies here has become a fugitive.

"Vengeance is mine, and I will repay, God has told us. Now is the time for us to arise from sleep and enlist the efforts of lawfully constituted authority. It is the duty of every law abiding man to rise against these forces that are destroying the home and society.

"Words of praise are out of place on this occasion. They would be futile. We pray for him the ancient prayer of the church. 'Eternal rest grant unto him, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon him. May he rest in peace.'"

Cortége Starts for Cemetery.

With flags furled, the Medill-Tribune post's color guard and escort left the church, preceding the casket. Behind it came the widow and other relatives.

Led by the musicians' band, to the strains of the Chopin Funeral March, the military escort moved west in the boulevard in the same order in which it had marched to the church. At the entrance to Garfield Park the various groups again drew up in double file, at attention, while the hearse, escorted by eight Great Lakes sailors, passed. A lengthy procession of automobiles followed to Mount Carmel.

There some 3,000 persons gathered for the last brief prayers at the grave. As the voice of the priest ceased there was a rattle of shifted rifles, a word of command, and a sharp volley as the last salute was fired by a squad of sailors from Great Lakes.

"Requiescat in pace," murmured Father Mulherin.

The quiet about the tent that sheltered the grave was pierced by the thin, high notes of a bugle sounding "Taps."

FORBES NAMED BY HOOVER FOR ENVOY TO JAPAN

Washington, D. C., June 12.—(AP)—President Hoover moved today to fill the last of the major diplomatic posts now vacant by nominating W. Cameron Forbes, wealthy Bostonian, as ambassador to Japan.

Mr. Forbes has been in public life at intervals since 1904, when he became a member of the Philippine commission, but this is his first diplomatic post. He was governor general of the islands from 1909 to 1913, and in 1921 was a member of the Wood-Forbes commission selected by President Harding to investigate conditions in the islands.

POLICE SMASH AT GANGS AGAIN; 664 ARE SEIZED

Publishers and Pastors Spur Raids on Crime.

Police Commissioner Russell and Chief of Detectives Stege sent out detective bureau squads last night on another onslaught against the gangs.

In the 24 hour period ending at midnight the squadmen had seized 664 prisoners, 79 of whom were held at the detective bureau. In accordance with a policy of secrecy, declared in effect by Commissioner Russell until the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, TRIBUNE reporter, is solved, the names of the important prisoners captured were suppressed. Three of those arrested were found armed.

Gang Chiefs Gone, Stege Says.

"Reports from the squad leaders indicate that gang leaders have fled the city," Chief Stege said. "I am confident that Chicago right now is rid of the worst of its criminal element. We shall see whether they dare come back to face our squads of police marksmen."

Of the prisoners seized thus far in the cleanup campaign inspired by Lingle's murder, 119 have police records. The three armed men captured last night are Walter Fordney, 1156 East 61st street, a Checker cab driver; Jack Dobson, 20 years old, 6730 Cornell avenue, no occupation, and Steve Bimbo, 24 years old, 716 North Clark street, a gypsy.

Spur War on Crime.

The war on gangsters was spurred yesterday by messages and statements of newspaper publishers and clergymen. A resolution, adopted by the publishers, is printed elsewhere in this issue.

"The church must back up the newspaper to the fullest extent in their campaign against criminals and gangsters," said the Rev. Howard R. Brinker, president of the Episcopal clergy's organization of the city and rector of St. Bartholomew's church. "The church can be of the greatest assistance by influencing public opinion in favor of law enforcement.

"There never was a time in the history of Chicago when we needed the moral support and the backing of the decent people as we do today. The clergy should make the crime situation the subject of sermons as a means of arousing interest."

"Limit of Endurance Reached."

"The Lingle tragedy brings Chicago to the limit of endurance," said the Rev. Harold L. Bowen, rector of St. Peter's church. "It is the duty of the churches to aid and encourage the eradication of our crime situation regardless of where investigation and punishment lead."

The Rev. Dr. John Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, wrote to Stege yesterday, saying he deplored the public criticism directed at the police department.

"Fighting organized crime is equally as difficult as fighting an unseen enemy which attacks without warning and disappears," his letter said. "I believe, sir, that you are entitled to the city's gratitude for carrying on your hard battle." The Rev. Mr. Thompson has called a meeting for today or tomorrow of influential clergymen. They will meet in the Chicago Temple to devise effective war on crime.

Ted Newberry Found Alive.

Detective bureau desks were piled with messages from out of town. Many of them were from New York and concerned the arrest and the release of seven Chicago men as possible suspects in the Lingle murder. From pictures and finger prints received from New York one of the prisoners, who had given his name as Edward Morrison, was identified as Ted Newberry.

That identification was significant for several reasons, the police said. First, they pointed out, it established that Newberry is alive. There had been many reports that Newberry had been killed in the war for profits from alcohol, beer, and booze on the north side, a field long dominated by Newberry and George ["Bugs"] Moran.

A more important conclusion, according to the police, was that Newberry had gone over to the side of his former enemy, Alphonse Capone. There was a time when Newberry said his life would be forfeit if he went south of Madison street—the Capone territory—yet he was arrested in the company of Jack Gusick, right hand man of Capone, and Dennis Cooney, a Capone cafe operator.

Seven on Way to Fight.

Newberry, Gusick, Cooney, Pete Fusco, Edward Vogel, Paul Ricca, and Agostino Loverde were taken from a train nearing New York City. In a traveling bag they had $60,000, which they said was to be bet on the Sharkey-Schmeling fight.

The detective bureau notified the New York City police that none of the seven prisoners was wanted here.

Inspector John Sullivan of the New York force said he was on the watch for other Chicago refugee gangsters who have fled the city.

The Montreal police reported guards at all border points of entry had been ordered to keep a strict watch for fleeing Chicago gunmen who are not wanted in Canada. Police Chief Langevin of Montreal said he was ready to assist the Chicago police in any way.

From Detroit came a message that shortly before Police Commissioner H. H. Emmons left office he had been given a list containing the names, records, and photographs of well known Chicago gangsters. Yesterday Norville Marlette, head of the Black Hand squad, and William Collins of the holdup squad took out squads of six men each to look for Chicago crooks on that list.

Two Seized in Lexington, Ky.

Two Chicago men, Max Schneider and Louis Clusman, were arrested in Lexington, Ky., and questioned as possible suspects. They said they went to Kentucky with Terry Druggan, notorious beer runner. They were being held pending word from the Chicago police.

At Kansas City, Mo., Ben Green and Joe Condi, who said they fled Chicago because of the Lingle murder and the resultant police activity, were held as suspects.

In Chicago the police found Peter Genna, one of the surviving alcohol gang brothers; James Belcastro, described by the police as a bomber, and Rocco Fanelli, vice monger and Capone gunman. They spent the night in jail, it being the second time in a week for Belcastro and Fanelli, who are of the 28 "public enemies."

Judge Joseph L. McCarthy criticized the police yesterday for making arrests without having evidence upon which a conviction may be obtained.

Lieut. William Cusack had raided an Aiello stronghold a half hour after the slaying of Lingle, having previous information that a machine gun arsenal could be found at 473 West Division street. He found only one shotgun and two pistols, however, and the prisoners taken were Carl and Dominick Aiello, brothers of the Joe Aiello who aspired to chief of the Chicago Sicilians but now has fled, Frank Grundotozo, Cito Bottetto, Mike Risso, and Dominick Tripoli.

Their attorney, I. R. Goldberg, testified they were all hard working men and Judge McCarthy continued the case after scolding the police.

Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson gave assurances to Commissioner Russell and Chief Stege late yesterday that Mayor Thompson had refused to listen to a demand by Ald. Arthur F. Albert [43d] to direct them to take a furlough and let some one else handle the investigation of the Lingle murder. Ettelson said there was no reason to imply any lack of confidence in the two highest police officials.

Ald. Albert announced that when Commissioner of Police Russell and Chief Stege appear before the police committee of the city council on Monday he will demand their resignations. If they refuse, he said, he will repeat the demand on the floor of the council.

HOOVER RENOMINATES LEGGE, TEAGUE FOR FEDERAL FARM BOARD

Washington, D. C., June 12.—(AP)—President Hoover today gave his approval to the work of the federal farm board by sending to the senate the nominations for reappointment of Chairman Legge of Chicago and C. C. Teague of California, the representative of fruits and vegetables on the board.

Both were appointed upon the formation of the board for one year terms, which expire Saturday.

Immediately after receiving the nominations Chairman McNary of the senate agriculture committee announced that the committee would meet Monday to consider them.

No indication was given by those who opposed the confirmation of Legge before as to whether the attack upon him would be resumed.

SHOT IN HOLDUP; FOUR SEIZED ON HIS CONFESSION

Four alleged holdup men suspected of ten recent robberies were arrested last night by the state's attorney's police at 330 South Oakley avenue. They are John Breisco, who lives at the Oakley avenue address; Tony Schilo, 1307 Oregon street; Tony Marchetta, 819 South California avenue; and James A. Pope, 2439 West Superior street.

Breisco was carrying a gun. He is a brother-in-law of James Sassone, 1535 West Polk street. In a holdup last week of the clothing store of Wolf Spikler, 2157 North Halsted street, Sassone was wounded when Spikler opened fire on the robbers. At the Bridewell hospital Sassone made a confession implicating the other four. The raid by the state's attorney's police was the result.

ARIE RETURNS HOME TO FIND HELENE QUEEN

ing Carol Elevates His Ex-Wife to Throne.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, June 12. — Queen ther Marie returned to the Ruma- an capital in triumph this evening see the royal family united, her est son king and her daughter-in- queen.

ior to her arrival King Carol II. d issued a special decree proclaim- g his divorced wife, Princess Helene, een of Rumania. The decree read follows:

"By vote of parliament, which an- lled all acts promulgated after Jan. 1926, the king enters into the rights had before that date, and in view the fact that his marriage was solved subsequently the king au- orizes her royal highness, Princess lene, to bear the title 'her maj- y.'"

Decree Wipes Out Divorce.

Carol's divorce with Helene was one those acts of parliament and to- y's decree, it is stated, wipes out divorce as illegal. This does not an that the two have become per- ally reconciled, it was explained court circles tonight. The recon- ation, however, is believed sure to low within a few days.

he entire royal family is convoked Cotroceni palace tonight, with een Marie as arbiter, and it is be- ed that all family differences will thrashed out and settled, includ- of course, the delicate relations Carol and Helene.

new crisis loomed as the family , when Gen. Constantine Presan, year old hero of the Rumanian y, failed to form a government returned the mandate to King rol.

Meeting Is Dramatic.

ueen Marie's meeting with King rol was dramatic. She arrived on a cial train at 7 o'clock and went to prodigal son, an outlaw prince en she left for Germany a week , and now, by grace of the first plane coup in history, ruler of Ru- nia.

ueen Marie's private car had been ched from the Orient express at Rumanian border and a special al train was formed to conduct her remaining distance to the capital. e little railroad station here, which built in the days when Bucharest just another Balkan town, was y bedecked with flags and flowers. ng the station platform a royal nson carpet was laid, and the king's rd, with plumed hats, gold braid, glistening bayonets, was drawn up protect the right of way.

Soldiers Hold Crowd Back.

utside thousands tried to get a d view, but a regiment of soldiers t them back. The route from the ion to Cotroceni palace was a mass flags, with troops forming a solid clear through the capital.

ing Carol, accompanied by his 8 r old son, the former King Michael, his brother, Prince Nicholas, ar- d at the station 15 minutes ahead ime and stood in the waiting room tting with attendants and gen- ls. Five minutes before the train e Carol strode out and scanned the , talking with his son.

ing Carol was resplendent in his uniform of commander-in-chief of Rumanian army. Little Michael ked more like an English schoolboy h his blue serge suit and Panama Prince Nicholas wore the uni- of a naval officer.

Helene and Ileana Absent.

ormer Queen Elizabeth of Greece there, too, but not Princess Helene. ther was Princess Ileana, Queen rie's youngest and favorite daugh- , who is vacationing in Cairo, Egypt. ueen Marie, clad in a snug, close ing hat and a gray afternoon frock, s standing looking out of the car ndow when the train pulled in. She mbed out before it stopped, and hed into Carol's arms. He kissed on both cheeks, and then she braced little Michael and former en Elizabeth and Prince Nicholas. hile King Carol stood by, a whole tform full of generals, admirals government notables, filed by to the queen's hand. Only long rded, long gowned Patriarch Miron istea failed to do this, for a church table, according to a protocal, kisses one's hand, not even the queen's. y just shook hands.

Crowd Breaks Through.

he royal party then stepped through an arber of flowers to the waiting automobiles.

In the square in front of the station, 50,000 loyal shouting subjects wanted to get a good long look at the king and his mother. Just as the royal party stepped out of the station, hundreds broke through the lines of soldiers. Extra troops, however, kept the crowds from reaching the royal autos.

Queen Marie, carrying two huge bouquets of roses, followed by King Carol and young Michael, took her place in the first car, and Nicholas and Elizabeth followed in the second. The royal family motored to Cotroceni palace while thousands more along the route yelled themselves hoarse.

SON SPENDS $40,000 ON HIGH LIFE WITH BEAUTY, MOTHER SAYS

New York, June 12.—[Special.]—The answer of Mrs. Selma C. Young, rich society dowager living at the Sherry Netherlands hotel here, to a charge that she connived at the relationship between pretty Mona O'Connor, 18 year old dance hall hostess, and her son, Otto Heyworth, was made public today.

In this she confessed a losing battle to induce her son, heir of a Chicago merchant prince, to lead a moral life, and declared that within the last six months he had spent $40,000 on high life with the twinkling toed beauty.

Mrs. Young's affidavit of reply was forced to light in proceedings in the $250,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Gertrude O'Connor, the girl's mother.

Her answer attacked the girl's character, asserted the son is 32, and adds: "I had no control over his actions for a number of years. I have endeavored to induce him to lead a moral life and to avoid dissolute persons, both men and women, without success."

SWEETIE FOLLOWS CAROL

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 12.—Auburn haired Magda Lupescu's long exile from Rumania, which she shared in France for four years with Prince Carol as his companion, first in a villa near Paris and more recently in a Normandy château he bought for her, tonight is nearing its termination.

She arrived in Vienna today and went to an aunt's home. She does not expect to linger in the Austrian capital, however. King Carol II. will send some one, probably an army officer, to conduct her safely to Bucharest.

In an interview just before her departure from Paris she reaffirmed that her life with Carol is ended and denied the young king had sent for her.

Wants to See Mother's Grave.

"I am going to see my father and brother, and I want to visit my mother's grave," she said. "I was not allowed to return to Rumania for my mother's funeral when she died two years ago. I am absolutely not going to rejoin King Carol, but he well understands one's desire to return to one's own country after four years of exile. Perhaps because he can sympathize with this desire he has not exacted a promise from me to wait the specified length of time before returning. I believe my impatience is pardonable under the circumstances. I do not want to delay my return any longer."

Nevertheless, Mme. Lupescu was counselled by friends here to wait at least until conditions had become more settled in Rumania, and it is believed her aunt may prevail upon her to tarry a little while longer. She was warned that political fanatics in a patriotic fervor might even consider her to be an enemy of Rumania and might make an attempt on her life if she returned just now. This very thought occurred to Carol, it was explained, and he decided it would be prudent to give her the protection of a military escort from Vienna to Bucharest.

Girl, Unable to Tell Her Name, Held by Police

A demure young woman about 19 years old, with flaxen hair and blue eyes, approached South Park Policeman John Dalton at Michigan avenue and Jackson boulevard last evening and timidly inquired the direction to a park. "What park?" retorted the policeman, to which the young woman pleasantly replied that any park would do. Subsequent questions by the policeman developed that the young woman had forgotten her name, address, occupation, and destination, if any. In her purse were 4 cents, a street car transfer of the Kedzie avenue line, and a scrap of paper on which was penciled the name, Rita Reynolds. She was held at the missing persons bureau.

RECTOR QUITS AS ANGLICAN TO BE ROMAN CATHOLIC

New York, June 12.—[Special.]—The Rev. Dr. Selden P. Delany has sent in his resignation as rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. Mary the Virgin to enter the Roman Catholic church. This is the most prominent and the largest Anglo-Catholic church in the Protestant Episcopal communion. The Rev. Dr. Delany is internationally kown as editor of the American Church Monthly.

It is understood he will spend the next two years in Rome studying for the priesthood of the Roman Catholic church. He is unmarried. Dr. Delany was reared a Presbyterian. While a student at Harvard university he became a Protestant Episcopalian.

Surprise was expressed in Protestant Episcopal circles today when news of Dr. Delany's intention was learned. A few days ago it has became known, he sent a letter to Bishop William T. Manning stating that his convictions would not permit him longer to remain in the Protestant Episcopal ministry.

Dr. Delany was not reached yesterday. The rumor this evening was that he had secluded himself temporarily in a Catholic monastery.

OFFICIALS FILE APPEAL IN SUIT FOR EXPERT FEES

The appeals of Mayor Thompson and George F. Harding in the suit of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE as a taxpayer to recover $1,732,279 paid out in a former Thompson administration as "experts' fees" were submitted to the Supreme court in Springfield yesterday without oral argument. The case will go on the advisement docket. The October term is said to be the earliest that a decision can be expected.

THE TRIBUNE suit was filed in 1921 and evidence was taken for two years in the Circuit court before a decision was given.

The decision orders the defendants, Thompson, Harding, Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, and others to return to the city the sum of $2,245,604, the amount of the experts' fees plus interest. Faherty is before the Supreme court in a separate action.

SENATE RENEWS ITS DEMAND FOR TREATY RECORD

Stimson on Radio Asking Support for Pact.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 12.—[Special.]—The senate foreign relations committee today adopted a resolution asserting its right to have full access to all records, files, and other secret data touching on the negotiation of the London naval treaty and transmitted this document to the state department. By a vote of 10 to 7, during which party lines were ignored, the committee went on record as dissenting from the administration's previous decision refusing to hand over the documents.

The resolution called attention to the two refusals on the part of the state department, acting at the direction of the President, to make the confidential treaty correspondence available to the senate, on the ground that the treaty must be judged by the language of the document itself and not from extraneous matter. To this doctrine, said the resolution, the committee must dissent.

In this connection it was added that the committee "regards all facts which enter into the antecedent or attendant negotiations of a treaty as relevant and pertinent when the senate is considering a treaty for the purpose of ratification."

Stimson Takes to Radio.

While neither the White House nor the state department replied to the senate committee's implied criticism of the administration attitude on the secret doctrine controversy, Secretary of State Stimson carried the fight for popular support of the pact to the country in a radio address tonight. In this pronouncement Secretary Stimson coupled a plea for prompt senate ratification of the treaty with a caustic denunciation of American naval officers who criticized certain sections of the treaty during the public hearings before senate foreign relations and naval affairs committees. Mr. Stimson urged against delaying action on the naval treaty until a special session this fall, asserting such a step would throw the pact into party politics and endanger international good will built up during the last ten years.

Prior to the delivery of his address, Secretary Stimson conferred at length with President Hoover on the senate resolution.

The opposition to the treaty ratification was jubilant at the passage of the resolution and predictions were current that unless the controversy over the secret treaty correspondence is settled shortly the present session of congress will adjourn before the pact is acted on by the senate committee.

How They Voted.

Chairman William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], was among the ten voting for the resolution. Other senators voting in the affirmative were Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.], George E. Moses [Rep., N. H.], Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.], Arthur R. Robinson [Rep., Ind], Claude A. Swanson [Dem., Va.], Key Pittman [Dem., Nev.], Hugo Black [Dem., Ala.], Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.], and Henry Shipstead [Farmer-Labor, Minn.].

Against the resolution were aligned the following senators: Arthur Capper [Rep., Kas.], David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], F. H. Gillett [Rep., Mass.], Simeon D. Fess [Rep., Ohio], Arthur Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], and Walter F. George [Dem., Ga.]. Three senators did not vote.

High Lights of Resolution.

The pertinent paragraphs of the resolution read as follows:

"Whereas, The secretary of state by direction of the President has denied a second request from this committee for the papers (the confidential correspondence) above described; and in his letter to the chairman of this committee has apparently attempted to establish the doctrine that the treaty of London must be considered by the senate 'from the language of the document itself and not from extraneous matter.' Therefore, be it

"Resolved, That this committee dissents from such doctrine and regards all facts which enter into the antecedent or attendant negotiations of any treaty as relevant and pertinent when the senate is considering a treaty for the purpose of ratification, and that this committee hereby asserts its right, as the designated agent of the senate, to have free and full access to all records, files, and other information touching the negotiation of any treaty, this right being based upon the constitutional prerogative of the senate in the treaty making process; and be it further

"Resolved, That the chairman of this committee transmit a copy of these resolutions to the President and to the secretary of state."

It was disclosed tonight that Senators Johnson, Shipstead, Robinson [Ind.], and Black, leaders of the senatorial group fighting for possession of the documents, are prepared to lead a fight to force through a resolution informing the President that unless he produces all the treaty data the committee will refuse to report out the pact to the senate.

Praises London Treaty.

In his address Secretary Stimson pictured the London treaty as a much needed step on the long road toward international understanding and peace. While praising the Washington treaty of 1922, Mr. Stimson said it left a "loophole" for future trouble when it limited only battleships and aircraft carriers. Likewise, Secretary Stimson said that while the execution of the Kellogg anti-war treaty was an important event, "affirmative practical steps" must be taken to carry out that resolution before it is of any value to the world. The London treaty, Mr. Stimson said, was such a step.

"The London treaty," Mr. Stimson continued, "is a culmination of a ten year movement toward peace between the various naval powers of the world and also a step in the vitalization of the Kellogg pact. This treaty is now pending for ratification in each of the three countries to which its full restrictions will apply—America, Japan, and England." The naval opposition to the treaty he described as "blindfolded," "narrow," "intolerant," and one which was against all naval limitation.

Criticizes Naval Experts.

After calling attention to the circumstances that the treaty has been criticized by naval officers in each of the three signatory nations, Mr. Stimson said:

"All of these predictions of evil cannot be true. Probably none of them are. But there is a reason why these criticisms should not prevail against the treaty. The critics are naval officers—fighting men. They are handicapped by a kind of training which tends to make men think of war as the only possible defense against the war."

WIRE TAPPING LANDS SEVEN IN TOILS AFTER BOOZE CHARGE FAILS

Indianapolis, Ind., June 12.—[Special.]—Charges of conspiracy to violate the tariff and national prohibition laws were placed against seven Indianapolis men a few minutes after charges of operating a blind tiger against each were dismissed in Municipal court before Judge Paul C. Wetter brought them before John W. Kern, United States commissioner, this afternoon.

Information in which the arrests were made was gained by tapping telephone wires leading to the alleged "businesses" through which it was charged the ring operated, it was revealed in the warrants.

Those arrested gave their names as Dewey Seim, Nelson Gibson, Roscoe T. Rogers, Henry Roepke, Harry D. Mendenhall, Cecil Rector, Edward S. Browning, and Robert F. Buerteline.

Raids resulting in original arrest of the men netted an airplane, twenty-five cases of Canadian beer, other liquor, $20,000 worth of lottery tickets and ten slot machines.

LIFE GUARDS IN REAL WORKOUT AS THEY TRAIN

Life guard at Roger Park beach, practicing boat drill and artificial respiration the last week with the aim of achieving a perfect safety record this summer, had their first actual workout yesterday when a gust of wind capsized a catboat in the lake a half mile off Loyola avenue, pitching three boys into deep water.

William Dickey, 18 years old, 6115 Winthrop avenue, Armour institute student and owner of the boat, had gone for a sail with two Senn High school students, William Kamp, 17 years old, 6525 North Sacramento avenue, and Sheldon Mahoney, 17 years old, 1047 Catalpa avenue. They were clinging to the boat's gunwale when help arrived.

Sam Leone, captain of the life guard, rescued Mahoney in a dory. Mahoney's companions were saved by James Nohelty, 1014 Loyola avenue, and Bud Shane, 6500 Newberry avenue, who were canoeing nearby. Leone summoned them to aid in the rescue.

MIAMI BANKS GET 8 MILLIONS TO STEM RUNS

Miami, Fla., June 12.—(AP)—Miami area bankers tonight believed they had seen the end of the financial flurry caused yesterday by the closing of the Bank of Bay Biscayne and its three subsidiaries. The subsidiaries are the Biscayne Trust company, the Miami Beach Bank and Trust company and the Bank of Coral Gables.

Arrival here yesterday and this morning of $8,000,000 in cash from Jacksonville and Atlanta was believed to have stemmed the tide of anxious depositors who formed in line at the city's larger banks yesterday to withdraw their accounts.

Only one bank reported continued withdrawals today. Officials of other banks in the city reported they did a good business in new deposits.

Two More Banks Closed.

Clearwater, Fla., June 12.—(AP)—Two small financial institutions, the Bank of Clearwater and the Guaranty Title and Trust company, failed to open for business here this morning.

COAST ARTILLERY UNIT WILL REACH SHERIDAN TODAY

The 61st coast artillery, United States army, 350 men under command of Maj. T. Cunningham, will arrive at Fort Sheridan, its new headquarters, today, completing an overland "forced march" from Fortress Monroe, Va. The unit encamped near La Grange last evening.

This is the first time a coast artillery unit has been moved inland, and the part played by aviation in modern warfare is the reason. Anti-aircraft service is one of the chief duties of the coast artillery.

The contingent was partially motorized for the march, but most of the troops made the journey on foot. All equipment and anti-aircraft artillery were brought overland. An exhibition will be given by the unit during the military carnival at the Chicago Stadium June 21 to 28.

ICE BOX ROBBERS GET $421.

Two armed men put three clerks of the John P. Haefe grocery store in Waukegan in the ice box yesterday and walked out with $421, the contents of the safe.

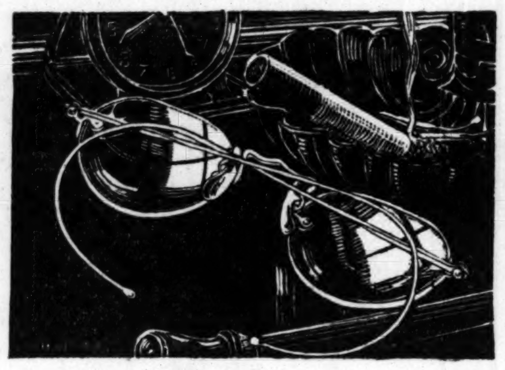
ITS TANG SAYS "HELP IS COMING!"

Once you try it, you are never long in doubt about the ability of PEBECO Tooth Paste to help you get the charm that white, gleaming teeth alone can give. It is far apart from sweet, insipid tooth pastes. You just feel from its delicate, "bitey" tang that it "means good." After a week you KNOW! The results—which include helping Nature check cavity-forming mouth acids by stimulating the flow of neutralizing saliva—are really amazing. Try it and see.

Now If You Prefer Spectacles You Need Make No Sacrifice In Good Appearance



Try On These Almer Coe Rimless "Litewates"

THE one pictured above is the Leaf shape, and to many the most becoming of all. Sharing honors with the Puritan and Colonial, it is symmetrical, trim, good looking, and unbelievably light. Its slender white gold mountings of high tensile strength hold lenses firmly at just the right distance from the eyes . . . with no noticeable pressure upon the nose. And the touch of ear pieces is hardly perceptible. Like all other Almer Coe rimless spectacles, the Leaf shape is priced $13.00 and up, according to your lens requirements. So if you wish to know how good looking as well as comfortable spectacles can be, stop in any Almer Coe store and try them on.

GIANT BREWERY OF CAPONE GANG SEIZED BY U. S.

Supply Plant for Loop Saloons Raided.

A complete brewery and 50,000 gallons of beer ready for consumption and 150,000 gallons of mash were seized by federal prohibition agents yesterday at 2108 South Wabash avenue. The plant was controlled by the Capone booze syndicate and the seizure is the largest of its kind ever made in Chicago, according to the agents.

The brewery was withing a mile of the Transportation building, headquarters of the dry personnel in charge of Administrator E. C. Yellowley, but the raid was conducted by special agents under Alexander Jamie, whose regular duties are the detection of interstate conspiracy cases.

"Supplies Saloons in Loop."

"So far as I know there were no interstate angles in this case," said Jamie, "but a brewery of this capacity was too much to pass up. There is no doubt about its being a Capone brewery, and its output supplied saloons in the loop."

United States Attorney Johnson said yesterday that seizures of this nature constituted the most effective weapon against gangs and their lawlessness by exterminating their sources of supply and cutting off their revenue.

Sees Enforcement as Gang Cure.

Mr. Johnson declared he has always advocated a drastic enforcement of prohibition as a means of destroying the gangs. He has favored a concentration upon huge stills and breweries, and conspiracy cases, involving the gangsters themselves, the real operators. He has declared that the raiding of isolated speakeasies and malt and hop stores should be made subordinate to a drive on the "big shots."

Jamie's men in recent months have obtained the indictment of Ralph Capone in a booze conspiracy case involving the running of $1,000,000 worth of booze from Canada by airplanes. Last fall the special agents obtained the indictment of 157 individuals of 31 firms in an alleged gigantic alcoholic diversion conspiracy.

Daily Capacity 100 Barrels.

The brewery seized yesterday had an estimated daily capacity of 100 barrels of beer, which sells for $55 a barrel. It was located in a building labeled the Wabash Automobile Accessory shop. The name of Mike Potson was found on a canceled check in the office and there was a placard reading: "For Sale. Apply for Key at 2126 South Wabash."

This is the Colosimo restaurant, reputedly operated by Potson. Jamie said his investigation would link Potson, who, he said, was a Capone henchman, and several others in a conspiracy case.

Charles Wyner was arrested on the premises. He protested he was only repairing a steel door, but he was held in bond of $5,000 by United States Commissioner Walker pending a hearing on June 16.

Four Hurt as Autos Crash on Outer Drive; 1 May Die

In a head-on automobile collision on the outer drive at 43d street early this morning four persons were injured, one of them critically. Traffic was tied up for an hour by the wreckage of the two cars.

The one most seriously injured is Isaac Axelrod, 80 years old, 4315 West 16th street. He was riding in the front seat of a sedan driven by his daughter, Mrs. Lena Gold, 1210 South Springfield avenue, wife of Henry Gold, one of the owners of Gold's restaurant at 810 Roosevelt road. With them was Mrs. Gold's sister, Mrs. Yetta Lewinton, 4313 West 16th street.

They were going north and were struck by a car driven by Thomas Goode, 24 years old, 6139 St. Lawrence avenue. Mrs. Gold, Mrs. Lewinton, and Goode were cut and bruised. All were taken to the Michael Reese hospital with Axelrod. Goode told the police a passing car had sideswiped him and caused him to lose control of the wheel.

Critically Hurt in Crash.

John H. Conrath, 45 years old, 552 North Eleanor place, Peoria, Ill., an official of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, was critically injured yesterday when the automobile he was driving skidded at Torrence avenue and Bernice road, crashing into a water hydrant. His companion, Miss Betty Boglarski, 23 years old, 6 Warren street, Calumet City, a waitress in the Mee hotel at Hammond, Ind., was hurt.

One death in Cook county raised the 1930 motor toll to 389. The victim:

Harold Sampson, 16 years old, of Bensenville. Fatally injured when the automobile he was driving overturned at State and Central roads, Arlington Heights. Two companions, a boy and a girl, were slightly injured.

Student Held to Grand Jury.

Henry Miklowitz, 17 years old, 1455 Summerdale avenue, a student at Lakeview High school, was held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter last night as the result of an auto accident at Oakton street and Dodge avenue, Evanston, on May 28. Charles H. Riel, 50 years old, of Gray's Lake was fatally injured in the accident and the charge followed the inquest.

The student's principal accuser was Stanley McCabe, 7001 Kildare avenue, a passenger in the auto Miklovitz was driving. McCabe suffered a punctured lung which has since collapsed and he was taken to the inquest in a wheel chair. Miklowitz was released on $5,000 bond.

HELD AS SLAYERS OF NEGRO BAPTIST CHURCH AUDITOR

Indianapolis, Ind., June 12.—(AP)—Two men were under arrest here tonight charged with the slaying, April 16, of Edward Pierson, 54, of Chicago, Negro auditor of the national Baptist convention, whose body was found near Scottsburg, Ind. A warrant charging murder against a third man was sent to Nashville, Tenn., for service.

All three men are Negroes. The two under arrest here are George Washington, who police say has a criminal record, and the Rev. B. J. F. Westbrook, pastor of the Second Negro Baptist church of Indianapolis.

The warrant sent to Nashville is for A. M. Townsend, secretary of the Baptist Sunday school publishing board and auditor of a Negro bank at Nashville. Townsend is alleged to have directed the slaying of Pierson, who as auditor of the Baptist convention was reported to have uncovered the juggling of a $62,000 fund in the Nashville office.

Pierson's wife at Chicago said he was en route there with the evidence at the time he was shot, bound hand and foot, and tossed into the Muscatatuck river near Scottsburg.

Nashville Banker Arrested.

Nashville, Tenn., June 12.—(AP)—A. M. Townsend, Negro, secretary of the Baptist Sunday school publishing board, was arrested here late tonight and charged with the murder of Edward Pierson.

IT'S FRIDAY, 13TH, AND COMET WAGS ITS TAIL AT US

New York, June 12.—[Special.]—Aware that comets are temperamental and given to odd behavior, particularly when they come closest to the sun, astronomers tomorrow will focus their telescopes on comet 1930D, newest of cosmic vagabonds. For it is on this day, Friday the 13th, that it will reach the sun's perihelion, and come most powerfully under its gravitational attraction.

The comet was discovered only recently by Drs. Swassman and Wachmann of Bergedorf observatory, Germany. It paid the earth a fleeting visit on the morning of June 2, making its nearest approach at 3 a. m., when it displayed its fuzzy tail to New Yorkers from a distance of about 8,000 miles.

CANNON'S WIRES TO HIS BROKERS ARE GIVEN OUT

Correspondence a History of His Speculation.

trace the cashier's checks by which the New York insurance man gave part of the money and to sift persistent rumors that bank loans negotiated by the bishop to finance his speculations were repaid during the time Jameson was advancing money ostensibly for the anti-Smith fight. What the investigator discovered on his second visit has not been disclosed.

The first message in the Cannon-Kable correspondence, according to the transcript now in the hands of the committee, is a cablegram sent by the churchman to Goldhurst from aboard the S. S. Western World, en route to Sao Paulo, Brazil, on Sunday, Oct. 2, 1927, as follows:

"Kindly continue send cables by five daily, either deferred cable, letter, or direct cable, as my cables may indicate. Richmond ordered send 100 cables account if option 2,000 motors expires 13th 135 and 1,000 Texas expiring 17th 35. Close profitably. Possible handle some additional good lower priced stocks, but probably wiser wait till return for winter. Write, giving full information, suggest via steamer Southern Cross, sailing Oct. 22, addressed me, Imprensa, Methodista, Sao Paulo, Brazil. Cannot consider suggestions on returning voyage. Sailing 9th, arriving New York Nov. 22, and cabling anything necessary or profitable."

On Oct. 4, 1927, another cablegram to Goldhurst advised the latter that the bishop's office in "Richmond sending 600. Whether sell Lehigh high rebuying 300 reaction. Advise." And on Oct. 7, 1927, Cannon sent another message to the broker: "Cable delay close market direct Western Union Sao Paulo till next Friday, adding drug, Gleasonite other quotations option 2,000 Motors expiring Thursday."

Other Cablegrams.

On Oct. 12 Cannon cabled Goldhurst: "Cable fast not deferred. Delay 'til Friday. Richmond misunderstood. Sending 600 tonight," and later the same day another cable to Goldhurst from the bishop read: "Cable today Thursday, Friday close, not Cannon Methodista, but Cannon Western Sao Paulo insuring promptness."

The exchanges between Cannon and Goldhurst while the bishop was in South America continued, according to the file, until Sunday, Nov. 6, 1927, when Cannon sent a radiogram: "Fully protect during purchase 700 shares present option doubtless lost if conditions exceedingly favorable not 100 to 500 close 131 cable 30th otherwise delay cable finally Monday closing quotations same stocks."

On Dec. 2, 1927, Kable & Co. telegraphed to Cannon at Richmond, Va.: "Kindly forward 2,000 to bring your account up to date. Thanks."

To which Cannon, writing to Goldhurst on the same day, replied:

"A wire was sent me from Richmond today Kable & Co. You will recall that I told you several times that I had certain settlements to make as executor of an estate about Dec. 1, and that I could not buy anything unless understood that I would probably be tied up 'til the 15th. I am sorry anything was bought unless that was thoroughly understood, as there has been no change in this situation. I certainly regret that we happened to strike such a line of difficult stocks. Kindly have statement made out showing all sales and purchases since last statement was sent on Nov. 10 which showed balance of $18,035. Have all purchases of Porto Rico, Paige, and Moon and all sales put on statement. Send this to me at the Mayflower, Washington, as I will come back to Washington for Sunday. Regretting very greatly the loss of the motor call $1,000."

CANNON SAYS ACTION OF COMMITTEE SHOWS HIS STAND WAS RIGHT

Washington, D. C., June 12.—(AP)—Commenting on the final decision of the senate lobby committee in his case, Bishop James Cannon Jr., in a statement tonight said the committee's ruling "makes it clear that I did not refuse to answer any question which the committee itself has judged to be pertinent to the investigation with which it is charged." "I was convinced," he said, "that whenever a full meeting of the committee could be held it would sustain my objections to the answering of the questions propounded by senators concerning my political activities."

Receives Tip on Market.

On Dec. 10, 1927, another telegram from the broker to Cannon read: "Northern Ohio power listed on curb at 16. Will figure in merger. Expect stock to sell about 25 soon. Advise immediately how many shares you can handle 300 each 100 shares. Certain about information. Advise immediately."

Cannon replied on the same day to Goldhurst:

"I came down to Richmond today and managed after a hard struggle to land $400 which I am enclosing by draft. I am being kept on edge and fearful of flop in the Paige, Butterick, Porto Rico, and Moon have conspired to induce pessimism. I started to wire 'sell 17½' but thought surely would make 18. If it seems 17½ will be high on Monday sell at that and repurchase if wise. But do not get caught on a slump or I shall think all our ventures are hoodooed. Send all communications to Richmond promptly any reaction and it will be forwarded. But do not send any excitable grams."

Causes Unpleasant Complications.

On Dec. 13, 1927, Cannon, then in Birmingham, Ala., telegraphed Goldhurst:

"Your wire Washington forwarded. Never wire Washington unless I give definite instructions. Always causes unpleasant complications. Write Richmond where secretary understands how forward. Cannot send anything more 'til return Richmond when will send 600 for 200 Ohio. If bought notify Richmond price paid also Paige sales if any."

A letter from the brokers to Cannon on the same day reassured the bishop as follows: ". . . Do not worry about any break in the market as we will protect you and dispose of your holdings when we believe it is the best time to dispose of them. . . ."

On Dec. 26, 1927, Cannon again wrote Goldhurst: "I have been much disturbed by the delay of the lawyer who was selected by the bank to prepare deed of trust to secure some money which I expected to have by the 15th. Indeed, had I not been assured that the money would certainly be ready then I would not have made any commitments. . . . I have so far been quite unfortunate with every option. . . ."

Complains About Reports.

Following a number of telegrams, Cannon on Jan. 4, 1928, wrote to Goldhurst:

"The statements sent me by Kable & Co., as of Jan. 30th does not include the draft for $500 given on Friday, Jan. 27. Kindly ask that the report be sent for that draft and credit be given account. Nothing disturbs me more than failure to send promptly at close of market ticket of sales. It required three telegrams to get report of sales of Texas and my secretary wired me at Columbus, O., tonight that up to the present she had received no confirmation of sale and purchase of Middle States.

"I was called suddenly Friday night to Columbus, but hope to return Tuesday. Ask Kable & Co. send receipt for $500 and sale and purchase slip. If you have any information concerning Transcontinental Oil and possible merger send to Richmond Monday."

To this letter signed "Hastily and sincerely" Cannon added as a postscript:

"Tell the dark haired damsel to hold on to my portfolio."

Orders Stock Sold.

In a letter on Feb. 15, 1928, Cannon explained an order to sell some of his stocks, saying: "If I could see and talk with you I might take some other course. But I have no money in sight now until March 1, when salary check of $2,000 will come in."

Kable & Co., Feb. 17, 1928, replied to Cannon:

"Do not see any necessity for disposing of holdings in this weak market. Would rather hold stock at our risk until you can put up a little money. Stocks will eventually show you big profits. Advise."

Then a few days later, which appears to have been written on Sunday, Feb. 19, 1928, Cannon wrote to Goldhurst:

"It looks as if the deluge broke loose Friday and Saturday. I can only say what I wrote you on Thursday night. I cannot get any money until my salary check comes from Nashville for the quarter beginning March 1. I trust you people will hold on to the stocks 'til then or until they recover sufficiently to sell at prices indicated in my letter at which of course I will lose heavily on all but Butterick, but if they sell now at present prices it is quite uncertain when I can get money to pay the losses."

Make Offer for $1,000.

A few days later, on Feb. 24, 1928, Kable & Co. telegraphed to Cannon: "If you can raise $1,000 to be here by Monday morning we can take care of the balance on 200 shares of a certain stock that is certain to net 10 points profits immediately. Advise at once."

Cannon promptly authorized the brokers to "use best judgment concerning exchange" and later the same day telegraphed again asking Goldhurst "wire Bliss building, giving stock probable number of days before 10 point rise."

The reply to Cannon dated Feb. 25, 1928, reads:

"Want to show you most certainly a good turn for a change. Will arrange for the balance for you until we can get through with a 10 point profit on 100 shares of International Match preferred last sale 100 per share. Pool in the stock should send it to 112 before next Friday. Do everything possible to get 100 shares immediately and forward 1,000 tonight special delivery."

Obtained Advance on Salary.

On Feb. 29, 1928, Cannon wrote to Goldhurst:

"It seems difficult to keep one item straight. You wired me, stating that if I could raise $1,000 you could handle balance on 200 shares of Match. I made a great effort and secured advance on salary and wrote, sending you checks of that account. You have sent no receipt to my office for those checks, so Miss Burroughs telephones me. Send receipts at once. She must keep her accounts straight. I do not know what you mean by 150 more, whether you mean $150 money or shares of stock, but in either event I cannot take anything more. To me shares of stock at that price is heavy for me, very heavy. . . ."

Again, on March 1, 1928, Cannon wrote Goldhurst in a letter which he signed "affectionately and sincerely," as follows:

"I find your telegram on my return to Richmond. I am sorry not only for my own sake but for yours that you are not a prophet of the first grade. I don't know from whom you got your information, but they are evidently not prophets of the first grade, and with the exception of the Paige and the Northern Ohio [which, by the way, was doing very well when I last noticed it] all of our stocks have gone back and wallowed in the trough of the sea. . . . I am writing this, however, especially to emphasize the fact that I am not in a position to take such expensive stocks. If I had been free when Texas went down to 21 I would not have hesitated to have bought 1,000 and sold it at 23 or 23½ and bought it back again as conditions indicated."

In other telegrams and letters in March Cannon protested to Goldhurst at a "precipitate sale" "of 200 General Motors," at Goldhurst's failure to report a sale of "Butterick," and asking the broker to "make the pools on Fleischmann, Remington-Rand push their pets." On March 19, 1928, Cannon advised Goldhurst in a letter that "I hope before returning to get the bank deal closed," and also "I look for considerable reaction and profit taking."

On March 21, Kable & Co. telegraphed Cannon: "Put through 200 American Can for quick profit. Have good information stock is due for 10 points advance immediately. Will be able to carry it for you on immediate payment of only 750. Kindly forward check."

Begins to Suspect House.

Then it was that Cannon began to be "nervous and uncertain" about the character of the house with which he was dealing. On March 22, 1928, he wired Kable & Co., "must insist you send statement requested immediately." He was put off with the explanation from the brokers that "tremendous market has put us several days behind. Will try to forward statement to you today. Thanks."

On Sunday, March 25, 1928, Cannon wrote Goldhurst again, saying:

"I waited in Richmond 'til tonight, hoping that I would get a report of sales and purchases. I think I have a correct record, but since you sold General Motors and International Match and bought American Can without orders from me, I am nervous and uncertain what action may be taken. . . ."

Another telegram from Goldhurst to Cannon, on which the date is indistinct but appears to be either March 21 or March 28, 1928, suggests to the bishop:

More Offers.

"If you can forward immediately special delivery 1,000 will get you 200 shares of a certain stock in a special account that will be better than International Match. This stock certain for fifteen points advance and it won't be sold until then. Would like to get you in on it Monday morning first thing. Please forward special delivery letter and order."

In a subsequent telegram dated April 4, 1928, Goldhurst identified the "certain stock" referred to as International Business Machine "now around 128" he informed the bishop.

The day before, Cannon had written to Goldhurst complaining that he had made three visits to Kable & Co.'s office in an attempt to secure a statement of his account, and had returned to Richmond unsuccessful.

"Why has not this settlement been sent?" demanded Cannon in a letter to Goldhurst on April 6. "I went to the office twice last Tuesday and was assured it would be ready shortly. I wired you that night but it has not come. My friend in the bank has been alarmed by the judge's decision in the Ebel case and insists that I must know how this account stands and I cannot explain your failure to send it."

Appeals Again for Statement.

Again on April 21, Cannon appealed to Goldhurst for a statement, adding, "I can get some additional advances when my friend is satisfied that sales are made, as agreed, but he cannot understand failure to send regular statement of sales as is done by other houses. Send at once to Richmond report of all sales."

In a postscript, Cannon advised Goldhurst "tell Al's friends not to count their chicken until they are hatched."

Finally on April 25, 1928, when no statement had been received from Goldhurst, Cannon dispatched the following telegram:

"Miss Burroughs wires cashier American National interviewed yesterday. Necessity demands writing confirmation sales Can 87, Sugar 40⅛, Middle 5, Marconi 15 or better. Ebel failure made him nervous. Insists reliable houses promptly report sales. Beg you forward these reports today prevent my further embarrassment permitting additional credit."

Resolution of Committee.

The resolution adopted by the lobby committee today, which ends the Cannon controversy, and probably the entire lobby investigation, reads:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the committee that it should not insist on answers to questions propounded to Bishop James Cannon Jr., and the transcript of the whole record be laid before the senate."

Senators T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.], the chairman of the committee; T. J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.], and W. E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] voted for the resolution without reservation. Senator J. J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.] approved the proposal to lay the record of Cannon's alleged contempt before the senate, but took exception to the first clause of the resolution to absolve Cannon from answering. Robinson, a Methodist and a dry, who has been the bishop's chief defender since the churchman defied the committee, voted for the first clause and against submission of the record.

While Caraway, Walsh, and Borah agreed that the decision ended the inquiry into Cannon's political and financial activities, Blaine insisted that the resolution offers the possibility of contempt proceedings against the bishop, based on senate rule 104.

When the poet wrote "Man wants but little here below, nor wants that little long" he certainly wasn't thinking of the "shorts" recently sponsored for a men's summer fashion by some collegians.

As bathing suits prove, masculine underpinning is not the best looking variety of the human limb, and we trust that those boys who heedlessly pruned their pant legs have an untouched extra pair, for foolish fads are short lived.

FOIL TWO ESCAPE PLOTS AT JOLIET; TUNNELS READY

Seven Convicts Seized as They Dig.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Burdette McPherson, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

Herman Veltman and Stephen Horvath, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Phillip Finnegan.

Herbert Kadow, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Edward Cliffe, crime against nature, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge John J. Sullivan.

Two escape plots were foiled in the old prison at Joliet yesterday. Last night seven convicts were feeling the blight of solitary confinement. After probably thirty days of this mediatation, Warden Henry C. Hill will dress them in suits of humiliating "stripes" and will reduce two from their present status of trusties.

Both plots were dependent upon tunnels for their successful culmination and the fact that two underground passages, each about fourteen feet and leading beneath the walls, were found by guards, was evidence that freedom was not far away for those who sought it.

Officials Knew of Plot.

The first passage had been dug over a period of three weeks with the full knowledge of the authorities. Five convicts were handcuffed, one by one, as they sought to enter it during the day. The second was discovered during a search for such potential exits last night and two brothers, both trusties, were found to have scooped loose dirt from beneath a work bench in the chair shop after cutting through four inches of wooden flooring. They had progressed fourteen feet to a point almost beneath the walls.

The brothers, Albert and George Reinheart, were committed in 1927 for a Chicago robbery, and were 30 and years old, respectively. Their duties as trusties allowed them entrance to the chair shop each noon hour to oil machinry while others were at lunch. They had found a short shovel, a sharp pointed pick, and a light extension cord which gave them illumination while they dug. The dirt was piled beneath the bench. The guards who found their passage said a nook had been hollowed near the surface, where a package of toasted bread had bene placed.

Five Caught at Work.

Also confined in solitary are James Manning, 30, a Rock Island burglar; John Steanatovich, 29, sentenced from Cook county for robbery; William Evans, 38, a McClean county bank robber; Henry Raczynski, 22, a Chicago murderer; and Vernon Smith, 21, Chicago robber.

These five were caught by guards in the order of their naming as they sneaked into the basement of the factory to the entrance of their tunnel. Informed by a guard that digging was going on in the basement, Warden Hill said he posted hidden observers there three weeks ago. All of the five except Manning were employed in the chair shop while the latter worked in the clothes shop and had access to old shirts and overalls which he gave to the plotters.

The five would take turns at finding excuse for leaving their regular jobs—on the pretext of going for a haircut or a bath—and managed to slip into the basement, one at a time, for sometimes as long as an hour. There they removed bricks from the flooring and scooped dirt from the hole, depositing it in the broken joint of a sewer pipe, which they followed in their digging. When they left the hole they set the bricks back in place and propped them with planks to create the illusion of a solid surface.

Yesterday morning the warden sent Capt. B. A. Davenport and two guards into the basement armed with pistols. The three hid behind some débris and waited. They waited from 4 a. m. to 8 a. m., when Manning appeared. He removed his prison suit, pulled an old shirt and a pair of overalls from beneath a board and, donning them, took the bricks from the mouth of the tunnel and prepared to enter. At that point the guards put pistols to his side and clamped on handcuffs. He was put out of sight and the watch continued.

About 3 p. m. Warden Hill became anxious for the fate of his guards, surrounded the building with armed men and entered. There he found the five handcuffed convicts and the guards waiting for more to enter.

All the convicts caught were found to have been using files and short knives they had stolen from the chair shop.

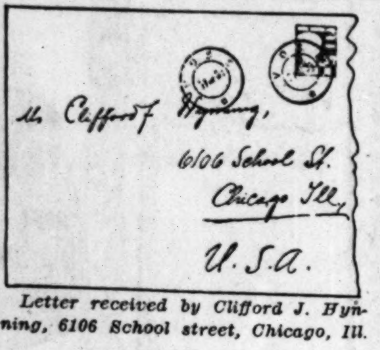
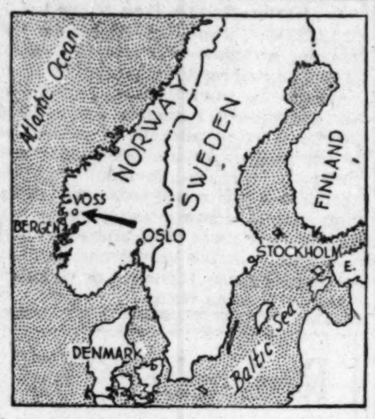
FROM VOSS, NORWAY



Mr. Clifford Hynning,
6106 School St.
Chicago Ill.
U.S.A.

Letter received by Clifford J. Hynning, 6106 School street, Chicago, Ill.



"I received this letter from a good friend of mine, Arnuly Sudmann of Voss, Norway," Mr. Hynning writes. "He is a junior student at the college situated at Voss (Voss Landsgymnas), whose acquaintance I made several years ago while I myself was living in that village. In fact I attended high school there. Sometimes he writes in English, sometimes in Norwegian.

"Voss is situated about sixty miles from Bergen by rail and resembles very much the 'Ostlandet,' as the eastern part of Norway is called, being broader and having many pine woods.

"Voss is a very old village; how old it is not quite certain. The inhabitants were christened in 1023, according to Snorre's Heimskringla, by Olav the Saint. The name occurs before that in the old sagas, and is once mentioned as a kingdom. There is a famous old stone church in the town proper and at Finne, a short distance from the railroad station, there stands the oldest wooden building in Norway, a so-called Finne-loft. The town itself is usually spoken of as Vangen, and the surrounding uplands as Voss, although the latter name is generally used for either.

"Ludvig Holberg, the famous Norwegian playwright (he is sometimes taken for a Dane, although he was born in Bergen of Norwegian stock), was once a private tutor at Voss for more than a year.

"For the last fifty years Voss has been famous as a tourists' center in Norway, the railway from Bergen to Oslo passing through it, as well as roads leading to Gudvangen in Sogn and Ulvik and Eide in Hardanger, other places well known to American travelers. I have known countless Americans who have passed through Voss at one time or another."

KIN AND FRIENDS SHARE $100,000 RYNER ESTATE

The will of Judge Ira Ryner of the Circuit court, who died Wednesday in the Evanston hospital after an illness of a week, was filed yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. It leaves his estate of $100,000 to friends and relatives. The will was drawn by the judge in his chambers on a single sheet of stationery in 1924.

Mrs. Susan Hens of Wilmette, at whose home the judge lived for ten years, is left $20,000. The remainder of the estate is to be divided between his uncles, Marshall Ryner of Galesburg, Ill., and Sherman Ryner of Moberly, Mo., and an aunt, Mrs. Bruce Carpenter of Rising City, Neb. They are his only relatives.

Funeral services are to be held today at the Hens home, 1415 Maple avenue, Wilmette. His body is to be sent to Cedar Rapids, Neb., for burial. The Circuit and Superior courts are to close today in honor of the judge. A committee of twenty-nine judges and lawyers has been appointed to represent the Bar association at the services.

HUNT 3 BANDITS FOR $1,000 HOLDUP OF HOTEL GUESTS

Police of the Fillmore station were last night hunting three bandits who shortly after midnight robbed twenty guests and the management of the Garfield Arms hotel, 3256 Maypole avenue, of $1,000. The same band, police believe, is responsible for several similar robberies at north side hotels recently.

After the robbers had subdued Melville Eberhardt, the night clerk, and Thomas Lawlor, the manager, who were forced to open the safe, they stationed themselves about the lobby and relieved such guests as happened to arrive of their money and valuables.

Miss Patricia Jones was the sole woman victim.

STATE IS ASKED TO RELIEVE JAMS AT ROAD CORNERS

Build Grade Separations, Plea to Cleaveland.

BY HAL FOUST.

The West Town chamber of commerce yesterday appealed to Director Cleaveland of the state department of public works for the construction of grade separations, other than the few on Gov. Emmerson's biennium program, at the intersections of important highways at the western entrance to Chicago.

Otto Berz, chairman of the chamber's road committee, which visited Springfield, reported on his return from downstate last night that Director Cleaveland promised the coöperation of the state in the elimination of these bottle necks.

"From what we were told at Springfield," said Mr. Berz, "I'm sure that the state will pay for these structures, providing Cook county wil furnish the rights of way. The West Town chamber of commerce will exert every effort to get the county board to appropriate money for this purpose."

County Lacking in Cash.

County Highway Superintendent Quinlan announced a few days ago that the county was financially unable to undertake new road projects, not even the 1930 program recommended by the citizens' advisory committee, until possibly August.

President Cermak, facing this financial trouble, due, at least in part, to the tardiness of tax collections, induced the state to consent to the county's use of $2,000,000 in state aid refunds and 1929 gasoline tax for payments on $2,700,000 of old and present road contracts. Mr. Cleaveland gave his consent on the condition that part of the $2,000,000 would be set aside for the purchase of rights of way for pavements. The county allotted $400,000 for this purpose.

Separations More Important.

"Obtaining rights of way for grade separations is more important to the motoring public than many of the county's old contracts," said Mr. Berz. "There is no reason why more of the available funds should not be appropriated toward eliminating the bottle-necks at the intersections of important pavements.

"The widening of the highways is not enough by itself to obtain relief from congestion. The wider roads will attract additional traffic, emphasizing the need for grade separations. Twice as many cars will be delayed at intersections on the four lane pavements."

Other members of the road committee who visited Springfield were Mark Shanks, Edward Dunne, Dwight Lewis, and Frank Bilek.

WARRANT TRUST LOANS COUNTY $938,000 FUND

A loan of $938,000 was made by the Cook County Taxpayers Warrant trust to the county yesterday to meet salaries for June and payments of principal and interest on bond issues due July 1. With this loan the county has received $9,990,000 from the $74,000,000 pool of the trust formed by the Strawn citizens' committee.

Funds for operating the county through July and August until financial relief is obtained by the passage of the bills in the special session of the general assembly are assured through the collection of $2,500,000 in treasurer's and extension fees on the 1928 taxes, according to Michael J. O'Connor, assistant deputy controller.

GERMANS SLASH STEEL PRICES TO REVIVE INDUSTRY

Will Cut Wages to Lower Production Costs.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 12.—The first decisive step meant to reduce drastically the cost of production and the cost of living in Germany was taken today by the association of German iron and steel barons, who are cutting down their prices an average of three per cent.

The reduction was carried out after the government approved a reduction in the workers' wages of seven and one-half per cent to take effect four weeks after the reduction in iron prices. This will effect about 200,000 steel workers.

Want Bigger Steel Cut.

Labor union chiefs are willing to try the experiment, hoping that this will start a general reduction in prices and provide more work, but in an official statement issued tonight the laboratories demand that the steel barons cut down their prices further, saying an average three per cent reduction was not enough to correspond to the seven and a half per cent reduction in wages.

In the meantime the German government is trying to raise a loan to finance enterprises which will provide work for the masses. The J. Schroeder Banking corporation is reported to have agreed to advance Germany $25,000,000 at six and one-half per cent. But the government is seeking a larger loan on the security of $100,000,000 it has advanced to different corporations in past years for constructive work.

Sheffield Issues Defi.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 12.—England's metropolis of steel—Sheffield—has issued a challenging reply to Germany's bid to capture the world's steel markets by its compulsory reduction of the iron workers' wages and cut of one dollar a ton in steel prices. Sheffield circulated to British consular officials throughout the world today a declaration that it is now turning out yearly 50 per cent more steel and steel products than in the best pre-war years, employing many thousand more hands than in pre-war times.

The blunt truth about WINGS!

B&W WINGS Cigarettes
WINGS
WINGS
NO MORE CRUSHED OR HALF-EMPTY CIGARETTES

THERE is a very definite, very legitimate reason for bringing out WINGS, the new air-cooled cigarette that's taken the town by storm.

We knew that people were getting a little sick of smoking crumpled-up packs of cigarettes—cigarettes that were mangled, mashed, half-empty—the last three in every twenty unfit to smoke.

We also knew that people wanted a cigarette they could smoke continuously—each one with renewed enjoyment—a cleaner, cooler smoke.

So we made WINGS in two exclusive new packs—the WALLET and the TWIN TENS. Sturdier. Handier. And we made WINGS—air-cooled!

Made by the creators of Raleigh—BROWN & WILLIAMSON TOBACCO CORPORATION, Louisville, Ky.

Which pack for you . . .
WALLET or TWIN TENS?

The WALLET pack is really a folding cigarette case in itself. It keeps every smoke from No. 1 to No. 20 firm and fresh—deliciously plump! The TWIN TENS pack is a revolutionary innovation: two slim, handy little packs of ten each, instead of the old-fashioned crumply, wasteful pack of twenty. They're easy to slip into your vest pocket. They're just the right size to fit your purse or handbag.

New process makes 'em AIR-COOLED

Air-washing is an exclusive new process. All dust, grit and other irritating impurities are air-washed OUT of the fine Turkish, Virginia and Burley tobacco in WINGS. Air-washing is not a trick or a mere sales argument. It is just plain common sense. Try one and taste the difference.

BOSTON CENSUS TOTAL 775,729; GAIN OF 27,669

Revised Figures Expected to Show 780,000.

Boston, Mass., June 12.—(AP)—A preliminary announcement from census headquarters here today set Boston's 1930 population at 775,729. It was emphasized, however, that revised figures would be available next week and these would set the population at more than 780,000.

The figure announced today showed a gain of 27,669 over the 1920 figures, but was slightly less than the total of the state census in 1925. The supervisors said that many names were being received at the office and that approximately 5,000 names would be added by Monday.

It was pointed out that the outlying districts which are a part of metropolitan Boston had gained 32,000 in population since 1920 and that most of this was due to Boston residents moving into the suburbs.

North Dakota Has 681,273.

Bismarck, N. D., June 12.—(AP)—Indications that North Dakota will lose one of its three congressmen were contained in unofficial census reports today giving the state a total population of 681,273, compared with 646,872 in 1920.

Reapportionment of the national house of representatives will be made in 1932 on the basis of the total population of the country, which some estimates have placed as high as 122,000,000. On the basis of this figure Congressman J. H. Sinclair estimated North Dakota must have 701,150 inhabitants to retain its three congressmen.

Delaware Gains 13,855.

Wilmington, Del., June 12.—(AP)—The total population for the state of Delaware announced today is 236,858, compared with 223,003 in 1920. This is an increase of 13,855. Wilmington has 105,191 people.

Brookfield, Cook	10,015	3,589

4% OF CHICAGO RESIDENTS FOUND WITHOUT JOBS

Estimate Is Brighter than Expected.

Estimates made yesterday from a preliminary analysis of Chicago's census returns indicate that 4 per cent of Chicago's population is unemployed. This would mean that 134,940 of the city's 3,373,753 residents are jobless.

If this estimate is substantiated when the official unemployment figures are made public next Tuesday unemployment conditions in Chicago are far better than they have been painted, observers pointed out. The estimate compares favorably with the best estimate made in December, 1920, which showed that between 100,000 and 120,000 persons were out of work.

Plan Extensive Survey.

A movement will be started today to obtain support for an immediate and more detailed survey of Chicago's working conditions. Ralph L. Goodman, vice chairman of the census advisory committee, announced that he will visit Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and lay before him a plan whereby the survey could be carried out.

"Such a survey," Mr. Goodman stated, "would make it possible for Chicago to get its unemployment information immediately instead of waiting a year for the census bureau at Washington to make its computation. If the proposal of the census supervisors meets the approval of the Association of Commerce a delegate will go to Washington to obtain the permission of W. M. Steuart, federal director of census, to use the 1930 census books. With this information we can make a further investigation to learn the length of unemployment for each individual, the causes of his unemployment, and the industries affected. This information will be classified by communities, so that effective relief measures can be taken."

8.9 Per Cent in 42d Ward.

One north side ward, the 42d, which comprises a large Bohemian element and a large group of persons employed by the building trades, shows an unemployment figure of approximately 8.9 per cent, according to preliminary figures. This would indicate that about 4,328 persons in this ward are out of work.

David A. McGilvray, census supervisor for the Seventh district, yesterday made public figures for the towns, townships, and cities in his district located outside Chicago. Following are the suburbs, with their population for 1930 and for 1920 and their gains during the period.

CHARGES FAIR PLAY IS DENIED CAR PLAN FOES

Ordinance Inodrsed by 12 More Groups.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Frederick T. Kuhn of the Farnham-Kuhn company, one of the opponents of the proposed indeterminate transit franchise, issued a statement for his side yesterday.

"Why have transit ordinance advocates refused to follow THE TRIBUNE's recent editorial advice for 'Fair Play for the Traction Opposition'?" said the statement. "Is it because they fear to have the voters know the real truth about the ordinance?

"The executive committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce has tried to place the entire association, over 8,000 members, on record as favoring the transit ordinance without any referendum vote of its members. Is that fair play?

Criticizes the Committee.

"The executive committee invited Samuel Insull to address members at a regular luncheon, and he did address them on the transportation question and the pending transit ordinance. But the executive committee of the association refused to give the same opportunity to the opponents of the ordinance. Is that fair play?

"The writer (Mr. Kuhn) has endeavored for the last weeks, yes, months, to arrange to have John Maynard Harlan speak before the association at its regular luncheon, but up to the present time there is no indication on the part of the executive committee to entertain the thought of hearing a speaker opposing the ordinance. Is that fair play?

Asks About Rival Ordinance.

"Was it fair play for the city council to refuse to place on the ballot the competing ordinance of the Chicago Metropolitan Transit company for a 40 year grant and let the voters take their choice between the two ordinances?"

Mr. Harlan presented the Metropolitan transit ordinance, and Mr. Kuhn was one of his backers in the presentation. Mr. Kuhn's statement continued:

"Full page advertisements appearing in the papers appealing to the voters to vote for the transit ordinance, signed by Silas H. Strawn and others, contain statements that are contrary to the known actual facts. Is that fair play?"

Mr. Kuhn's statement did not explain to what facts he referred in the preceding paragraph.

Jobs Argument Assailed.

"Is it fair," the statement went on, "to broadcast to labor that they will immediately secure employment if the ordinance is approved by the voters on July 1, when the transit leaders all know that under the most favorable conditions a year will likely pass before any labor will be required for extensions and improvements. Is that fair toward the unemployed?

"Is it fair to state flatly that $65,000,000 will be spent during the first three years of the franchise when there is no such binding agreement in the ordinance; when the fact is that there is not even a promise in the ordinance to spend a dollar in the first year, the second year, or the first 364 days of the third year?

"Is it fair play for concerns and individuals to lend their names to full page advertisements and thereby give the public the impression that they are paying for the advertisement, which is not costing them a single dollar, but is being paid for by transit interests?"

The nonpartisan committee favoring the ordinance, headed by Ald. Joseph B. McDonough, reported indorsements of the indeterminate franchise yesterday from twelve more organizations. This makes a total of fifty-three organizations for the ordinance. Three organizations have announced opposition to it.

One of the groups in opposition is the Cook County Real Estate board. Thirty-three members, who favor the ordinance, mailed referendum ballots to the 600 members of the board yesterday. In their letter enclosing the ballot the advocates of the ordinance wrote:

"On May 27 the board adopted a report of its transportation committee by a vote of 27 to 3 and thereby went on record against the ordinance. Many members have stated they do not concur in this report and claim no adequate notice of its consideration at the special meeting of May 27."

Twelve More Indorsements.

The twelve organizations whose indorsements were announced yesterday are:

South Shore Protective association.

South Shore Manor Improvement association.

West Sunnyside Improvement association.

Directors of the Electrical association.

Madison-Kedzie association.

Lions' club of Lawndale.

North Austin Manor Neighborhood club.

West Town Active club.

Greater North Avenue Superhighway association.

North Austin Lions' club.

Michigan Avenue association.

Stockyards Business and Civic association.

Individuals Send Approval.

A number of persons have voluntarily sent their approval of the ordinance to Ald. McDonough. Among them is Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen. She wrote:

"I am in favor of the ordinance. While I do not believe it is perfect, I think it is the best legislation obtainable at present. Something must be done, and I hope it will receive the support of the voters at the referendum July 1."

Another letter was received from O. A. Christensen of the Capital State bank, 5435 North Clark street. He wrote: "I have made a study of the ordinance, and feel certain that if your committee will get the information in the hands of the friends of Chicago, they will vote in favor of it at the referendum."

H. L. Rissman, president of Jerrems, Inc., said in a letter: "A settlement is long past due. I believe the ordinance is fair to all interests concerned."

John C. Bowers of the Uptown Chicago association spoke before the Kiwanis club of Ravenswood yesterday. Among other things he said:

"The ordinance benefits every section of Chicago. The plan provides for the expenditure of more money for local transportation in the next 10 years than has been spent in the last 75 years. It provides for an increase of 30 per cent in the facilities of the surface lines and a 56 per cent increase in elevated facilities all in the first 10 years. More improvements will undoubtedly follow.

"Although there has been some opposition to the ordinance, not one opponent has shown where the proposed plan will not improve transportation facilities. What the people want is improved transportation. What business needs is better transportation. The most stimulating influence on the growth and prosperity of the city is adequate transportation."

FORMER FOLLIES GIRL WINS ALIMONY FROM NORMAN N. WEISS

Mrs. Mary Robbins Douglas Weiss, former Follies girl, was yesterday awarded $400 a month temporary alimony in the divorce suit brought against her in Lake county by Norman N. Weiss. At the same time Circuit Judge Edward Shurtleff awarded her attorneys, George Field of Waukegan and the law firm of Socrates & Davis of Chicago, $1,000 for attorneys' fees.

MRS. MARY WEISS.

The Weisses were married in Atlanta, Ga., May 4, 1929, and separated last March 12. She was formerly the wife of Cutler H. Robbins, son of George B. Robbins, retired president of Armour & Co., and also of Norval C. Douglas, advertising man. Mrs. Weiss filed a bill for separate maintenance in the Superior court, charging desertion and alleging that her husband barred her from their home in Barrington and from two other homes.

Weiss replied with a suit for divorce in Lake county, naming her second husband as co-respondent. Before Judge Shurtleff he declared that his monthly income is $250. His wife's attorneys charged that he had concealed his assets, averring that he had inherited $4,000,000 from his mother.

SEA CRASH QUIZ GOES INTO S O S HEARD BY NONE

Damaged Antenna Blamed for Failure.

Boston, Mass., June 12.—[Special.]—The captain and the chief wireless operator of the steamship Fairfax, which rammed and sank the tanker Pinthis in Massachusetts Bay Tuesday night, offered the first explanation of why no S O S from the passenger ship was heard when they testified today at the opening session of the maritime inquest into the disaster, in which forty-seven persons were burned to death or drowned.

They were the chief witnesses before Capt. Charles M. Lyons and John M. Stewart, federla steamboat inspectors, who opened hearings into the collision and fire in the Customs court of the United States appraiser's stores here.

Fire Damaged Antenna.

A wireless antenna rendered useless by the heat of the flaming gasoline spewed up by the sinking tanker might explain why the "seven or eight" S O S messages tapped out immediately after the collision in the fog were not heard, according to the testimony of Capt. Archibald Brooks and J. Wesley Geweken, the chief wireless man aboard the Fairfax. Thirty minutes passed before the antenna was repaired, and by that time the worst of the fire on the ship was out.

Geweken, without further orders from the captain, admitted he used his own "discretion" and did not resume broadcasting the general call for help, communicating instead with offices of the Merchants and Miners line.

Thirty-One Bodies Missing.

When the eleven witnesses had testified the hearing was adjourned until tomorrow morning, when Dickerson N. Hoover, inspector general of the United States steamboat inspection service, is expected to arrive from Washington to preside.

Thirty-one bodies have yet to be recovered. Sixteen have been found, and of this number three, apparently the bodies of sailors, have not been identified. Among those still listed as missing were four passengers, twelve members of the crew of the Fairfax, who are believed to have leaped overside into the blazing sea, and eighteen of the crew of the Pinthis, which exploded and sank, it appears, before the lookout on the ship which rammed her could fairly make her out. Only one body from the Pinthis has been found, so far as is known, although others may be among the three still unidentified.

DRUGGIST ROBBED BY NEGRO.

Entering the pharmacy of Harry L. Block at 335 East 54th street, a Negro bandit yesterday made him lie on the floor while he rifled the till of $25.

241 GRADUATED AT WEST POINT; 30 WILL MARRY

New Lieutenants Urged to Work for Peace.

West Point, N. Y., June 12.—(AP)—Two hundred and forty-one cadets today received their commissions as second lieutenants from Patrick Hurley, secretary of war. Immediately 30 of them headed for the marriage altar.

Although the class was the smallest in years, the number of weddings planned was about normal.

Addressing the cadets at the graduation exercises, Mr. Hurley told them they were soldiers of peace as well as war, and that it was the aim of the academy to "create leaders who will maintain the peace and safety of the nation."

Face Economic Problems.

"Under our national defense policy," he said, "the leaders of our army are called upon to consider and solve social and economic problems in addition to providing for the military defense of the nation and leading its army in time of national emergency."

As evidence of this he pointed to the control of rivers and harbors exercised by army engineers and as monuments to army endeavor he named the congressional library, the Washington monument, and the Lincoln memorial in the capital.

All but two of the cadets received their commissions direct from Mr. Hurley's hand. The other two, Paul R. Weyrauch and Joseph E. James Jr., received theirs in the hospital, where they were recuperating from a broken leg and a tonsil operation, respectively.

Leg Broken, But He'll Wed.

Just to show that it takes more than a broken leg to halt an army wedding, Weyrauch, son of Gen. and Mrs. Paul H. Weyrauch of Spokane, Wash., will be married in the hospital tomorrow to Miss Lucy Hodges Mercer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Mercer of Shreveport, La. She is the neice of Col. Campbell B. Hodges, military aide to President Hoover.

Other cadet marriages scheduled for the next three days include:

Miss Marguerite Fenetta Ott of West Englewood, N. J., to Lieut. Edward Irving Sachs of Evanston, Ill.; Miss Birrell Poole of Ancon, Canal Zone, to Lieut. Joseph H. Twyman of Fort McArthur, Cal., and Miss Frances Louise Romer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Romer of Columbus, O., to Lieut. Phillip Frederick Kromer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Kromer of Columbus, O.

120 DRY AGENTS SWEEP DOWN ON HOBOKEN 'OASES'

Crowds Watch Raids on 30 Places; Arrest 50.

New York, June 12.—[Special.]—Hoboken, sometimes rated "the wettest spot in the country," to which New Yorkers recently seideled that they might see the last remaining sea coast of Bohemia, was invaded today by 120 prohibition agents who raided 30 places, made 50 arrests and generally ruined the landscape.

As the agents moved from saloon to beer garden to Rathskeller along River street and its tributaries, a large crowd gathered to watch.

Each Held for $1,000 Bail.

The onslaught was the work of Trenton beer and liquor hunters, organized into 20 flying squads. They flew fast and furious.

As each waiter, restaurant proprietor and old fashioned bartender was arrested, he was taken before United States Commissioner Edward Stanton and held in $1,000 bail for the federal grand jury.

It is believed the raiders were acting on orders direct from prohibition headquarters in Washington.

A couple of months ago the Rev. James K. Shields, superintendent of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon league, sent a report to the attorney general in Washington in which he averred there was 249 saloons in Hoboken. He figured out that meant one to every 335 square feet.

Find Man Dead in Speakeasy.

Meanwhile another addition to the list of New York's fatalities—the thirty-fourth since May 10—was made today when police found one man dead and another one unconscious and in a grave condition in a shabby speakeasy located on the lower east side.

Both men were unidentified. The unconscious man was taken to Bellevue hospital and the body of the other taken to the morgue.

Flyer Killed in Crash; Passenger Is Injured

Cicero, N. Y., June 12.—(AP)—Homer Messier, air pilot of the airport here, was killed and Walter Buyea of Oneida, his passenger, was seriously injured in an airplane crash here this afternoon. Messier was buried in the wreckage of the craft.

Reports to the office of the sheriff said the left wing was ripped off the plane when it failed to bank properly in making a turn.

The aircraft, sweeping helplessly downward, buried itself in the ground on the Horton farm, just outside the village, on the Cicero-Clay road.

BORDER PATROL BILL REPORTED OUT TO HOUSE

Present Session Vote Problematical.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 12.—[Special.]—After months of hearings and discussion, the house interstate and foreign commerce committee today formally submitted to the house a favorable report on the Wickersham commission bill providing for a unified border patrol service. The chief object of the measure is to curb the smuggling of liquor from Canada and Mexico.

The bill was placed on the house calendar, but whether it will be acted upon before adjournment is problematical. If not, it will retain its place on the calendar for the short session next winter.

Sets Up New Service.

As agreed upon by the committee the bill was different from that proposed by the Wickersham group in that it does not consolidate the various patrol services under the coast guard. Instead, it sets up in the treasury department an entirely new service to be known as the United States border patrol.

The committee report pointed out that the proposal to put the patrol under the coast guard presented "serious practical difficulties," because the coast guard is essentially a sea service and of a military character, with commissioned officers as officials. "Earnest objections were made to giving the border patrol along the Canadian and Mexican borders a military character," the report stated.

1,569 Now on Forces.

The border services consist of 847 men in the immigration patrol who enforce the restrictive immigration laws and 722 men in the customs patrol who enforce the customs laws.

Tentative plans made as the result of surveys made by the treasury and labor departments call for an immediate increase of 925 men in the patrol services and several new officials. They also call for 212 new stations along the border. This expansion program would more than double the present cost of the patrols, increasing it from $3,900,000 a year to $7,900,000.

French Chamber Ratifies League Arbitration Act

PARIS, June 12.—(AP)—The chamber of deputies by a vote of 567 to 13 today ratified the act of arbitration of the league of nations and adhered to the facultative jurisdiction clause of the court of international justice. The chamber, excepting the communists, voted as a body to ratify the arbitration act.

CHARGE MURDER IN INFANT'S DEATH. A coroner's jury returned a verdict yesterday recommending that the police arrest and lodge a murder charge against William Schlieman, 32 years old, who on May 15 killed his 14 months old son, William Jr., and seriously wounded his wife and two other sons and escaped.

CAN'T RULE FREE RACE WITH COP'S CLUB, SAYS JUDGE

Springfield, Ill., June 12.—[Special.]—"You can't rule a free people with a policeman's club," Judge Floyd Thompson, former member of the Illinois Supreme court, told a class of 156 lawyers who were admitted to the state bar today.

"You hear much said about the lawlessness of our people and you are continually harangued about your duty to respect the law. My judgment is that we are the most law abiding and law respecting people on earth, but we refuse to respect laws that are not worthy of respect. My experience is that the great body of American citizens respect wholesome law and that they obey laws which some body of organized cranks has put on the statute books even when their judgment tells them the laws are bad.

"We are suffering from a surfeit of laws, and the wonder is that we have the respect for law that we do have."

NATIONAL LEAGUE FOR TEMPERANCE AGAINST DRY LAW

New York, June 12.—(AP)—A convention will be held at St. Louis this fall under the auspices of the National Temperance League of America, to consider repeal or "other lawful disposition of the eighteenth amendment, Gen. John J. Bradley announced today. The convention also will memorialize congress to submit the question of prohibition to popular vote. Gen. Bradley is chairman of the league's board of directors and a retired army officer.

It's quite the thing to copy these old designs in metal and they are splendid for a boy's room because they'll endure forever

THEY'RE practical as can be—sturdy as you expect metal to be. Hardy and handsome as to finish. (They are made by the Simmons Company.) And, of course, thoroughly traditional as to design.

It's really hard to say which we would like better for a boy's room—the simple well-designed Windsor, the straight-lined spool bed, or the four-poster on which he can hang things to his heart's desire!

There's a powder blue and a nice sensible green that the Windsor comes in, as well as walnut finish. The spool and four-poster beds are in mahogany and several maple finishes.

You'll like them all. And they're not expensive!

Simmons Windsor Bed, Priced, $26.50 Dresser, $57, Chiffonier, $51, Desk, $24, Night Stand, $20.25, Chair, $15. All in metal in a good-looking powder blue.

THE AMERICAN NAVY, BRITISH BUILT.

The administration has taken the position that the navy treaty itself is sufficient for the consideration of the senate. Thus far the President and the secretary of state have withheld the correspondence with other nations. Senator Johnson has asked for it, and he is supported by other senators. Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, one of the London delegation, explained that it would be embarrassing to other governments if all the exchanges were given to the senate.

The treaty is not a self-explaining document. It seeks to establish certain naval conditions. As to the effect of them there is disagreement. As to the purpose of them there is little knowledge. Most of the admirals and of the members of the navy board have said that in their opinion it is a disadvantageous treaty for the United States. It does not serve its ostensible purpose. It does not seek an equality between Great Britain and the United States. It departs from the ratio fixed at the Washington conference.

In the matter of cruisers the American idea is fixed. It was maintained at Geneva and the American government then was willing that the conference should fail rather than that the idea should be abandoned. It was the policy of the navy board and is now. It holds that the American navy requires 10,000 ton cruisers with 8 inch guns and does not need smaller cruisers with 6 inch guns. That is an article of faith in the American navy, and it is based on the complete setup of American outlying frontiers and possessions, trade and trade routes, and naval bases.

The treaty has reduced the number of these cruisers from twenty-three to fifteen, but it permits the construction of smaller cruisers with lighter guns, a type of ship which the British navy wants for its purposes. The British setup is entirely different and its requirements are different. The American government has accepted British standards for the American navy against the opinion of American admirals, and if the senate cannot find out why this has been done, by an examination of all the correspondence, it is certainly not justified in consenting to the ratification of the agreement. It has as much responsibility as the administration. Its consent is necessary.

The treaty itself would indicate that the American navy is to be considered as an auxiliary of the British, intended to be used in alliance and joint operations for the protection of trade and possessions. In such a scheme it would be composed of the ships required by the British. It is the program which would be recommended by the admiralty to the British dominions if they were building. That's on the face of the treaty. The senate is within its rights in asking for all the facts behind it. Without them it should not act.

William Shearer was given the third degree in Washington as a preparation for the London conference. He was accused of making too much trouble in Geneva for the retention of the American cruiser idea. The American admirals who have opposed the abandonment of it have been told by treaty supporters that they are saucy and undisciplined. Now the administration locks up its papers.

The whole procedure makes suspicion inevitable and the facts invaluable.

THE AMERICAN TURNOVER.

Men, like money, are effective in proportion to their rate of turnover. On communications their speed of circulation depends.

While the population of the United States increased during the three decades of 1900 to 1930 in a ratio of about 7 to 12, the growth and use of communications was much greater. More Americans appeared upon this continental scene, but the area and speed of each one's circulation, mentally and physically, became even greater in proportion. Faster than the growth of population is the increase in American mobility.

In that 30 years the circulation of our daily newspapers has increased in a ratio of 1 to 3 up to 45,000,000 copies more or less. Telephones in number have increased in a ratio of about 1 to 10 up to 20,000,000 sets. Automobiles have increased since 1906 in a ratio of 1 to 250 up to 23,000,000 passenger cars. The radio has increased in number from 1922 in a ratio of 1 to 150 up to ten or fifteen million sets. Only railroad passenger service shows small gain, and in the last decade a distinct loss. Its gain over three decades of time is in a ratio of 1 to 1.3 passengers.

That the turnover of Americans becomes greater as the years go by is shown by the study of social changes in 1929 in the American Journal of Sociology. In 1902 there were about 30 telephones per thousand of population and about 64 telephone calls per capita. In 1929 there were 169 telephones per thousand persons, and 254 calls per capita of population. In 1929 the number of passenger motor cars in use increased 8 per cent over 1928, but the amount of traffic for the same period, as measured by the gasoline consumption, increased nearly 14 per cent. Motorists in the United States rode 187 billion miles in 1929. Flying in 1929 increased from 49,000 passengers in 1928 to 85,000 passengers, and from 16,000 miles of established air routes to 35,000 miles. And so it goes.

The mobility of Americans increases, and the correlation between agencies of communication increases also. Tieups of the radio and the newspaper, of the railroads and the bus lines, and of other agencies previously considered antagonistic mark the age. A conception of one general system of communication, to which all agencies contribute an appropriate part, is gradually being evolved. When such coördinations become more effective the American's mobility will be even greater. He will live distributively in many places. His interests and controls will be spread widely through time and space.

Year by year the turnover will be higher. Communications will increase and man's mobility will grow. Already this fact has profoundly affected his civilization. The effect will become greater as the years go by. The American is organizing on a continental scale. His society will become more and more organic. His life will be more closely interrelated with 200 million others.

HOSPITALS FOR THOSE OF MODERATE MEANS.

To the hospital nowadays every one goes to be born, to die, or to recover from the accidents and sicknesses that mark the interim. Along with the young, the old, the criminal, and delinquent, the sick are turned more and more over to institutions and social agencies and to professional attendance. As the nation becomes more organized and more mature the use of hospitals increases, and institutions, built at the outset to provide for patients too poor to own a decent bed or too rich to be content to stay there, now have become the refuge in sickness of people of all economic classes.

Charity the hospitals always have provided, and special services for the rich have also become a part of their routine, but, for the man of moderate means and his family, hospital service that can pay its way has become a prime problem in the medical care of the nation. If such a man or woman were willing to be sick in public the costs could be much lowered by the use of large wards and a minimum of nurses. But a decent private room is the first requirement of those who can afford to pay. At the convention of the American Nurses' association at Milwaukee the suggestion was made recently by Elnora E. Thomson that group nursing, whereby several patients share one nurse, may help to find an answer. Private or semi-private rooms with not so private nurses is one way out.

In Massachusetts, traditionally a leader in social medicine, a hospital for people of moderate means is now under construction. It will contain 300 beds arranged in wards of nine cubicles (or curtained areas), four-bed wards, two-bed semi-private rooms and single rooms, and the rates will run from $6.50 a day for single rooms to $4 a day for cubicles. In the country as a whole the proportion of private rooms is increasing. The cost, it may be hoped, will correspondingly decline.

In 467 hospitals studied recently by the committee on the cost of medical care there were 26,900 beds in single rooms, 15,437 in semi-private rooms, and 16,804 in small wards. Twenty per cent of the beds in single rooms could be secured—including food and general nursing—for less than $5 a day. In the semi-private rooms 72 per cent could be had for less than $5 a day, and in the small wards 93 per cent could be had for less than $5 a day. A new tendency in favor of the man of moderate means is evident.

SMALL HARBORS AND TRANSPORTATION.

Twenty-eight minutes from Evanston to Tribune square is guaranteed in a water taxi project proposed for the north shore. Three 38 foot cruisers are planned for the service averaging 25 miles an hour for the run down the lake. Whether such speed can be maintained comfortably in the heavy weather that frequently disturbs the lake may be a question.

Boat service in any case will be a valuable addition to Chicago's transportation system. It well may be as fast as and far more cool and comfortable than the automobile now is in our congested streets. With more areas and reaches sheltered by breakwaters and with more small harbors water transportation service can become of great importance.

The lake front of Chicago and Chicagoland needs more small harbors. Lake Forest, Winnetka, Glencoe, Kenilworth each should have its harbor for pleasure boats and for commercial transportation. The Wilmette harbor should be enlarged. Evanston certainly should have a harbor, and five or six small harbors should be added to Chicago's coast line. The development of yachting, finest of sports, of commercial transportation service and of the tourist business, depends on small harbors.

Editorial of the Day

GANGLAND BLUNDERS.

[The Peoria (Ill.) Transcript.]

Chicago's gangland has at last carried its terrorism to the place where it probably will find arrayed against it one of the most powerful forces in municipal affairs—the newspapers of that city, led by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

The slayer who crept up behind a reporter for that newspaper in a crowd at a suburban station and shot him through the head probably will be captured. If captured, he will undoubtedly sit in the electric chair. But his act will have consequences which will persist long after his death. Like the man who slew the archduke in 1914, none will remember his name a decade hence. But, like that man, he has let slip the dogs of war, and guns will crackle in Chicago.

Nobody ever killed a reporter for THE TRIBUNE before. But various attacks have been made upon newspaper men, suits for libel have been filed against newspapers, and suits have been filed by newspapers to force officials and private individuals to do things which the newspapers wanted done. It is a tradition in THE TRIBUNE establishment that, until demonstrated to the contrary, a reporter for THE TRIBUNE is right. Lingle may or may not have been slain in line of duty. But unless it develops he was derelict, gangland's latest blunder will be paid for in blood. Already THE TRIBUNE has offered $25,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the slayer. This will prove tempting to rats who feast at gangland's board.

From time to time THE TRIBUNE, through its employés, has been involved in cases of violence. Its management proceeds on the theory that if any person or persons "get away" with an employé, the prestige of the press has been dealt a blow. Such will be the reasoning in this case.

We fancy Al Capone is cursing the crooks in his home town just now. The violence they have done to a comparatively obscure pencil pusher is apt to wreck the playhouse.

ON KEEPING ONE'S TEETH.

THERE is more than one way to skin a cat. There appear to be three ways to prevent the teeth from decaying. The way which dentists have had in use, and are now using, is to brush the teeth and attend to the hygiene of the mouth generally. A second way—one which some children's specialists are using—is to supply ample anti-scorbutic foods, such as fresh fruits and vegetables. A third way is impressively put by Dr. May Mellanby. It is also a diabetic method. It consists in giving enough foods rich in vitamin D, such as eggs [particularly the yellow], fish, fats, butter, cheese, animal fats, and irradiated foods. Dr. Mellanby has been experimenting on this subject for years. Among the conclusions to which she has come are the following:

1. The character of the teeth and jaws is greatly influenced by diet.

2. The development of perfect teeth can be insured by an adequate diet rich in vitamin D. Such foods are indicated in a preceding paragraph.

3. If the diet is poor in vitamin D the body reserve of this substance is exhausted before the teeth begin to suffer. Therefore, a poor diet does not cause tooth decay unless it is continued some time. On the other hand, when a child with poor teeth is fed a proper diet the teeth begin to improve promptly.

4. Prolonged cooking of foods rich in vitamin D causes some destruction of the vitamin. If cooking is badly abused it may all be destroyed eventually.

5. For perfect teeth the food must contain some lime and phosphorus. If there is plenty of vitamin D not much lime and phosphorus are needed. If there is too little D more of the minerals is required. If there is no vitamin D no amount of the minerals will suffice. If much butter is fed the child he must get plenty of lime foods in addition.

6. Exercise of the body, including the jaws, is not an important factor. Exposure to sunlight is.

7. If a baby is to get good teeth and have good jaws the expectant mother must have a proper amount of D-rich foods. The quality of the milk teeth depends very much on the mother's diet. That of the permanent teeth depends on it somewhat, but not to the same extent.

There is no reason for considering these theories as contradictory to each other. They may all be right.

DOUBLY AFFLICTED.

G. W. writes: I made a good recovery from tuberculosis in Colorado, but about that time developed a violent ragweed and sage hay fever, so bad that I now go to northern New Hampshire that I may escape ragweed and a relapse.

The east slope of the Rockies is a garden of prairie ragweed, western ragweed, and giant ragweed, for hundreds of miles north and south of us. I would guess that ten times as much grows per acre as in New England. It is found even to 7,500 feet, where it follows up certain valleys.

I understand from correspondence with physicians that it does not grow around Tucson. After hunting diligently for a place in the southwest free from it, I've given up. Some parts of Idaho are free from both ragweed and sages. Every case of tuberculosis coming to this section should be tested for ragweeds and sage. The ragweed dosage is so heavy around here that those patients susceptible to the weed often have a hopeless time making the grade. In most sections here the patient must go above 8,000 feet to escape the weed.

RASH ON SHOULDER BLADES.

Mrs. F. M. M. writes: I am bothered with a breaking out of my shoulder blades, which first appears like the effect of chiggers. These places continue to itch after I doctor them and they do not get better. More seem to keep coming. My neighbor says I have nettle rash and that I will have to diet.

REPLY.

There is no particular similarity between the eruption of nettle rash and that due to chiggers. I think you will find some cause other than your diet.

A DARK NEIGHBORHOOD.

Chicago, June 3.—[Friend of the People.]—The street lights in the neighborhood of 6700 Oliphant avenue have not been burning for at least a month. In fact the section for several streets about has been in total darkness. May we have it repaired? S. R. M.

This matter has been referred to my bureau of operation with instructions to clear the trouble as quickly as possible.

I might add that by virtue of a council order recently passed the department has been authorized to restore its 1929 operating forces, including linemen, electric light repairmen, lamp cleaners, lamp changers, laborers, etc., thus enabling us to clear the trouble more expeditiously than we have been able to do heretofore with the insufficient man power appropriated in the original 1930 appropriation ordinance.

MICHAEL J. KENNEDY,
Commissioner of Gas and Electricity.

NO MORE DUMPING.

Chicago, June 5.—[Friend of the People.]—The lot in the rear of the stores in our block of South Kedzie avenue is used for a dumping ground by every one. It is most unsightly and, I would think, insanitary. MRS. F. S.

Report is made that owners referred to have been notified to provide proper and sufficient number of receptacles to care for garbage and rubbish output; to clean up vacant lot, and to see that further dumping was stopped. Assurance was given there would be no further cause for complaint and that receptacles would be provided promptly.

JOSEPH J BUTLER,
Deputy Superintendent of Streets.

STREET IS PATCHED.

Chicago, June 5.—[Friend of the People.]—The pavement on Rogers avenue and Damen avenue was torn up in several places this last winter by the gas company. The holes that were left as a result of this are still there and get worse all the time. M. W.

The gas company has been notified to make temporary repairs at once to these cuts and permanent repairs as soon thereafter as possible.

JOSEPH J. BUTLER,
Deputy Superintendent of Streets.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

IT'S JUST AGGRAVATING, THAT'S WHAT IT IS.

Yessir, it annoyed us to read yesterday that the British embassy is being restocked with a fine large truckload of real whisky, brandy, champagne, port—but why go over all that? It will just make you unhappy and won't do a bit of good.

The point is that the—what we said—had arrived on a ship in Baltimore and been taken under guard of an automobile load of Washington policemen to the cellars of the British embassy in Washington. We don't understand how they got that stuff through Baltimore; that's one of the thirstiest cities we have. And think what a shock it must have been to see all that—what we said—riding high, wide, and handsome around the place and the police keeping 'em from getting at it!

It's a great day for Washington. When the other British ambassador said he wasn't going to import any more of that stuff, and there was talk of the other embassies following suit—gentlemen, those were dark, sad days down in Washington. Strong men grew pale, women screamed, and—well, it looked bad. Almost everybody in Washington has a friend in some legation or other, and after walking around on the hot sands of Washington it's nice to drop into some cool oasis under the protecting folds of the flag of some other country and drink the health of its royal family and all their relatives. Not only drink it in good likker, but drink it free, and that's quelque chose in these hard-up days, we're telling you.

Oh, well. We're not complaining because the British embassy has restocked its wine cellar, but we wish they wouldn't print so much about it in the newspapers. We want to forget.

I FOUND YOU OUT.

I called on you today;
I'd been away.
From alien lands
I brought the things you love:
Jade for your hands,
Cool crystal for your throat;
I'd made a note
Of things made mention of
And fancies dreamed about . . .
I called on you today:
I found you out.

I'd been away,
I scarcely know how long—
Sea days for dreams
And nights ashore for song . . .
Your constancy, it seems,
Can stir an idle doubt.
I called on you today:
I'm glad I found you out!

OWEN PETERSON.

A NEW YORK SOCIETY GIRL is going to marry a young man who rescued her from a fire. Next thing a girl will have to carry a copy of the Social Register and a bank statement of her father's financial standing with her all the time to be sure of getting rescued if she happens to be in a situation where her life's in danger. Maybe if she keeps shrieking, "I'm a blonde! I'm a blonde!" all the time it might help, though personally we always preferred brunettes.

THE REV. CHARLES N. LATHROP of New York says it would be a most useful thing if governors and judges before taking office would first spend a month in jail. But listen, Rev.! It often takes longer than a month to get the goods on them. Besides, the jails are chock full right now. Anyhow—back to the Line's slogan—BIGGER AND BETTER JAILS!

AND WE TOOK ONLY THREE LESSONS BY MAIL.

Strange how usually well informed people cannot get the situation in China straightened out. Ask any one who is prime minister of Great Britain, and while many would say Lloyd Baldwin or Stanley George, this is owing, of course, to our insularity and our not belonging to the League of Nations. However, most intelligent people will say that Donald MacRamsay is prime minister of Great Britain, and while this is not exactly right, it is close enough for practical purposes. Now the leaders in China are just as easy to remember if you only put your mind to it. The president is Chiang Kai-sheck. Repeat it over a few times until you have grasped it firmly. One of the leading generals in the Northern government is Yen Hsi-shan, and the commander of the People's army is Feng Yu-hsiang. Say each one over ten times to glue them tight to the upper side of your mind. Now we all know the names of the leaders in China. Let's go! The president of China is Chin Jay Sneck. The principal general in the Northern government is Ken Shy Blam, and the commander of the People's army is Wheng Blu-zhyang. See how simple it is. Flynn Whey Fleck, Ten Guy Shlang, and Fling Hoo Kihyan. You see it is all a matter of a little attention. Look, we'll run over it again to show you how simple it is—Slim Hey-Sneck, Seven Hey Plang, and Sing Coo-Klang. See?

THE BRITISH POLICE are all stirred up and have put a guard at every port to recapture a Bible 350 years old that was stolen from a library in Millbank. The Horse Guards have been ordered out and the Channel fleet will mobilize at once. The English have no sense of humor; they make as much row over the stealing of a Bible as we Americans would make over theft of the Washington monument or the swiping of the dome off the capitol.

LAGNIAPPE.

OH, MR. KELLOGG, did you know that since your peace pact was signed the world has launched 50 per cent more cruisers than in 1913 and has three times more building than in the year before the war? Mr. Kellogg, won't you please examine your peace pact! The radiator's leaking, or one of the back tires is punctured, or there's carbon in the carburetor, or something. And the brakes don't seem to hold, and the engine is missing.

THIS IS THE DAY! The Smoot-Hawley-Grundy tariff bill comes forth in congress today. Will they kill it or kiss it? Hold your breath, everybody; don't move, don't breathe. And knock wood and keep your fingers crossed!

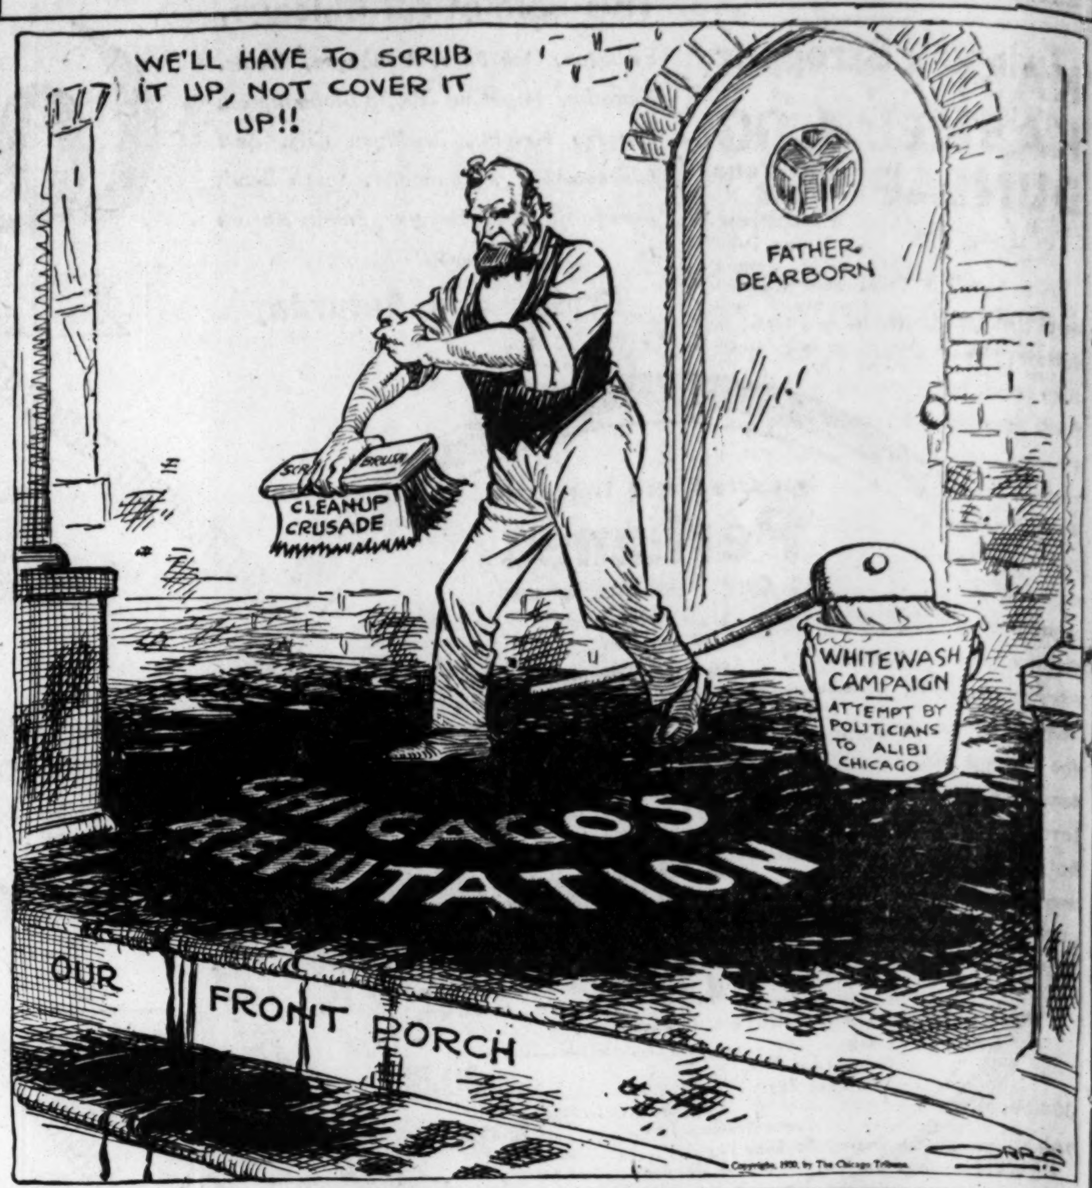
CHANGING BRUSHES



Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Tribune.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 13, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—The assassination conspiracy trial is still progressing and probably will last another week, as the defense has summoned fourteen more witnesses and the government has ten yet to call. The evidence yesterday showed that the explosion on the government barges at City Point last fall was the work of a rebel torpedo company. Evidence also tended to prove an alibi for O'Laughlin. J. P. Patterson, a reputable witness, testified that he was with O'Laughlin during the night of April 13, and that the latter was not near the home of Secretary Stanton on that evening watching the movements of Gen. Grant, as previous witnesses had testified.

ST. LOUIS.—The new constitution is adopted without doubt. Returns from 69 counties give only 2,380 adverse majority. The soldiers' vote from Little Rock and Chattanooga and returns from four other counties turn the majority to 842 in favor of the constitution, with returns from 4,000 soldiers and thirty-two counties yet to come in, nearly all favorable to the constitution.

ST. PAUL.—The Third regiment, Illinois cavalry veterans, 900 strong, in command of Col. Bonahan, is on its way up the river from St. Louis on the Savannah and Victory. They will proceed from here to Fort Snelling, from which point they will go to the frontier as soon as possible. Gen. Sibley sent a dispatch to Gen. Sully at Sioux City on June 7 and received a reply today. Sioux City is 300 miles from here, and this is considered good time for couriers to make in a wild country.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 13, 1900.

CHICAGO.—Dr. Henry Wade Rogers formally resigned the presidency of Northwestern university. The resignation, to take effect on July 15, was accepted by the board of trustees. The reason given by some trustees and by Dr. Rogers is that a certain clique in the board has been dissatisfied with his work in trying to push the institution ahead and that he could not carry out his plans without their aid, thus making his resignation a necessity for the well-being of the school. The board voted Dr. Rogers $5,000 additional salary for one year.

LONDON.—A dispatch to the Times from Pekin says: "M. Sugyama, chancellor of the Japanese legation, was brutally murdered by the soldiers of Gen. Tung Fuhsiang, a favorite bodyguard of the empress, at the Manigate Rood railway station. The foreign reinforcements are expected daily." There is no apparent effort on the part of the native government to check the Boxer uprising. Sixteen British marines, reconnoitering in advance of the international column marching to Pekin, fought and chased 2,000 Boxers on June 11, killing twenty or thirty. The marines then retreated and were pursued by the Boxers, most of them armed with spears and swords. When they saw more marines appearing the contingent turned and poured a deadly fire into the Boxers and the latter fled. Much more trouble is expected before the international column reaches Pekin.

CHICAGO. — Benny Yanger and George Dixon fought six rounds to a draw at Tattersall's.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 13, 1920.

CHICAGO — Warren G. Harding, United States senator from Ohio, was nominated for President and Calvin Coolidge, governor of Massachusetts, was named for Vice President by the Republican national convention last night. The choice of Senator Harding was effected on the tenth ballot of the convention and the sixth roll call of the two sessions held yesterday. The impossibility of nominating either Gen. Wood or Gov. Lowden was demonstrated in the first of those sessions. On the ninth ballot Senator Harding was 118½ votes short of the majority of 493. On the tenth he received 674 7-10 votes.

WASHINGTON—The census bureau announced that Chicago's total population is 2,701,212, an increase of 515,929 over the 1910 population of 2,185,283, or a gain for the ten years of 23.6 per cent.

THE POWER OF THE PRESS.

Chicago, June 11.—Regrettable as is the incident which has brought about national recognition of the deplorable condition of lawlessness in Chicago, we cannot help but feel that the matter has at last come into competent hands, which will not let it become dormant until an effective solution has been reached.

The press, and particularly THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, is the one instrument which, by vivid exposure and continuous activities, can mold public opinion to such an extent that gangland will be put into its proper niche.

It is extremely gratifying to see the manner in which all of the newspapers are banding together in a veritable fraternity for attack. It is our opinion that only by continuous haranguing on the incident of Monday will the public be incensed to the point of taking up arms in open warfare against all types of corruption and crime in Chicago.

This appalling incident is a present and ominous gauge of the fact that the safety valve has gone off! No longer does gangland confine its activities to its own kind for its own lawless ends! It is our hope that the "power of the press" in this instance may become a fact and not a platitude. A CITIZEN.

ON THE FRONT PAGE.

Chicago, June 11.—Just as a humble citizen I desire to express my horror at the dastardly deed, the assassination of your Mr. Lingle, who, judging from his picture, must have been a very fine fellow.

Having traveled very extensively, I know the wide circulation your paper enjoys and would suggest, therefore, that you keep the offer of reward on the front page till the murderer is apprehended.

And I am sure the interest of the press in general ought to be such, not only in Chicago but throughout the United States, as to do likewise. The deed is surely a challenge to all decent society.

H. HESHIN.

THE OLD DAYS.

Chicago, June 11.—Looking back twoscore years, to the time when I was a police reporter on THE TRIBUNE, I can realize the feelings of all the fellow workers of Lingle, the assassinated member of your staff, and I would like to have them know of my sympathy. While I did not know Lingle I feel just the same as if I were still on THE TRIBUNE. It might have been my friend John Kelley, that other veteran police reporter, now retired.

No crime of this kind has ever been committed in Chicago. In all my newspaper work there was never a thought or fear of personal danger while working on any crime cases. Reporters went into the nest of anarchists who had their big night in Haymarket square, and unraveled the mystery of the Dr. Cronin Clan-na-Gael murder, in which "Big Dan" Coughlin, a detective sergeant, was a conspirator, without even a threat against the reporters' lives.

What is the matter with Chicago's police force today? It is saturated in a mess of politics, booze, graft, and gangs, all for greed of easy money. What would be done to fight gangdom by such policemen of other days as Jack Shea, Luke Colleran, John Bonfield, Herman Schuettler, Nick Hunt, or Schaack, the "burgomaster"? They caught criminals, then got convictions; they cleaned up; they did police work first, last, and all the time.

ARTHUR W. O'NEILL.

THE HOODLUM BRIGADE.

Chicago, June 11.—The deliberate killing of Lingle, TRIBUNE reporter, whom I knew personally, rouses my ire beyond restraint.

The plan of rounding up Chicago's gangsters might prove more successful if Commissioner Russell would call in most of the patrolmen now assigned to the vehicle department and reassign them to the hoodlum brigade. The racketeers would positively bid farewell to Chicago if picked up with the same vigilance and in the same ratio as police tickets are issued for minor vehicle law violations. E. H. M.

SEX IN POLITICS.

Chicago, June 5.—Sex and sex prejudice is deeper and more unreasonable than religion. Hence sex in politics is worse than religion in politics. If candidates carried religious banners while campaigning the vote would not indicate the people's wishes as to public issues, no matter what the candidates said. The results will be the same wherever contesting candidates carry sex banners. The vote for Deneen and McCormick did not show the Republican voters' stand on the world court, and the vote next fall will not show the people's wish as to the wet and dry problem. The advisory referendum law should be amended to authorize election officials to place public issue proposition on the ballot for advisory vote whenever women and men compete for public office. M. D.

ROBINS IN DIXIE.

Chicago, June 9.—Mrs. J. H. A. Chambers seems to be very much misinformed on the robin question. I refer especially to the statement that "heartless southerners" do not admire the robin. The robin is very much admired in the south; in fact, there is no other bird that is loved any more than this aristocrat of birdland.

BRITISH INJURE 12 INDIA NATIVES IN 2 BATON CHARGES

Break Up Parade Held in Defiance of Martial Law

BOMBAY, June 12.—(AP)—Police clashed with civil disobedience volunteers on two occasions here today and twelve demonstrators were injured.

The Nationalists organized a parade in defiance of police orders to observe the proclamation of martial law at Sholapur just a month ago today. Police charged with their sticks to break up the demonstration and the procession moved off, apparently to disband.

A short time later the paraders entered a road forbidden to them and the constabulary made a second charge.

Many Women in Crowd.

The demonstrators were led by Kapadia, new president of the "war council" of the Nationalists in the Bombay area, and included hundreds of women dressed in saffron colored robes.

Prior to the formation of the main parade, a number of small columns converged from various points. Some of the demonstrators were Moslems.

Dacca, which has been the scene of communal rioting between Hindus and Moslems for several days, continued in a state of unrest today.

Another outbreak was reported at the village of Khaira, in the Midnapore district of Bengal. Police were understood to have opened fire on a large crowd of demonstrators, but details were not available here. Police reinforcements were sent to the village.

Fight Tax Strike.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, India, June 12.—Home Minister Haid hurriedly returned to Simla today after numerous conferences with the Bombay presidency, with indications that the viceroy, Lord Irwin, will order immediate enforcement of ordinances forbidding picketing, while the nontax campaign will be combatted vigorously. The Nationalists are momentarily on the defense awaiting the government's action.

Throughout the country the picketing of cloth and liquor shops is gaining in intensity, with the police and military becoming increasingly active. The Nationalist war council is ordering an expansion of its campaign, hence many believe a climax is near.

Thirty-eight liquor shops in the Bombay mill district were made the object of concentrated picketing Thursday evening, the purpose being to force the hand of the police.

Suppressed newspapers are reappearing, including the influential Free Press, which will resume publication tomorrow, having deposited heavy security.

ARRIVAL OF BRITISH EMBASSY RUM STIRS SENATOR TO PROTEST

Washington, D. C., June 12.—(AP)—Senator Howell [Rep., Neb.] protested to Police Superintendent Pratt today against importation of liquor by diplomats in the District of Columbia.

The Nebraska author of a bill for stricter prohibition enforcement in the capital was aroused by the bringing in of alcoholic beverages for the British embassy yesterday.

He contends Americans who transport diplomatic liquor are subject to prosecution. He wanted to know what trucking companies delivered the consignment for Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador.

With regard to the 2,000 bottles which had just reached here, Pratt told Howell diplomats were allowed to import with immunity due to diplomatic courtesy.

MEXICO ORDERS U. S. MOVIES AND BOOKS CENSORED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, June 12.—Acting under orders of the department of the interior, censors today began scrutinizing all American films. Other officials are pushing the examination of foreign school books.

The officials declare they are acting to prevent the presentation either in the school or the theater of ideas or scenes "degrading to Mexico."

There is nothing to prevent the exclusion from the school room, and even the confiscation of standard works of reference such as the International Encyclopedia, the Britanica, the Americana, and others, since all have attempted to tell the story of the various revolutions in Mexico since 1910 and their effects on foreign business and residents. This is more or less the material in the text books of the American School in Mexico City to which the department of education objected.

SEVEN IDENTIFY 2 AS ROBBERS.

Seven victims yesterday identified David Shue, 21 years old, 5701 South Sawyer avenue, and Clarence Gornicke, 19 years old, 5754 South Oak Park avenue, as the men who had held them up at various times. They are held at the Brighton Park station, where they have confessed to fifteen stickups, the police say.

Four Huge Steel Girders Arrive for Wabash Bridge

Four huge trunnion girders, weighing 80 tons each, were shipped yesterday by scows from South Chicago to the site of the new Wabash avenue bridge. The weight of the girders, according to City Engineer Gayton, made it impossible to haul them over city streets. The girders were taken from Gary to South Chicago on flat cars and then transferred to th scows by derricks. The substructure of the bridge has been completed and work has been started on the superstructure.

ONTARIO'S LIQUOR LAWS PRAISED BY U. S. SHRINE CHIEF

Wishes U. S. Had Same Kind of Local Option.

BY GEORGE SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., June 12.—After living for a week under Ontario's government controlled liquor sale law, newly elected Imperial Potentate Esten A. Flethcer of Rochester, N. Y., wishes the United States would adopt a liquor law like it.

Imperial Potentate Fletcher so stated publicly, at a farewell dinner tendered the departing Shriners tonight by the Ontario government, at the Royal York hotel. And in his expressed desire for a modification of America's prohibition law he was backed up by the very next American speaker, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, who, after declaring that many Americans seemed to shut their eyes to American prohibition's dangerous international effects, advocated that the liquor problem in America be turned back to the states "with adequate protection against interstate shipments and thus adopt the doctrine of home rule."

Shriners Keep Sober.

That these public anti-prohibition statements of two prominent Americans should be made in Canada was undoubtedly due to the remarkable behavior and sobriety of 70,000 holidaying Americans set down suddenly in a land where liquor is to be had for the asking. No drunken Shriner came within the observation of the writer in three days of the convention. Moreover, Imperial Potentate Fletcher tonight testified to the good reports of the Shrine marshals. Not one Shriner was arrested for drunkenness during the convention.

Earlier in the day, standing on Canadian soil and surrounding a peace monument which they had just unveiled and committed to Canadian care for all time to come, 50,000 American Shriners consecrated themselves to the cause of North American peace.

Peace Angel Faces U. S.

Amid the applause and cheers of a multitude of Americans and Canadians, whose combined numbers must have exceeded 100,000, the shroud fell from the impressive bronze memorial, a Peace angel, facing southward across the lake toward the United States, and holding in each outstretched hand an olive branch.

Gone, however, was the air of frivolity marking the pageants of yesterday. Today's was a peace parade which unwound along three miles of Lake Front boulevard. In place of the boisterous gaiety there was an atmosphere of profound earnestness, which was intensified as the first of 65 bands in the parade marched along playing the hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers."

By means of radio, the voices of American, Canada, Mexican and Cuban government representatives, speaking from the capitals of their respective countries, were wafted to the American Shriners and the Canadian crowds in Exposition park.

MINISTERS ARRESTED FOR BUYING GASOLINE AND CIGAR ON SUNDAY

Trenton, N. J., June 12.—(AP)—A minister of the gospel purchased some gasoline on the Sabbath, another bought a cigar, a police clerk paid for his dinner at a hotel, a city commissioner played golf at the country club.

These bits of evidence and 3,729 other complaints alleging violation of New Jersey's ancient blue laws were forwarded to the county prosecutor today for presentation to the grand jury.

The large list of violators is a result of the Trenton Ministerial union's drive against Sunday movies, under the old blue ban. Police took the complaint literally, arrested theater owners, gasoline station attendants, train and trolley car crews, baseball, tennis, and golf players, florists, restaurant owners, workmen and bootblacks, all of whom were violating the ancient Sabbath laws.

Chiang Flies from One Front to Another.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 12.—After a month of fierce fighting, but with the engagements indecisive, the Nationalist government and the Northern alliance rebel armies, totaling 400,000 men, are seeking an armistice, it was reported tonight. Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, president of the Nationalist government, flew from the battle front in Honan and Shantung provinces to Hankow to lead the fight against the southern Kwangsi rebels.

The government has issued a statement stating that Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang of the northern rebels has offered to sell out to Gen. Chiang for $3,000,000 and turn against his ally, Gen. Yen Hsi-shan. It is added that Chiang rejected the offer.

Southern Rebels Advance.

In the south it is stated the Kwangsi rebels, aided by Chang Fak-wie's crack ironside division, are in control of Changsha, capital of Hunan, with 50,000 troops lodged in the city. Other rebel forces are said to be marching on Hankow.

Gen. Chiang, determined to crush this invasion, has ordered a mass movement of troops to this city pending his arrival by air.

Siberian peasant guerilla detachments have raided the soviet Russia state horse breeding farm at Golenki station in the martime province. The peasant mutineers are still holding an extensive district adjacent to the Suchan mines to the east of Vladivostock, as well as areas near stations Shkotovo and Spassk on the Ussuri branch of the Siberian railway connecting Habarovsk and Vladivostock.

HARP ON "PARTY REGULARITY" AS MINNESOTA TEXT

Schall and Christianson Cite Loyalty Records.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., June 12.—[Special.]—Party "regularity" is moving in a mysterious way its wonders to perform in the battle between Thomas D. Schall, the blind senator, and Gov. Theodore Christianson for the Republican nomination for senator in Monday's primaries.

Up to a few days ago the two leading Republican contenders were both playing up to an avowed yearning to go to Washington to uphold Senator Henrik Shipstead, the one Farmer-Labor member of the senate. President Hoover's name was seldom mentioned, and both the senator and the governor were singing over the radio, "I'm a pal of Shipstead" (who carried every county in Minnesota two years ago and rolled up a 300,000 plurality on the Farmer-Labor ticket).

Still Quote Moses' Remark.

Of recent days the scenario has shifted a bit and the governor and the senator are matching "regularity." Christianson's camp sets up that the governor helped celebrate Hoover's homecoming party at West Branch, Ia., in 1928, and spoke for Hoover throughout his own state campaign. Senator Schall declares he made fourteen speeches for Hoover in 1928, and in 1924 made 288 speeches, in each of which he urged the election of Coolidge.

Schall says he will not be a "sedulous ape" and that he believes "right stands above party," and that's why he's in the coalition in the senate which prompted Senator George Moses' remark about "sons of the wild jackass."

Schall left for Washington last night saying he was going to vote against the tariff bill, which both candidates have been assailing as a "Grundyized tariff."

Both Extoll Shipstead.

Sandwiched between their "party regularity" claims both contenders keep extolling Shipstead, "the Farmer-Laborite," for there is a possibility Minnesota may elect a Farmer-Labor governor this year, their candidate being Floyd B. Olson, for twelve years county attorney of Hennepin county here. The Republicans have six candidates, the leaders being ex-Gov. J. A. A. Burgquist, Ray P. Chase, state auditor, and N. J. Holmberg, commissioner of agriculture.

MRS. M'CORMICK DEFENDS RECENT PRIMARY COSTS

Nominee Declares for Limiting Funds.

Toledo, O., June 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican candidate for the Illinois senatorship, addressing a Republican women's mass meeting here today, defended her recent primary election expenditures of $252,570 and pointed out such use of money is necessary to offset the patronage advantage of an incumbent.

"Under present conditions one or more of the candidates in senatorial primaries must battle against all the influence of the sitting member and the power of his patronage," she said. "He must find another organization and make an alliance with it, or he must create an organization of his own. He then must decide upon the financing of his campaign. Either he must use his own money or he must accept contributions from individuals, or corporations, or political groups, and place himself under such obligations that his later career will be touched at every point by those who have selfish claims on him.

"Without organization and without funds he can hardly prevail against the opposition he will be called upon to meet.

"I believe that this present discussion of campaign funds should not be permitted to pass until there has been launched a movement for a constitutional amendment or whatever other methods may be found practicable and desirable to correct this situation."

UNABLE TO PICK FAVORITE OUT OF BIG FIELD

Expect Huge Crowd Tomorrow.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The strangest and most puzzling $50,000 horse race ever run.

WALTER J. SALMON.

That's the $50,000 added American Derby to be run at Washington Park tomorrow afternoon.

A race so wide open you could get 2 for 1 and your money back four hours in advance if you thought you could pick, not the winner, but the favorite.

Gallant Knight, Michigan Boy, Tannery, or the field was the way the advance guard of Derby visitors tried to center on a favorite. And after they had burned the midnight oil while wrestling with handicap figures they came to the conclusion that this was one race that could not be handicapped.

Starters Not All Bums.

And just because Gallant Fox, the champion 3 year old of the year, is an absentee, don't think that the prospective, 15, 18, or 20 starters are all bums. There are horses in the race that have really gone places and done things.

Winning the American Coaching club Oaks at Belmont Park is no easy afternoon's work, yet Walter J. Salmon's Snowflake, which will run coupled with Swinfield in the Derby, accomplished that task. Swinfield's most notable performance was a second in the Withers to Whichone.

Capturing a Kentucky Oaks is also quite a task. Yet Alcibiades did that and, according to old time horsemen, she will be ready to run to the Rocky mountains when she faces the Derby barrier.

Fillies seldom win an early season Derby. Yet Snowflake and Alcibiades on dope surely stack up with the best of their boy friends in this puzzling Derby to be run tomorrow afternoon. And for your further information Alcibiades lined up at the barrier with most of these same colts last fall in the Kentucky Jockey club stakes and ran a whale of a race and she was the early pacemaker in the Kentucky Derby.

Must Consider Gallant Knight.

Gallant Knight won a Fairmount Derby, was second to Gallant Fox in the Kentucky, which is also two good afternoons' jobs. His bad race in the Cleveland Derby caused some of his backers to desert him. But if you throw that race out Gallant Knight must be considered for the American Derby prize.

Then there is Michigan Boy, which won the Louisiana Derby and was second in the Chesapeake stakes; Ned O., third in the Kentucky Derby, and so many unheard of dark horses that it will not be surprising if the American Derby of tomorrow afternoon is won by a 100 to 1 shot. At least it looks like the spot for such a thing to happen.

Xenofol, Erin, Dark Sea, Dark Entry, Sidney, Ladrone, Dedicate, Prince Atheling are among the dark horses. It is truly an east against the west battle. Both sections will be represented by about the same number of representatives.

With practically every reserved seat sold there is no doubt that the American Derby will attract an enormous crowd. Plans were going forward to handle the largest gathering that ever has visited the Washington Park course.

Tippy Toe Beats Pansy Walker.

Five leading candidates for the Illinois Oaks clashed yesterday in the Gladiola purse, which served as the feature. While most of those present were engaging in Derby talk and Derby arguments, the race attracted considerable attention and the outcome furnished a surprise when Tippy Toe, owned by Reichert Brothers of Belleville, beat such outstanding fillies as Pansy Walker, Galaday, Honey Locust, and Surpryse.

Pansy Walker was given a queer ride. She was allowed to run for one instant, and a second later was taken back by Jockey T. May. Tippy Toe gradually improved her position until she got to the front an eighth from home and drew away to win by a length and a half from Pansy Walker, with Galaday a badly beaten third.

Tippy Toe paid nearly 8 to 1 in the betting. It looks like she will give all the other high powered fillies a battle when the Illinois Oaks is run.

Lyons Wins 9th; Sox Beat Griffs, 10-6

BY EDWARD BURNS.

J. Smead Jolley and Carl Reynolds got going in the same game again yesterday and whenever that happens the enemy invariably suffers. The enemy in this instance was the Washington team and the extent of the suffering is reflected in the score: White Sox, 10; Senators, 6.

Before we turn to the slugging phase of the encounter you should know that the victory was Ted Lyons' ninth of the year, an important accomplishment in view of the fact that Ted had lost four in a row in his efforts to hang up that No. 9.

And Ted not only resumed his winning pitching habits. He made a double, two singles and scored two runs.

As previously intimated, Jolley and Reynolds were coöperating, and while there were nine hits other than those made by Smead and Carl, including a homer by Jeffries, it was the two big boys who did their stuff when there was a desperate need of runs.

Carl made the first of his three hits, a double, to start the second, and shortly afterward scored the first run of the game on Clancy's single to center.

In the fourth, however, the one run advantage possessed by the Sox was blasted away when Ossie Bluege knocked a homer into the left field stand, scoring Goslin and Myer ahead of him.

In the last of the fourth Reynolds again functioned. He knocked a triple to start the inning. Cissell walked, then Carl scored again while Cissell and Clancy were going down in a double play. This made the score Senators, 3; Sox, 2.

The Senators were shut out in the fifth despite the fact Rice and Goslin registered vigorous singles. Then the Sox had their fifth turn at bat, and here's what happened. Autry popped to the catcher, but Lyons singled to center. Kerr furnished the second out of the inning with a fly to Goslin, but Watwood singled to right, Lyons stopping at second. J. Smead then stepped up and smacked his ninth homer of the year, scoring Lyons and Watwood ahead of him and establishing the score at Sox, 5; Senators, 3.

The visitors never had a chance after the fifth, and began thinking about the game tomorrow, when they will count on Ad Liska, underhand eccentric, to defeat Bob Weiland.

The Sox added three runs to their score in the seventh on hits by Autry and Lyons, a sacrifice by Kerr and hits by Watwood and Reynolds.

Our lads got two more in the eighth on a walk to Cissell and Jeffries' homer. A double play blotted out a single by Crouse and a double by Lyons.

The three runs obtained by the Senators in the ninth were strictly the result of a Sox letdown. Why the Sox should let down to anybody, regardless of the score in their favor, is a mystery, of course. But just the same, the Senators wouldn't have made their ninth inning runs if Ted had chosen to bear down real hard.

NOTTINGHAM, England., June 12.—(AP)—Leo Diegel, American professional golf champion, was beaten, 7 and 6, by Archie Compston, big English pro, in an 18 hole match today. Continuing the round, Compston scored a 67, setting a new record for the course.

RAIN AND PHILS COMBINE TO BEAT CUBS IN 6TH, 5-3

Osborn's One Bad Inning Spells Defeat.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 12.—The Cubs today were denied their customary nine innings of labor. They were in arrears when the performance was abandoned in the sixth on account of rain and were officially charged with a 5 to 3 trimming in the third of the series with the Phillies.

The excuse for canceling the struggle after the customary wait was that the grounds were too deep in mud to warrant a continuation, but this was the opinion of the three arbiters and not of the Cubs. They walked off the field making various uncomplimentary gestures in the direction of Messrs. McGrew, Reardon, and Magerkurth.

Osborn Has Bad Inning.

The game slipped away from the champions because Bob Osborn, starting hurler, had a bad inning. He prospered for three sessions, allowing only one run, which equaled a homer by Woody English, but in the fourth four Phils in succession hit him safely. Sheriff Blake had to hustle to the rescue and he halted the uprising after three had scored. Later the Cubs retrieved a couple of these runs, making the score 4 to 3, but just before the final home half the Phillies made themselves a bit more secure by adding one tally off Blake.

Tomorrow's program, the final here, calls for Bush against Elliott.

The Cubs should have had something to show for their efforts as early as the first inning. A hit and two passes filled the bases with one out, but Stephenson bounced into a double play. The Phils stepped out and grabbed a run in their half of the round. Southern's single, a pass to O'Doul, and a hit by Klein did this. The one run lead remained only until the third, when English tied it with a homer.

Osborn's rout in the fourth got under way when Klein opened the session with a single to center. Wilson let the ball roll past him and the runner went on to third. A one base blow by Whitney scored him. Friberg nicked the right field wall for two sacks, Whitney halting at third. Thevenow hoisted a fly to short center and it fell for a fluke single, Whitney going home and Friberg to third. Blake then appeared and stopped the rally after Friberg had scored on Davis' sacrifice fly.

Blair Starts Rally.

From English's homer until the two run outbreak in the sixth the Cubs weren't guilty of even a single. Blair started the rally by slipping a hit into center. English forced him, but Cuyler singled to right. Wilson stepped into the first pitch and lined it down the right field foul line for a double, English and Cuyler dashing around to the plate. Stephenson bounced to Whitney, who tagged Hack on his way to third and the session closed with Grimm hoisting to O'Doul in left.

The sixth began with a pass to Friberg. Thevenow bunted and Blake not only threw late but wild to first, giving Tommy a hit and Friberg time to reach second.

At this point there was a halt due to rain. When the party was resumed Davis flied to Cuyler and Willoughby fanned. Blake would have pulled out undamaged if a ball bounced back at him by Southern hadn't caromed off his glove tip for a single, Friberg scoring. Sherlock fanned for the third out and another downpour halted the battle for keeps.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

NEW YORK, June 12.—Maximilian Siegfried Adolf Otto Schmeling, the new heavyweight champion, was born in Klein-Luckow, Germany, Sept. 24, 1905. He is, therefore, three years younger than the man he defeated. Schmeling's pere was a fisherman. When he became a pilot for the Hamburg-American line the family moved to Hamburg.

Max acquired grammar school and what corresponds nearly to our high school education under the compulsory laws, but was not particularly fond of his books. He tried various jobs and then wanderlust seized him. So for several years he wandered over Germany and even into Belgium, working when necessary at whatever job he could find. He was a farm laborer, typist, stone layer, factory hand, structural steel worker, solicitor for an advertising agency.

The story of Schmeling's first fight sounds fanciful. Perhaps it is, but this has been a time for ballyhoo and no time to be fussy over facts. As the story goes, at any rate, Max was walking past a gymnasium in Mulheim about five years ago when he chanced to look within and saw two young fellows boxing. Asked if he could box, he replied that he never had on a glove. One of the chaps offered to teach him, intending to give Max a good drubbing for the amusement of the crowd.

Schmeling received the first blow, delivered with force, on his nose. His tutor received the second blow, a piston-like right, on the point of the chin—curtains.

So Schmeling was invited to compete in the club tournament. He knocked out the champion and became middleweight titleholder. Whether or not this version of his start is correct, it's a good story anyway.

In the six months following Max won a half dozen amateur bouts, mainly with that right hand punch. Then he turned professional. As a pro he lost one of nine fights in 1925. He acquired his first title in 1926, when he stopped Max Diekman for the light heavyweight championship of Germany. He visited America in 1928, winning over Joe Monte, Joe Sekyra, Pietro Corri, Johnny Risko, and Paolino Uzcudun.

Then, because of trouble with the New York boxing commission, Schmeling returned to Germany, where he appeared in a talkie. His bout against Sharkey is the first in a year. The German schlager is unmarried. His father is dead, but his mother and a brother, an auto mechanic, live in the fatherland.

Nesting Kildeer Finds Golf Full of Hazards

Stevens Point, Wis., June 12.—(AP)—Golfing hazards of the Whiting Country club course are shared by a kildeer, which made the mistake of building its nest right in the middle of a fairway, and then laying three eggs in it. The groundkeeper has placed a large stone in front of the nest to prevent golf balls from striking the bird or eggs. The kildeer, however, is leading a fretful life, raising an outcry many time daily as golfers pass.

BY MAX SCHMELING.

[As told to Paul Gallico.]

New York, June 12.—I did not want to win that way. I wanted to be heavyweight champion of the world, but not on a foul. My head was clear. Sharkey had done his worst. O, I am disgusted! Yes, I am heavyweight champion of the world, but I want to prove it. I would have proven it. And when Sharkey fights me again I will prove it.

When I climb out of the ring I say to Sharkey when he comes over to shake my hand: "Jack, I give you revenge. I give you revenge whenever you want to fight again." You know what I mean—another chance. That is not the way to win a championship. That was the second time I speak to Sharkey. The first time is in the second round. I say to him: "Jack, be careful. You hit me low."

Says Glove Saved Him.

I have my glove down, my right glove 'way low, and he hit me on it with a left hook. If I do not have my glove down there I am fouled right then. He says nothing to me. Not during the whole fight does he say anything.

That fight goes just the way I think it should. The first round we are both careful. You see those left hooks I hit him so his mouth bleeds? Yeah? Then I knew I can hit him.

The second round I am still careful. Sharkey boxes good. I want to see what he has, you understand. I must find out what is his worst. If I get past that, then I begin to come on.

All right, in the third round I get it. You see that? Sharkey hits me some good ones. It is his worst. I know that. I can see how he tries. Once when he misses I hear him breathe, and I know he has everything on it, as you say. All right, I lose that third round, but I know what Sharkey has. And I do not care. My head is clear. When Jacobs gives me the smelling salts I push them away. I do not want them. Look, I see every one at the ringside, you Paul, and Eddie Neale, Pegler, all the people I know. I think just what I do.

Then Came the Fourth.

Then comes the fourth round and I think you see the difference in me. I tell Joe Jacobs when the bell rings—two more rounds and I go after him strong. He cannot hurt me any more, see? In the fourth round I give him a right on the head that he remembers. Yes, and the left hook is all right. And then I am up against the ropes. Sharkey throws the right. I duck under, and in comes the left hook. It is low. You see it? I don't have to tell you. It is a terrible pain. I cannot move. I am nearly mad. What must I do? No one knows whether the referee says I am fouled. Sharkey is over in my corner for a minute. Then I hear that I am heavyweight champion of the world. And there is no lift in my heart.

To the American people I can only say that some day I hope I can pay them back for how they were cheated tonight. And from the bottom of my heart I can only thank them for a fairness to a stranger in their land that has never been equaled in the history of sport.

Says Germans Won't Forget.

I tell you that the German people will never forget how a lone boy came to your land. How he fought your American champion, and how, when he was helpless and in distress, with no thought for the glory of possibly keeping the championship in America, the officials called the decision as they saw it and not as they would have wished it. This wonderful fairness has done something to my heart and I will never forget. I owe a debt to the American people, and I swear to you that some day I will repay and so, too, will my country.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, June 12.—The blow by blow story of Max Schmeling's victory over Jack Sharkey at Yankee stadium tonight follows:

FIRST ROUND—When Sharkey was introduced he received a terrible booing. Sharkey led with a left and hooked twice. Max backed away from Sharkey's lefts and then nailed Jack with a left hook to the jaw. Max ducked under a counter left. They moved cautiously. They exchanged left hooks to the mouth. Schmeling hooked a left to the mouth. Max sent a left to the stomach and Jack hooked two lefts to the head. Max landed a right to the jaw and Sharkey pounded with both hands to the head. Schmeling made Sharkey miss with lefts. Sharkey dug his left to the stomach, and another left to the head. Jack drove a right to the head, but Max was covered up. Sharkey was bleeding slightly from the mouth.

SECOND ROUND—Sharkey danced out and Max stepped in with a right to the jaw. They mixed it freely, and Sharkey sent both hands to the body. Schmeling boxed in a crouch and Sharkey sent a wicked left hook to the stomach. Schmeling missed a right, and Sharkey countered with a left to the face. Schmeling started a straight left for the head, but Sharkey pulled away and let him have a right uppercut. Schmeling drove a left to the stomach. Max hooked a left to the stomach and crossed a right to the jaw. Sharkey connected with a right uppercut. Sharkey jabbed in several lefts and drove a right to the body.

THIRD ROUND—Sharkey landed two lefts to the face and Max crossed him with a right to the jaw. Jack sent a right to the head. Schmeling drove a right high to the head and sent two hooks to the stomach. Schmeling stepped in with two lefts to the mouth. Sharkey staggered Schmeling with a right to the jaw. Jack drove a flurry of rights to the jaw and Max held on. Max was in bad shape and seemed groggy. Jack rushed his man and sent a right to the jaw. Max missed with a right to the jaw, and Sharkey belted him with both hands. Sharkey was cool and fighting cautiously.

FOURTH ROUND—Sharkey, still cautious, stabbed Schmeling with two straight lefts, and then, as Max came tearing in, Sharkey crossed a right to the head. Sharkey landed a light right to the jaw, but Max countered with a right to the same place. Schmeling missed a left hook, and Sharkey missed with a right. Schmeling led with a right and Jack crossed with a right to the heart. Sharkey missed a right to the jaw, and then pushed Max out of a clinch. Sharkey drove a vicious right to the jaw and Max's legs wabbled. Max smeared Jack with a left hook to the jaw. Sharkey rushed Schmeling to the ropes with his right and left fusillade to the body, both hooks. The first was a right to the stomach. The second was a left which went to the groin as Max straightened up from the impact of the other blow. Schmeling reeled on the ropes, then dropped to the floor in agony. Referee Crowley consulted with the judges, only one of whom saw the blow, and then awarded the bout to Schmeling.

AMERICAN COOL, CAREFUL; EARNS CRITIC'S PRAISE

Stamina of German Impresses.

Tunney Agrees

NEW YORK, June 12.—(AP)—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, said Jack Sharkey fouled Max Schmeling unintentionally, but nevertheless unmistakably.

"It was a foul," said Tunney a few minutes after Schmeling had been carried from the ring.

"It is unfortunate, for clearly the blow was unintentional, but it was obviously a foul.

"It was a blow that will cause excruciating pain and there is no doubt in my mind that Schmeling was incapacitated."

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 12.—Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling stand in the same relative position for world supremacy as they did before Max was declared the winner on a foul in the fourth round in Yankee stadium tonight.

Sharkey had the better of the fighting up to the time the contest was terminated. That supremacy was not marked enough to indicate he would have been the winner had the affair gone to its conclusion. Those who thought Sharkey the better fighter still think so, which also may be said of the Schmeling adherents.

Sharkey displayed qualities which he had been expected to show. That was superior boxing and greater ring experience. Only his superior boxing counted. That jabbing left was pushed against the German's face and kept Max from crowding his attack, as he would like to have crowded it.

Sharkey Careful, Smart.

Sharkey's generalship was good. Once or twice when stung he did show that rage which some admirers feared might cause his downfall. Even then, however, he did not leave himself carelessly open.

This Bostonian, who saw go glimmering, at least temporarily, his cherished dream of a world title through an unintentional foul, was a careful and smart Sharkey tonight. He fought the best battle I ever saw him fight. He knew he was superior as a boxer and made the most of that. He also knew that to remain on the defensive and counter as Schmeling attacked would not make him a popular champion if he won on points. Therefore Jack tried to get his opponent off balance, and then tear in with that flurry of lefts and rights — a flurry which preceded the foul blow.

This tribute is paid Sharkey because I have been prejudiced against his ring demeanor and his previous lack of self-control. He showed nothing objectionable. He created a more favorable impression than in battles he has won.

Max Displays Stamina.

Now about this German boy, the first foreign boxer in modern fistiana to hold the world title. While he was outboxed by Sharkey in the first two rounds and badly cuffed in the third and early fourth, he rallied every time it seemed he must go groggy. His stamina was remarkable.

At the time the foul occurred as the fourth round ended Schmeling actually was pressing his attack harder than in the third, when he had much the worst of it. That is why one cannot say that Boston Jack would have won except for the foul, because Schmeling was primed for a long bout and he thought distance would be to his advantage.

Sharkey's most effective defensive blow was his left jab. His best attack was the one-two right and left hooks, which are dangerous to himself as well as to his opponent, because they may land low. He unleashed several wicked uppercuts, but they did not land flush.

Schmeling's left hook was better than expected. In its use he showed the practice to which he had given this blow in his training camp. He did not trust solely to his pile driving right, although he always had it on hand ready for use. It was sound strategy not to overwork that right. By his left hook, Schmeling proved he was not a one handed fighter.

The new champion undoubtedly will be more effective his next time out, because of more experience. He will not necessarily be more confident, for he has not lacked confidence at any stage.

Max Schmeling is champion of the world. However, he has not proved he is the best heavyweight fighter in the world.

Jack Sharkey, who was asked to prove his pugilistic class in this battle, did so as far as the battle progressed. His courage did not receive the test many wished, because the fight did not go that far.

The Rush Is On; Tribune Golf Entries Close Monday

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The closing rush for a place in THE TRIBUNE's public links golf tournament has begun. From nearly every park and daily fee course of the Chicago district cards are pouring in with every mail.

As the deadline approaches, the battle for a chance to enter match play grows as spirited among the women as among the men. Each contestant must get both of his 18 hole cards of qualifying play to THE TRIBUNE golf editor by Monday.

If you haven't begun yet there is still time. Go to your favorite public golf course today, play 36 holes if you have the time, but if not, go through 18 today and 18 tomorrow. As soon as you've finished a round have a member of your foursome sign your card, write on it your name, address and telephone number and mail it to THE TRIBUNE golf editor.

The south side women seem to have a bit more talent for the game than their sisters of the west and north, but there are many more to be heard from before the final returns are posted. It's up to the lassies who play at Lincoln, Columbus, Garfield, and the daily fee courses to begin swinging a powerful driver unless they want the girls from Jackson and Marquette to steal the show.

So get going today, folks, and remember that 32 men and 32 women will qualify to play for silver trophies. You'll get a much bigger thrill out of the game if you're competing in a big tournament with something to shoot for, and if you make a good showing in your first meet it may stimulate you to develop into a par golfer. No matter how much or how little you've played, you're eligible to try for a place and golf luck may make your chance as good as the next fellow's.

The team trophy went to Jack Jackson, 83; Sam Stone, 90; H. J. Shannon, 85; and Roy Kiken, 82. Dwight Wallace had the least number of putts, 31. In the competition for morning low net prize, Steed Kimber shot 50-10-40 and O. F. Burnett, 45-4-41.

HAMLINE SEVERS RELATIONS WITH MIDWEST LOOP

St. Paul, Minn., June 12.—(AP)—The faculty board of athletics at Hamline university of St. Paul, last night decided to sever athletic relations with the Midwest conference. Hereafter the local school will confine its sports championship efforts to the Minnesota state colllege conference, instead of both loops.

The move came after a year's consideration and was made in line with a request from the "H" club, an organization of Hamline's athletes, who said the change would strengthen the school's athletic policy in this state.

MAY TAKE LAKE FOREST.

Lake Forest college may take up Hamline's membership in the Midwest athletic conference. The North Chicago college has applied for admittance to the conference for the last three years but has been turned down. Hamline's withdrawal, however, encouraged the college's officials who believed their application will now be accepted. Lake Forest has an enrollment of 450 students.

OOSE CALVES ND NEW PLACE O TAKE SNOOZE

retch Selves on Bunks in Camper's Cabin.

BY BOB BECKER.

When a couple of unsophisticated se calves turn their backs on ds" in the woods, where they are pposed to sleep, and walk through open door of a log cabin, climb the lower bunk, and stretch out a snooze it begins to look as if "wild" game were vanishing. Instead we are getting civilized moose ich prefer cabins and bungalows to big timber.

U. Bates, a resident of the little lage of Metagama, a jumping off ce for big game hunters and fishermen which is in the heart of a wild ested section north of Toronto, has itten us that he found two moose lves enjoying his log cabin the other y when he visited the place to check on its condition.

They were stretched out on one of e lower bunks of the cabin, apparently enjoying a quiet sleep on the w mattress and springs which he d put on the bunk last fall. Naturally he looked twice at the two babes in the woods" before he would lieve his eyes.

Writing us about this situation, he id:

"I tried to get the two calves out the bunk, but they were too sleepy move. Finally I carried them outside and put them down on the grass. hey didn't like that, so the two went ck to the porch of the cabin, found sunny spot, and flopped down. In a w minutes they were sound asleep.

"I thought it was too good to miss, I went for my camera and took veral snaps of the 'calflets' asleep the cabin porch, as you see them the picture which I inclose with is letter.

"Honest, Bob, I have been in the sh for twenty years, but I never fore saw or heard of an occurrence e this. Have you?"

Bates adds that the moose are plentiful in his section, and, considering e fondness of the calves for spring ds, he may have to provide log rest shelters" for them, unless they e content to sleep in the woods like ell behaved moose calves.

Schmeling Wins Heavyweight Title on Foul in Fourth Round

his dressing room soon after his retirement and said he believed that the finishing punch was low.

Finish Blurred by Action.

The finish came in such a quick blur of action and with the fighters in such an odd position that the punch that put Schmeling down was visible only to a comparatively few enjoying a particular angle of vision at the distance. Along the side of the ring where Schmeling fell, the verdict of the judge, the press row and the customers was that Schmeling was fouled.

Sharkey had been counter punching most of the time, drawing Schmeling's leads and whipping in right uppercuts. This time he dashed in on his own initiative, hooked his right to the body just on the line of the trunks and fetched over a left swing which came in a low arc and didn't have room in which to come up to fair territory.

Schmeling had just begun to assert himself after his bad experience in the third round. Sharkey began the fourth with a left and right to the face, ripped up a light left hook to the cheek, and was going at his work with almost a swagger when Schmeling, gathering himself together, suddenly pitched in a left hook that took Sharkey square on the chin. Sharkey backed off, startled and somewhat hurt and Schemling at last seemed to be making some headway. Schmeling thumped him with three more left hooks on the chin and had just registered with a left and right to the body when Sharkey tore into him in a belated rush to win the round.

Sharkey had entered the ring with the Stars and Stripes draped over his shoulders and the anchor device of the United States navy embroidered big and brazen on the back. Schmeling drew a partisan roar. Sharkey's ovation began with a boo but changed to acclaim.

Jack Starts Cautiously.

He began carefully where the customers had been led to expect a furious rush and won the first round by a narrow plurality on the score which he ran up with his left jab. He continued to outjab Schmeling throughout the fight, as Schmeling was fighting out of a crouch, from which it was laborious work to loose a jab.

Schmeling made the pace in the first round, blocking a couple of hard left hooks to the head as he tumbled into close quarters in a faint imitation of the Johnny Risko style which bothered Sharkey so badly that he lost a decision once upon a time.

In the second, Schmeling tried to stand off and outmaneuver Sharkey, which was a mistaken policy, for Sharkey was the better boxer and he was smacking Max with clean, punishing punches.

Max Makes Desperate Stand.

Starting the third Schmeling shot a left and right to the head coming out of his crouch but Sharkey soon brought up two walloping rights to the chin that shook the German and set his mouth agape. Max tottered into a clinch and backed across the ring. Like lightning, Sharkey's right uppercut took Max flush under the chin before he could steady himself and he reeled back toward the ropes with Sharkey after him. On the ropes he took another hard right uppercut under the chin and Max made a fighter's stand with a desperate left hook on the jaw. This set Sharkey back for a little meditation and his chance passed a second later when the bell rang.

There have been only three important heavyweight prize fights since last Christmas and all of them were marred by claims of foul. Otto Von Porat fouled Fainting Philip Scott in the Garden ring last December with $90,000 worth of trade on hand. Sharkey fouled Scott in Miami two months later with a gate of $190,000 but won nevertheless. Tonight's happening seemed to prove that the foremost prize fighters nowadays can't fight more than four rounds without fouling.

Waive Rule Docking Fighter.

There is a rule on the books of the New York prize fight commission forfeiting a prize fighter's money in proportion to the rounds remaining unfought when he delivers a foul; and according to this Sharkey would be docked about $148,000 of his money, amounting roughly to $185,000, receiving pay only for the rounds fairly fought.

This would reduce his honorarium to about $37,000, but it appears that the prize fight commissioners made a secret decision to waive their own rule in this prize fight because it involved so much money.

The New York milk fund gave this evening's entertainment.

The patrons raised no protest, seeming not to dispute the decision nor to mind being cheated out of a clean decision. Sharkey undoubtedly will be back to fight for the championship. His reputation can do him no harm, for the prize fight commissioners are tolerant in an erratic way.

Moreover, Sharkey gave Schmeling a hearty pounding before the foul, and, finally, this foul seemed to be unintentional.

Schmeling's Record Brief.

Schmeling qualified for the championship match on the most meager record that any contender for the title ever bore into the ring. Only three yars ago he was knocked out by Gypsy Daniels, a wandering heavyweight from Wales, in a bout fought in Germany, and his only two noteworthy victims were Johnny Risko and Paulino Uzcudun. About a year ago he fell into a political error, discharging his original manager, one Arthur Bulow, a German, and engaging Joey Jacobs, a diminutive Hebrew from the Hell's Kitchen neighborhood of New York City. He had been warned by loving friends that in order to enjoy the most liberal opportunities in the jurisdiction of the New York prize commission he should engage the commission's favorite prize fight manager, James J. Johnston, and soon after he allied himself to Mr. Jacobs he found himself involved in serious political troubles.

So Max fled to exile in Germany, barely eluding a firing squad at the dock as he left. He was still a refugee in Berlin and the Garden firm was waiting for some turn of events to make him again available when the milk fund leaders decided that Schmeling would be a good attraction for their annual show.

By suave argument they appealed to the prizefight commission's sense of justice and fair play, not failing to point out that the milk fund was a very worthy cause. Prizefight commissioners are politicians, and presently the commission not only voted to let Max return, but also decided to call the prizefight a heavyweight championship bout,

Fans Find Best Seats 14 Rows from Ringside

New York, June 12.—(AP)—The customers were the first to get a "long count" at the Jack Sharkey-Max Schmeling bout. The first of the so-called "ringside seats" were exactly 14 rows from the ring.

Four rows were devoted to the "working press" and ten other rows were given over to "patrons," including some of the best minds in attendance.

The "ringside seats" extended far into the outfield. There was a suspicion that fast running would give a home run, inside the park, on a ball hit to the spot occupied by the ringside seat farthest removed from the ring.

David Belasco, in his well known somber clothing, suggesting the clergy rather than the stage, was the first patron to take a seat in the select circle.

As the sun dropped behind the big triple deck grand stand and removed itself from competition with the glaring flood lights over the ring, amateur weather prophets sniffed the air and said there would be no rain. The wind, they declared, was from the wrong direction.

The bleachers filled early in the evening. The right field seats, occupied during baseball games by an enthusiastic crowd to whom Babe Ruth is the only major league player, was first to hang out an S. R. O. sign, followed by capacity crowds in dead center and left center.

The ring was placed near second base between the pivot station and the pitchers' mound. Groundkeepers of the big baseball plant had taken steps as far as possible to protect their beloved turf, but watched with apprehension as the thousands trampled across the infield.

Friedrich von Prittwitz und Gaffron, German ambassador to the United States, and Charles Francis Adams, secretary of the navy, were present as guests of James J. Walker, mayor of New York.

James J. Corbett was the first former heavyweight champion to put in an appearance at the ringside, occupying a seat several rows from the ringside, but evidently prepared to move closer when events became more interesting.

Gene Tunney, retired champion, with Mrs. Tunney, had good seats, far from the 26th row where the ex-heavyweight king was reported assigned. The last champion of record was in position to see everything.

Baseball was well represented. Manager John J. McGraw and most of the Giants were on hand. Dan Howley led a substantial delegation of his Cincinnati Reds, while the league leading Brooklyn Robins were out in force. A few of the champion Chicago Cubs slipped over from Philadelphia to be in on the crowning of a new heavyweight champion.

Four referees came to the stadium, but none knew which would be called upon to act as the third man in the ring in the titular bout. The four were Jim Crowley, Patsy Haley, Jack Denning and Arthur Donovan. Six judges also appeared, with the choice for the main bout to fall on two. James A. Farley, chairman of the New York state athletic commission, addressed the officials in a body before the preliminaries started, stressing the importance of the championship battle and urging the unidentified man to be fully aware of his responsibilities.

Most of the customers came in with coats on their arms. They were not needed and did double duty, serving as cushions.

Schmeling Joins Heavyweight Champions' Roll

MAX SCHMELING added his name to the roster of heavyweight champions last night. The list follows:

Paddy Ryan, 1880-'82.
John L. Sullivan, 1882-'92.
James J. Corbett, 1892-'97.
Robert Fitzsimmons, 1897-'99.
*James J. Jeffries, 1899-1905.
Marvin Hart, 1905-'06.
Tommy Burns, 1906-'08.
Jack Johnson, 1908-'15.
Jess Willard, 1915-'19.
Jack Dempsey, 1919-'26.
†Gene Tunney, 1926-'28.
Max Schmeling, 1930.

*Jeffries retired in 1905. He refereed a bout between Marvin Hart and Jack Root. Hart won and Jeffries turned the title over to him. Jeffries returned to the ring to fight Jack Johnson. He was beaten in fifteen rounds at Reno, Nev., on July 4, 1910.

†Tunney retired undefeated in 1928.

Jack Says He Didn't Know He Hit Low

New York, June 12.—[Special.]—Jack Sharkey said after the fight tonight that he did not know he hit low.

"Schmeling came in high and was in the air when I landed a body blow," he said. "Then he went down claiming foul.

"I certainly didn't aim to hit low and it wouldn't have been low if Schmeling had not been coming in and jumping in the air."

Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, made this statement:

"I think Schmeling quit. The whole thing was a plan of Schmeling's handlers. Sharkey hit Schmeling one body blow in the third round and Schmeling's handlers complained that it was low. When Schmeling was hit he came in high and was in the air when the blow landed. It was part of their plan.

"Sharkey was fouled eleven times by Dempsey, but nothing was said of it," Buckley added.

German Boxing Fans Lose Fight on Foul—by Radio

BERLIN, June 12. — (AP) — Radio broadcasting of the Sharkey-Schmeling fight turned out to be a series of fouls in Germany.

For the first, atmospheric conditions wrecked the broadcasting on short waves from the United States, and the fans had to be content with a fragmentary report relayed by local announcers. For the second, thousands of listeners in cafés were disqualified between the first and second rounds for listening after the police closing hour, and were forced to leave without hearing the result.

A number of places continued to bootleg the radio returns after dimming their lights, however, so that some of the listeners heard the story of how Schmeling gained the decision on a foul.

BEST MAN, 15-1, WINS AQUEDUCT PURSE BY HEAD

Burke Rides Daring Race to Beat Black Watch.

New York, June 12.—[Special.]—The Wheatley stable's Best Man, running over his home track at Aqueduct today, captured the Rockaway claiming stakes and the purse of $4,250, paying the long odds of 15 to 1. It was another close finish with a head deciding the issue after Jimmy Burke had lanced Best Man along the fence. Black Watch ran second, beating On Tap by two lengths.

Jimmy Burke must be given a good deal of credit for Best Man's victory and to land it he must have had his courage in one hand and a rabbit's foot in the other. The field was a big one, 12 contesting the issue, and Burke found hole after hole along the rail. Without hesitating he shot Best Man into one gap after another and just at the end found clear sailing without interference to edge out all the others.

There was a lot of speed in the race and the watches caught the winner in only 1:19, a second and three-fifths behind the track record.

BROKERS' LOANS TRUE TO FORM; SHOW DECLINE

Total Falls Back 103 Millions.

BY O. A. MATHER.

With the stock market groggy from successive wallops on the chin in the last week, a considerable decline in speculative credit was expected. The brokers' loan report issued by the federal reserve board yesterday showed a decrease of $103,000,000, which more than nullified the increase of $79,000,000 in the preceding week.

The decline was not as large as had been expected in Wall and La Salle streets in view of the extent of the recession in stock prices. Therefore, it suggested that a good part of the market decline was accomplished by short selling, which doesn't make the demands on credit that buying does. But short selling has to be covered sooner or later, which also suggest prospective rallies.

Lack of demand for credit for commercial purposes resulted in the interior banks expanding their stock market loans by $58,000,000 in spite of the relatively low 3 per cent call loan rate. This influx enabled the New York banks to reduce their own loans by $112,000,000. Other lenders, including corporations, withdrew $49,000,000.

Interior Loans Lessen.

Brokers' loans now total $3,998,000,000, which is $1,286,000,000 less than a year ago. The New York banks are lending $978,000,000 more than a year ago, but interior banks and other lenders are furnishing, respectively, $498,000,000 and $1,765,000,000 less than a year ago.

Neither the New York Federal Reserve bank nor the Bank of England made any change in their 3 per cent discount rates.

Slackening demand for commercial credit, which naturally attends current quiet business and industrial conditions, also is shown in the weekly statement of the federal reserve system. Borrowings of the member banks declined $29,244,000 to a total of $210,484,000. The reserve banks reduced their holdings of bankers' acceptances by $41,068,000, but increased their government securities by $34,873,000. These operations continued to maintain easy money rates.

Deposits receded $1,322,000, and note circulation dropped $10,318,000. Gold and total reserves expanded $18,917,000 and $18,915,000, respectively, and the ratio of reserves to liabilities strengthened to 83 per cent, compared with 82.2 per cent last week.

Deposits Expand.

The report of the New York reserve bank showed a decline of $20,429,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing the total to $28,141,000. The New York City banks repaid $22,000,000 they had been borrowing. The reserve bank reduced its holdings of bankers' acceptances by $33,906,000. Deposits expanded $8,966,000. Reserves increased $51,492,000, and the reserve ratio rose to 85.7 per cent, compared with 81.8 per cent a week ago.

The report of the Chicago reserve bank showed a decline of $1,899,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing the total to $16,492,000. There was little change in the reserve bank's holdings of bankers' acceptances. Deposits increased $6,790,000. Reserves declined $4,368,000, and the reserve ratio sagged to 86.9 per cent, compared with 87.5 per cent a week ago.

N. Y. Bank Established by William C. Durant Is Sold

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 12.—Control of the Liberty National Bank and Trust company, established in 1923 by William C. Durant, has passed to Herbert J. Yates, president of Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., and associates, it was learned today. When interviewed, Yates confirmed the purchase and outlined his plans for the bank's future. He stated that to the best of his knowledge the Durant interests were no longer stockholders in the institution. The Liberty National Bank and Trust company, whose resources exceed $20,000,000, operates three offices.

An Under-Priced Investment

Woods Brothers Corporation

Common stock of WOODS BROTHERS CORPORATION, largest inland waterways engineers in the country, is selling at a little over 6 times last year's earnings . . . yet in the first five months of 1930 the company had contracted for more business than in all of 1929! And the last half-year is usually the best. For a sound and distinctly under-priced investment we can recommend this stock for purchase now—

Advance Plan to Boost City as Insurance Center

BY SCRUTATOR.

Chicago, considered as a financial center, has been advancing in many lines. Banking facilities are bigger and better than they were in years past, the growth of the stock exchanges has been marked, and the futures markets in commodities at least hold in general their old time supremacy.

It is the insurance arm that has always been and seemingly continues to be the weakest part of the financial structure of the city. Residents of Illinois pay premiums on more than 8 per cent of all the life insurance, exceeding 100 billion dollars total, in the country. Companies with home offices in the state are estimated to have only 1½ per cent of the country's life insurance money to invest. New York, on the contrary, handles about 40 per cent.

Negotiable Assets.

One great New York concern has one-sixth of all the insurance in force, with 300 companies. Its admitted assets exceed three billion dollars. The importance of companies like this one may be seen when it is known that the assets of all the life insurance companies represent more than 3.5 and possibly exceed 4 per cent of the total wealth of the United States.

This aggregation of assets is in liquid, negotiable form. It is probably true that in investing it the insurance executives get as broad a distribution territorially as they can, and that a reasonable part of the funds come back. It is just as probable that insurance companies on the local ground invest a larger proportion of their funds at home.

Life insurance is only one branch of the business of equalizing risks. The casualty companies and casualty departments of concerns doing general insuring get nearly seventy-two millions a year in Illinois premiums. Less than thirteen millions of this goes to Illinois companies. Approximately ten million dollars is received by companies chartered in Canada, Great Britain, and Switzerland. Forty-nine millions is collected by agencies representing the stock and mutual companies of other states. The largest premium intake by a company outside Illinois is about three times that of the largest of the state's own.

Explain Neglect.

There is no territorial reason and not a great deal in the laws to account for the lack of big insurance companies in Chicago. Some of the local companies are doing quite well. Insurance men explain that there are not more here because the Chicago area in the past has always had investors who preferred to put their funds in directly productive enterprises, where the returns were quicker and speculative increases more clearly immediate.

It has been suggested that the most feasible way to increase the importance of Chicago as an insurance center is to form investment trusts to buy insurance stocks, to obtain control of good small ones when possible and to move their offices here, finally combining them into big units. This would require investors who are community minded and willing to wait for a considerable time before they can get the returns their money would ordinarily bring in commercial or industrial lines.

First Quarter Income Is Lower for Int. Tel. & Tel.

New York, June 12.—(AP)—The International Telephone and Telegraph company today reported first quarter net income of $3,353,738, as compared with $4,187,031 in the corresponding period of 1929. The 1930 income represents a return of 57 cents a common share, as compared with 84 cents a share on a smaller capitalization in the first quarter of last year. The company reported the loss in earnings was due almost entirely to decreases in the net income of the Postal Telegraph, Commercial Cables and All America Cables, subsidiary companies.

Chicago Stock Prices Hold Up Well Under Pressure

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Stocks bore the weight of liquidation with better grace yesterday. The close on the Chicago exchange found the list moderately lower, but in contrast with Wednesday there was a fair sprinkling of gains.

On early trades many issues broke to new lows, and while the recovery which came late in the session was not as sharp as the decline, it was a heartening spectacle to most speculators.

Ranking the list in volume of trading Middle West Utilities was pushed back to 29 on early dealings, and led the way in the recovery to finish a fraction higher, above 30.

On $2 Annual Basis.

A flurry of activity in Lincoln Printing greeted the news of an increase in the dividend rate. The issue moved ahead smartly on the heaviest trading it has experienced in weeks, but the gain was completely wiped out as the effect of the announcement wore off. Directors of the company declared a quarterly dividend of 50c, placing the stock on a $2 annual basis, as compared with the former rate of $1.80. President Washington Flexner, in making the announcement, stated that earnings of the printing company for the first four months of 1930 were well ahead of the corresponding period of 1929.

As a group the utility shares, which always account for a good portion of the sales on the exchange, made the best showing of resistance. Missouri Kansas Pipe Line moved within an extremely narrow price range and finished the day unchanged. Transactions in the stock exceeded 20,000 shares. Central and South West retrieved its early loss and closed over a point higher. Cities Service was comparatively steady and was down less than a point at the close.

Utility Reports Income.

Among the industrials Swift International was strong most of the day and claimed one of the best gains. National Standard on light trade lost 2½, while lesser reverses were suffered by Electric Household and General Theatres.

Net income of the Utilities Power and Light corporation and subsidiaries for the twelve months ended March 31 amounted to $8,031,294, the company reported yesterday. This compared with $4,964,108 in the preceding twelve months.

UNION GULF CORP. TO START NEW PIPE LINE

Pittsburgh, June 12.—(AP)—Construction of a new pipe line from eastern Oklahoma to Pittsburgh and the erection of refineries at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, and Toledo will be started at once by the Union Gulf corporation, a subsidiary of the Gulf Oil Corporation of Pennsylvania, it was announced here tonight.

W. L. MELLON.

The Union Gulf corporation recently was organized, it was said by officials, to secure substantial operating economies for and widen the marketing facilities of the Gulf Oil corporation, which will operate and manage it.

"The plan of the Union Gulf corporation," W. L. Mellon, president of Gulf Oil, said tonight, "is considered by the directors of the Gulf Oil corporation to be the most convenient and economical means to enable Gulf Oil to utilize fully the large production of its subsidiaries in the mid-continent, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Texas fields in directly supplying the company's present marketing facilities and to promote expansion.

"In view of existing freight rates," Mellon said, "this should mean a very substantial saving over the Gulf corporation's present method of shipping refined products by rail from its present refineries into the territory east of the Mississippi river."

Spain Shows Concern Over Dropping Peseta

MADRID, June 12.—(AP)—Banking and government circles today expressed great concern over the continued drop in value of the peseta. The peseta today fluctuated between 8.50 and 8.52 to the dollar and was quoted at 41.28 to the pound in banking circles. This was one of the lowest marks in recent years. Bankers believe that political disturbances should not seriously affect the money situation, which the government is studying closely.

Mickelberry's Acquires Mama Cookie Bakeries

Acquisition of the Mama Cookie Bakeries, Inc., as the first step in the expansion of Mickelberry's Food Products company, was announced yesterday by E. J. Engel, president of the latter concern. The baking company operates in ten cities of the eastern and central states, with headquarters in Chicago. Sales of the company in its last fiscal year ended April 30 exceeded $1,250,000. Management of the firm will not be changed, Mr. Engel said.

BY FRED HARVEY.

New York, June 12.—The bears continued to bang the big drum on the stock exchange today.

Shares of all descriptions were pressed for sale and, although a series of rallies of varying scope and vigor occurred to interrupt the decline, considerably more than 100 new lows for the year were registered at one time.

While the close found most of the active list off from 1 to 3 points and a generous scattering of the more vulnerable specialties even more sharply depressed, the constructive element was able to read many reasons for being cheerful into the day's account.

Pivotals Stand Up.

For one thing most of the pivotals had stood up well—thanks to continued heavy scale support from financial interests with the market's welfare at heart. Few of them suffered more than fractional net losses and some of them even managed to emerge on the upside.

Then, it was persistently noticeable that the biggest turnover developed when values were on the rise. This was popularly interpreted as showing that the bears were losing courage, moreover, the speculative community was much less inclined to credit the day's crop of rumors—happily growing less—or to become disturbed over them.

Finally, there was a new decline in money rates, the call figure dropping to 2½ per cent and a welcome ab-

The Kansas Power and Light Company

First Mortgage Gold Bonds

Series B 5%, Due May 1, 1957

Price 96 and Interest, Yielding 5.28%

The Company agrees to pay interest without deduction for any normal Federal income tax up to 2% and to reimburse the holders of these bonds, upon application within 60 days after payment, for the California personal property taxes not exceeding 4 mills per $1.00 per annum

The following information is taken from official sources:

The Company owns and operates electric light and power, gas, ice, heating and street railway properties in northeastern Kansas. The territory served includes the cities of Topeka, the capital of the State, and Atchison, and embraces one of the most important industrial and agricultural sections of the State. The 65 communities served with electric light and power have a population in excess of 119,000.

As officially reported for the year ended April 30, 1930, gross earnings were $3,420,409; net earnings were $1,372,889, or about 2.80 times the annual interest of $490,435 on the total mortgage bonds to be outstanding, including this issue. About 84% of the net earnings is derived from electric power and light.

The First Mortgage Bonds, now outstanding, are secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first mortgage (dated May 1, 1925) on important parts of the Company's property and by a mortgage upon all the remaining property subject only to $2,317,700 of 5% divisional underlying bonds due 1930 to 1935 (to be reduced as a result of this financing to $1,788,700). These divisional underlying bonds were outstanding against the Topeka and Atchison properties at the time of their acquisition in 1927. The present issue of bonds will be likewise secured. The Company is controlled through ownership of all its common stock by Illinois Power and Light Corporation.

We recommend these bonds for investment and shall be pleased to send a circular describing the issue in detail.

One way to "Beat the Market"

THOUSANDS of successful investors know that there is one way to beat the stock market. The formula is a simple one:

—Buy seasoned dividend-paying stocks of the highest grade, in established, successful companies operating in essential industries.

—Diversify the investment among at least 25 or 30 such companies.

—Own the stocks outright, hold them as permanent investments and ignore current fluctuations.

Most investors find this can best be done through purchase of shares in a fixed investment trust. Super-Corporations of America Trust Shares, for example, are certificates of participating ownership in the stocks of 30 of the country's largest, strongest and most successful corporations.

The 30 underlying stocks are all listed on the New York Stock Exchange where they enjoy broad and active markets. They include such market leaders as The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, American Telephone & Telegraph Company, General Electric Company, Standard Oil Company (New Jersey).

In addition to ready marketability, safety, wide diversification and convenience, the trust shares offer a liberal return and attractive possibilities of profit through appreciation in market value over a period of years.

Super-Corporations of America Trust Shares are issued in denominations of 5, 10, 25, 50, 100, 500, 1000 and 2000 trust shares. Price at market—now about $10 per share.

Let us send you our new free booklet "As Sound As the Future of America" which tells you the entire story. No obligation is involved. Write today and specify booklet No. C.T-42.

GERMAN BOND MAKES DEBUT IN LISTED MARKET

New York, June 12.—(AP)—The German government international 5½ per cent bond made its debut in the dealings on the New York Stock exchange today and was hailed a great success.

The appearance of the bond on a when issued basis simultaneously with the offering of the $98,250,000 American portion of the $300,000,000 German loan was easily the feature of the day's developments in the listed bond market. Bond men were elated, as considerable trepidation has been evidenced as to the reception it would be accorded. The German bond sold as high as 91¼ and closed at 90⅝, compared with the offering price of 90.

The competition of the German issue depressed other bonds in the foreign group and the domestic list was irregular at the close. Trading, however, was in a broad list. The sales for the day maintained the level of the last two days.

Berlin Is Apathetic.

BERLIN, June 12.—(AP)—Investors today manifested little interest in the Young loan at banks where subscriptions were opened. Some large industrial corporations were reported to have taken big blocks, but the general public is indifferent.

It was pointed out that the terms did not attract German investors and that, moreover, many of the country banks only today received full particulars regarding the subscriptions. That the full German share of the loan of $8,200,000 ultimately would be covered was predicted confidently in financial circles.

McFadden Aims Resolution at German Loan Issue

Washington, D. C., June 12.—(AP)—In an effort to prevent the disposal in this country of German reparation bonds issued under the Young plan, Chairman McFadden of the house banking committee today introduced a resolution to prohibit national, federal reserve and member banks from purchasing the securities.

"I am endeavoring to keep the United States and its federal reserve banking system out of involvement in reparation payments," McFadden said in a statement. "This action is directly in line with the statement issued by the state department on May 16, 1929, when it forbade any participation in the Bank of International Settlements either directly or indirectly and forbade the officers of the federal reserve banks from acting as officers or directors of the world bank."

Approve Bill to Assist Land Bank Settlement

Washington, D. C., June 12.—(AP)—The house banking committee today approved the MacFadden bill to amend the federal farm loan act to provide for the taking over of defunct joint stock land banks by another joint stock land bank "within the states in which they are authorized to make loans at the time of their liquidation." This measure will be applicable to the defunct joint stock land banks at Kansas City, and will assist in a settlement of the differences between the bondholders and the stockholders of that bank. It will permit the reorganization of the bank in Kansas City and allow it to resume functioning.

Automatic Refrigeration

13,741 automatic refrigerators were recently sold by the Associated System in six weeks, the largest number ever sold by a utility system in a single campaign.

ASSOCIATED SYSTEM electric lines and gas mains now carry convenient automatic refrigeration to 13,741 additional homes. Employees sold this number of refrigerators, 230 carloads, to customers during a recent six weeks' campaign—more than twice as many as were sold by the Associated System all last year—more than were sold in the entire United States in 1922.

These 13,741 customers now have greater health protection, greater home comfort, greater convenience. Convenience is a watchword in the modern home. Electricity and gas supply it. Year by year, the use of electricity and gas consuming appliances increases. During 1929 customers purchased appliances with a value of $6,016,535 from the Associated System.

1930 purchases were estimated at $8,221,000. $5,000,000 worth have already been purchased and the peak season is yet to come. This rapid increase in the use of appliances assures a future of greater convenience for customers and continued growth for the Associated Gas and Electric System, serving over 1,368,000 customers.

For the sake of health, comfort, and convenience neither your home nor your food stores can afford to be without some means of modern refrigeration.

Top yesterday, $12.25; average, $11.25.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 1,000 cattle, 14,000 hogs, and 8,000 sheep.

In spite of small receipts of hogs, trading yesterday continued slow and uneven, with the close steady to 10c lower than the general selling the previous day. The extreme top was unchanged at $10.15, while the general average moved down 5c more at $9.80, the larger proportion of packing sows helping to lower average costs of droves.

Medium and weighty butchers were scarce and held firm practically all day.

Smaller houses bought with more freedom and some of the 6,000 in the pens at the close were held off the market following the release of an advance estimate of only 14,000 for today.

Future Hogs in Demand.

Contracts for hogs for July, August and September delivery sold freely at steady to 10c lower prices yesterday, with buying centering on light weights soon after the opening. Only one four day period is credited with a higher number of sales since the market for futures was established last March.

Thirty-seven carloads sold during the first four days of the week. July and August light weights sold at $10.35 yesterday. September light brought $10.25 and September mediums closed at $10.30.

Yesterday's short supply of 6,000 cattle sold slowly at the recent sharp decline. Some classes of butcher stock had to be peddled on a "catch as catch can" basis soon after a top heavy opening and many transactions showed additional losses toward the finish.

Well finished weighty beeves were absent. With the general quality poorer than usual for Thursday, the bulk of sales held at $9.75@11.00, against $10.50@12.50 the previous Thursday. Good 1,331 lb steers topped the market at $12.25. Calves slumped 50c more. Stockers and feeders were scarce, but ruled weak to lower.

Idaho Lambs Are $12.35.

Native lambs were sorted closely at 25c decline, while westerns held firm on yesterday's session. Most Idaho rangers sold at $12.25, with one deck to a city butcher at $12.35. Only closely sorted natives brought $11.50@12.00, with a few "hand picked" at $12.25.

Culls sold at $7.00@8.00 and some of the poorest "throw outs" were down to $5.00@6.00. Aged sheep weakened again, only ewes of outstanding quality being eligible to more than $3.75.

Yearlings were steady to 25c lower, a band of 85 lb averages holding the top steady at $10.00. Feeding lambs were scarce and steady.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 1,000 cattle, 14,000 hogs and 8,000 sheep, against 2,157 cattle, 22,047 hogs and 12,518 sheep on the previous Friday and 1,768 cattle, 21,845 hogs and 8,374 sheep a year ago.

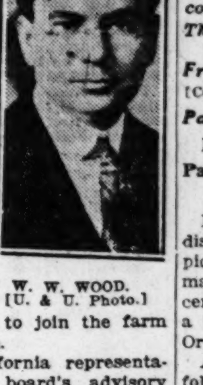
LIVE STOCK MEN FAIL TO AGREE ON PROGRAM

A stockholders' meeting of the National Live Stock Marketing association, formed recently under federal farm board direction, is set for July 14 in Chicago, directors announced yesterday. A two day session of leaders in twenty-six live stock producers' organizations from the middle west and southwest closed without agreement as to type of organization to be developed. Farmers' Union officials again refused to join the farm board's organization.



W. W. WOOD.

Roy Hagen, California representative on the farm board's advisory committee for live stock, resigned, also withdrawing from the marketing association. E. F. Forbes, president of the Western Cattle Marketing association, was recommended to succeed him.

W. W. Wood, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers, Chicago, was recommended to replace Thomas E. Wilson, packer, on the farm board's advisory committee. Wilson asked to be relieved because of other duties.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Bondholders' Doubts.

Although confidence in the ability and the will to pay full interest on St. Paul adjustment bonds is expressed in quarters close to the road's management, bondholders seem to have serious doubts. Their skepticism is being expressed in new low prices daily on the bonds, which now offer a current yield of better than 9 per cent.

Driver-Harris Recession.

Driver-Harris is one of the specialties which have reflected the activities of the professional bear element. The stock has receded to a level where it is about 30 points under its peak for the year, but still well above the low price of 41. In 1929 the corporation reported net income of $953,507, equivalent to $9.61 a share. Estimates for 1930 range anywhere from $9 to $15 a share.

Transportation.

Naturally a good portion of the selling of Transportation has been of western origin. The stock is showing signs of organized support, however, and market sponsors are reported to be planning a campaign against the bears.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, June 12.—(AP)—There was no change in raw sugar prices today. Sales reported included 50,000 bags of Porto Rican concluded the previous night and 40,000 bags of Porto Rican and 56,000 bags of Philippines today, all at the 3.27c delivered basis. Early declines to new low records for the season in raw sugar futures as a result of liquidation and selling by tired longs were recovered in the later trading on covering and trade buying, with the market closing net unchanged to 6 points higher. Sales for the day aggregated 28,200 tons.

Closing prices: No. 1 July, 1.35c; September, 1.44c; December, 1.54c; January, 1.57c; March, 1.63c; May, 1.70c; ... September, 3.30c; December, 3.44c.

The refined market was unchanged at 4.50c for fine granulated.

Pathe Exchange.

Please let me know something about Pathe Exchange and its standing.
S. J.

Pathe Exchange, Inc., produces and distributes news reels, short comedy pictures, and features. The company manufactures sound pictures under license from Radio corporation, and has a booking contract with Radio-Keith-Orpheum.

Although prior to 1926 earnings had followed an upward trend, operations since that time have not been satisfactory.

The consolidated income account for 1929 showed net profit of $501,992, but this was after almost a million dollars had been transferred from special reserves "to absorb excess costs of sales over normal costs." For 1928 net profit was $187,436, after $2,542,128 had been transferred from special reserves. In 1927 a deficit of $2,151,882 had been reported after transferring $1,150,000 from reserves.

At the close of last year current assets of $6,960,461 and current liabilities of $1,552,503 were indicated. This would leave a net working capital of $5,407,958, against $4,970,349 at the close of 1928.

In April stockholders were informed that net income of the company, after all charges, for January and February, 1930, had aggregated around $60,000.

No dividends have been reported on the 8 per cent cumulative preferred stock since December, 1927.

Both the preferred and the class "A" preference stocks are highly speculative. The common is a mere speculation.

Peru-Para Rubber.

What information could you give me about the Peru-Para Rubber company? I have a few shares in their company. Miss C. E.

Peru-Para Rubber company built a road in Peru some years before 1915, for which the government was to give it a large concession of rubber lands.

It appeared that a tract of 288,000 acres had been earned, but to July, 1915, the government had delayed or avoided giving title.

No further information on this company is available.

In June, 1923, stock of Peru-Para Rubber company [par $10] was quoted at a bid price of 8 cents.

There have been no later quotations. Apparently it has no market now.

Michigan Gas and Electric.

Would you kindly give me your opinion of Michigan Gas and Electric company preferred? S. S. J.

Michigan Gas and Electric company preferred is medium grade and somewhat speculative.

COTTON CONSUMPTION.

World consumption of American cotton during April totaled 1,065,000 bales, the New York Stock Exchange reports, against 1,063,000 during March, 1,288,000 bales in April of 1929, and 1,161,000 bales in April of 1928.

sence of bank failures or dividend omissions from the day's news budget.

Late Rally Folds Up.

Disappointment over Senator Reed's announced decision to vote in favor of the tariff was popularly credited with the collapse of a rally which the bulls got going in the last hour of trading, although such a diagnosis was obviously conjectural, other rallies started earlier in the session had folded up in the selfsame manner before the Reed decision was made known.

The day was not without its quota of downright bearish news developments, however. Continued uncertainty over the outcome of the tariff bill weakening commodity prices and a new cut in the price of copper metal were all factors.

Liquidations reached its peak around noon, following a forenoon of confused see-saw price movements. After the turn of the day it looked for a time as though a real advance were in the making, but the selling was renewed and the temporary gains wiped out as they had been several times previously during the morning.

Prices Ease Off.

After the collapse of the final rally in the last hour prices continued to ease off gently till the sounding of the gong. However the final prices in most instances were somewhat above the lows of the day, and in isolated instances represented rather substantial recoveries.

U. S. Steel common was the storm-center of the fight between the opposing factions, its weakness washing ground from under the other stocks and its rallies helping to bolster prices. The leader opened at 162½, off one. It rallied a little, but dropped to 161 and worked back to 165. It closed at 163, off ½ point on the day. General Electric closed at 73¾, off ¼; Radio at 41, off ⅞; Consolidated Gas at 120¼, off ¼; Johns-Manville at 96⅝, up 1⅝; and Westinghouse at 152, off 4⅝.

Among the outsanding losers were American Machine and Foundry, off 10; U. S. Freight, off 7⅞; Motor Products and American Seating, off 6 each; People's Drugstore, Celotex preferred and Diamond Match, off 5 each, and People's Gas, off 5 points.

Sales amounted to 3,901,250 shares, as compared with 4,477,390 on Wednesday.

WHEAT PRICES RALLY FROM INSIDE LEVEL

Canadian Rains Lead to General Selling.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Partial breaking of the prolonged drought in the Canadian northwest, 31 out of 66 reporting points receiving moisture, led to general selling of wheat futures yesterday in all markets.

Demand was lacking until prices had dropped around 2c, with July in Chicago selling off to $1.02¼, the lowest figure since May 10 and within 1⅝c of the lowest price of the season. Buying on resting orders and by holders of bids brought about a rally of 1c from the inside with the close at net losses of 1⅜@1¾c, with July $1.03@1.03⅛, and September $1.06@1.06⅛ at the last. Winnipeg was heavy throughout the day and closed 2⅛c lower.

An analysis of the official reports on the rains in Canada showed only 3 points had received as much as .90 inch, but there were many sections where ¼ to ½ inch fell, and will be of considerable benefit. Around 7,000,000 acres in Saskatchewan and Alberta are involved in the dry belt, and part of this territory received moisture over night, while the forecast suggested fair weather in Alberta and some showers in Saskatchewan and Manitoba. North Dakota also had good showers in some sections.

Sentiment Bearish.

Continued weakness in the New York stock market and a drastic decline in nearby deliveries of cotton, combined with the fact that rye sold at a new low for the season and unfavorable economic reports tendsd to have considerable influence on local sentiment, which has become decidedly bearish, and while some operators expressed the belief that the market had probably become oversold as the result of the break of 6⅝c from the high of last week, a majority only expected a rally on the technical position. Rains in the spring wheat area were regarded by some observers as too light to be of material benefit, and a return of dry weather talk was looked for within a few days.

Pressure to sell hard winter wheat abroad and the better weather conditions in the Canadian northwest were given as the reason for a decline of 1⅞@2d in Liverpool. Argentine exports are expected to show a good increase for the week. The seaboard estimated around 750,000 bu wheat sold in all positions for export, largely Manitobas, but included some old and new crop hard winters.

Undertone of the cables from abroad was said to be better, with nearby hard winters being sold under cover. A few lots of new No. 2 hard sold f. o. b. Galveston for first half July shipment at 1¼c over Chicago July price. Domestic demand for cash wheat showed improvement both here and at Minneapolis, mills reporting a better flour business.

Rye Lowest of Season.

Commission houses were on the selling side of corn early due to weakness in wheat, but there was a good class of buying on the break based on an improvement in the shipping demand, and shorts also covered freely, with the finish on a rally with net losses of ⅝c, July being 79⅝@79¾c, and September, 80½@80⅝c. Shipping sales aggregated 130,000 bu and charters were made for 400,000 bu to Georgian Bay and Buffalo. It is understood that No. 2 yellow was offered to the east on the basis, of about Chicago July price.

Weakness in barley at Winnipeg, where the price was off 2⅛c to 38½c, a new low for the season, and equal to around 28c per bu for oats, had a depressing effect on the latter gain with July dropping 1½c to 38¼c, a new low for the season. The finish was ½@1¼c lower with July leading. The latter closed at 38½c and September at 38⅝@38¾c, the nearby future having been at a premium of ½c over the September on Wednesday.

All deliveries of rye sold at a new low on the crop in sympathy with wheat and on an early break of 3c in July at Winnipeg, and the close was at net losses of 2@2¼c with July 57¼@57⅜c, and September 61¾c.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

A majority of wheat traders can see nothing in the general domestic and world's situation to bring about any advance of consequence in the price at the present time. The partial breaking of the Canadian drought removes, temporarily, at least, one of the main bullish influences, and while the market is regarded as likely to rally sharply some time today on the stronger technical position, there is a general feeling that barring untoward developments a much lower level of values will be witnessed ultimately.

July rye sold down to 57¼c yesterday, the lowest figure since trading was inaugurated in 1918. On the basis of the nominal quotation of July price for the cash grain it would make the price the lowest at which the latter has sold since July, 1914, when it was down to 55c. In November, 1900, quotations as low as 44c were made, while in August, 1896, the low was 28c. It is figured that the United States will have an exportable surplus of around 30,000,000 bu for the 1930-'31 season, and with little prospect of a foreign demand, operators generally are bearish, despite the discount of over 22c as compared with corn.

JULY COTTON BREAKS

Liquidation was on in July cotton as the result of the May consumption report showing only 481,000 bales used during the month, compared with 532,000 bales in April and 669,000 bales in May last year. The near-by month in New York was off around 75 points or $3.75 per bale at the extreme low, with brokers who generally act for Japanese interests on the selling side and stop loss orders were caught. Deferred futures dropped sharply but there was a strong rally toward the last and the new crop months recovered the greater part of the loss.

Closing trades were 36 points lower on July in Chicago and 3@6 points lower on the deferred futures. New Orleans July finished 39 points off and New York, 32 points lower, with the deferred deliveries down 2 to 18 points with New York leading. Liverpool closed 13@15 points down. Weather conditions were generally favorable. Prices follow:

PROVISIONS DECLINE

Liquidation by scattered longs is regarded as having started in July lard and while there was fair buying on resting orders, the finish was at the bottom with the various deliveries showing a loss of 2½@10c for the day. Bellies were neglected and closed nominally unchanged. Spot lard in Liverpool was steady. Relative firmness in the hog market had little effect, although the movement in the west was smaller than a week and a year ago. Prices follow:

N. Y. CURB STOCKS FOLLOW TRENDS OF THE BIG BOARD

New York, June 12.—(AP)—Curb stocks fluctuated nervously and indecisively in active trading today. Closing prices were irregularly lower, but losses were largely limited to a point or two. Closing prices were substantially above the lowest levels of the day. Total sales were close to 2,000,000 shares.

The market was highly professional and on the whole, followed the pattern of trading on the big board. Heavy selling appeared in the morning, in continuance of yesterday's liquidation, and scores of shares were depressed to new low levels, but the selling dried up around midday, and irregular recovery was promoted by short covering during the afternoon.

Electric Bond and Share sold off about 4 points, and regained half its loss. American Gas declined 3 points, and regained most of its loss. American Superpower was an active feature, but closed about unchanged. United Light A lost about 2 points. New England Telephone sagged 6 points to 144, the year's low.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Spot butter market was unsettled while fresh eggs were steady to firm. Live heavy hens, steady to 1c lower with freight receipts bringing the best price. Arrivals, 2 cars by freight. Potatoes were shaded to make sales with a light demand. Receipts, 57 cars with 340 cars on team track.

The United Power & Light Corporation (of Kansas)

First Mortgage Twenty Year 5% Gold Bonds

Series B, due February 1, 1947

Price 96½ and Interest, Yielding Over 5.30%

The Company agrees to pay interest without deduction for any normal Federal income tax up to 2%

The following information is taken from official sources:

The Corporation owns and operates long established electric power and light properties in central Kansas, serving more than 35,400 customers in 142 cities and towns, including Hutchinson, Salina, Manhattan, Abilene and Junction City. The Corporation supplies water and ice to some of the larger cities and operates approximately eight miles of street railway. About 85% of the present net earnings is derived from the sale of electric power and light.

As officially reported for the year ended April 30, 1930, gross earnings were $3,220,856; net earnings $1,512,994, or over two and one-half times the annual interest requirements of $587,680 on the $10,643,600 of mortgage bonds, including this issue.

The mortgage securing these bonds is dated January 1, 1924 and provides that all bonds issued thereunder be designated "First Mortgage Bonds." The bonds issued immediately after the creation of the mortgage were secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first mortgage on all of the Corporation's properties then owned. Subsequently properties were acquired at Hutchinson and Salina, Kansas, which were subject to the lien of $2,755,600 bonds of which $212,000 have since been retired. The first mortgage bonds, now outstanding are therefore secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first mortgage on the entire property of the Corporation, subject only to the liens aforesaid and the bonds of the present issue will be likewise secured. The Corporation is controlled by North American Light and Power Company.

We recommend these bonds for investment and shall be pleased to send a circular describing the issue in detail

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Cotton goods continued very quiet today with prices soft. Canton silk was bought quite freely for future delivery and prices were higher and firmer. Japan silk remained steady and unchanged here. It was understood that 90 per cent of the fine goods mills of the country will curtail production nine or ten weeks during the balance of this year, or until the demand for combed cotton goods improves. Burlap remained quiet and weak. Wool goods were being bought very moderately for fall.

HYGRADE LAMP SALES.

Sales of Hygrade Lamp company for the first six months of this year show an increase of 34 per cent over the corresponding 1929 period, according to the firm's radio tube department. Sales of incandescent electric lamps are about 14 per cent ahead of last year.

WILL SHOWS HOW COOK PLANNED TO CLARIFY LAW

Elaborates His Purposes in Michigan Bequest.

New York, June 12.—(AP)—The will of W. W. Cook, late New York attorney, leaving the residue of his estate, estimated by some at $12,000,000, to the law school of the University of Michigan, was filed today.

The law school, of which Mr. Cook was a graduate, will receive all the estate left after the bestowal of $707,500 in specific cash bequests, provided for in the testament. The executor, John T. Creighton, declined to estimate the amount of the residue.

Two Groups of Purposes.

The will provides that the money may be used by the law school at Ann Arbor, Mich., for two groups of purposes.

1. To build a legal research building; to build additional dormitories for students; to build a classroom and administration building on the southwest corner of the law quadrangle at Ann Arbor; to build such other dormitories and buildings as the regents of the university and the trustees of the fund may deem advisable.

Would Clarify Statutes.

2. To establish and maintain in the university one or more departments for one or more of the following purposes:

To formulate and state all branches of the law in a form intelligible to students, lawyers and laymen; to study and advocate orally and by publication improvement in criminal and civil procedure; to pay salaries of research professors and assistants; to pay expenses of such a research department; to publish such books for the law library as the university probably would not publish; to publish and sell at cost Mr. Cook's own book on "American Institutions and Their Preservation"; to pay eminent jurists and lawyers for lectures at Ann Arbor; to increase salaries of professors in the law department, so as to retain the highest class of professors; to establish new professorships and scholarships; to establish a professorship or annual lecturer on American institutions and their preservation; to assist the American Law institute so far as its work is done at the University of Michigan, and to aid the law school in any other way regents and trustees may deem necessary.

97-Acre Estate to Hospital.

His ninety-seven acre estate in Rye, Westchester county, Mr. Cook willed to the Presbyterian hospital, to be used for hospital purposes. He established a $100,000 trust fund for its maintenance.

To relatives and employés he left the following property and moneys: Frank M. Cook, a brother, Hillsdale, Mich., 153 shares of stock in the Hillsdale Savings bank, a $100,000 life trust fund and a half interest in the remaining parts of their parents' estate which had been left to him, the other half to go to his sister, Sarah Belle Frankhauser of Chicago. She also receives a $100,000 life trust, the fund at her death to be divided between her two daughters, Margaret and Katherine.

Before his death Mr. Cook had made gifts to the University of Michigan of approximately $8,000,000.

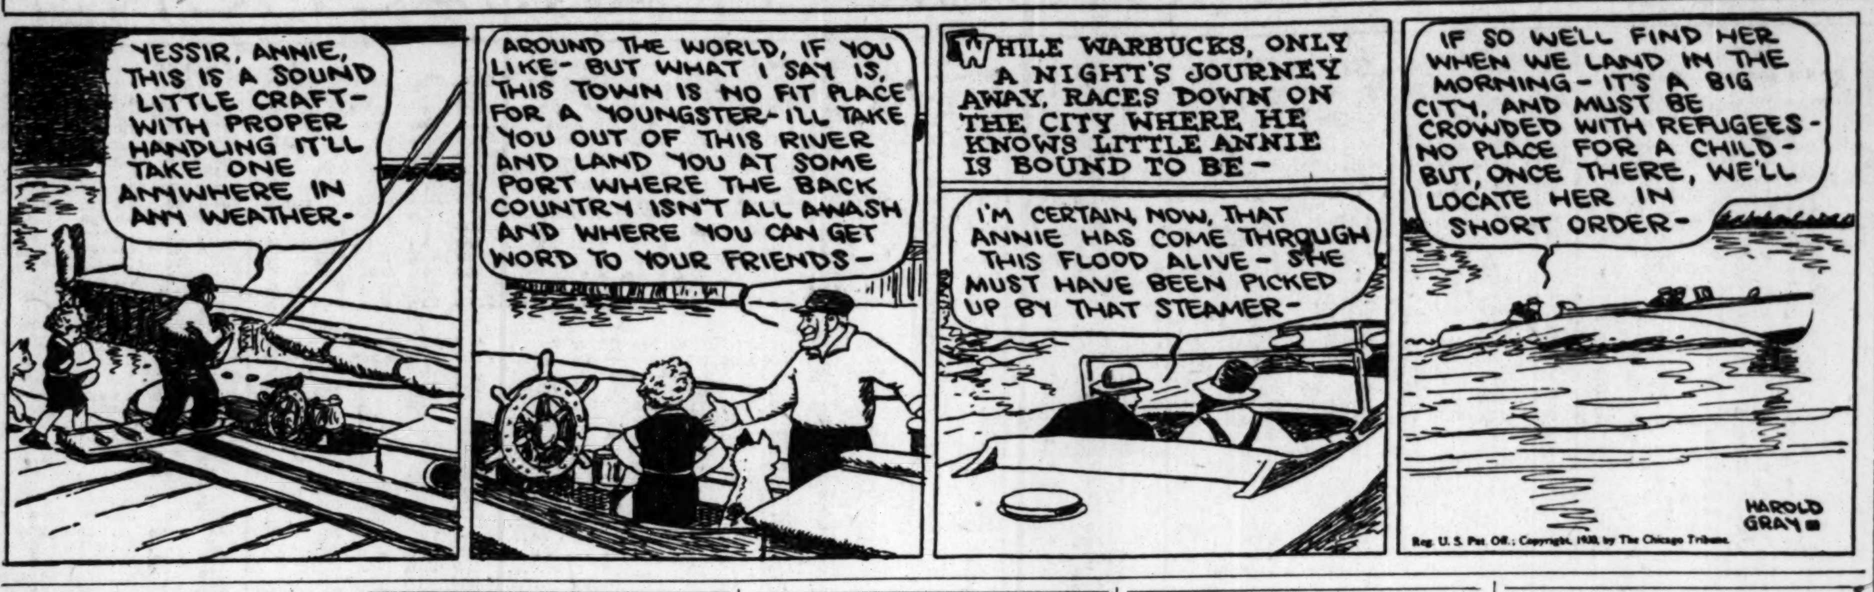
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Almost There



YESSIR, ANNIE, THIS IS A SOUND LITTLE CRAFT— WITH PROPER HANDLING IT'LL TAKE ONE ANYWHERE IN ANY WEATHER—
AROUND THE WORLD, IF YOU LIKE— BUT WHAT I SAY IS, THIS TOWN IS NO FIT PLACE FOR A YOUNGSTER— I'LL TAKE YOU OUT OF THIS RIVER AND LAND YOU AT SOME PORT WHERE THE BACK COUNTRY ISN'T ALL AWASH AND WHERE YOU CAN GET WORD TO YOUR FRIENDS—
WHILE WARBUCKS, ONLY A NIGHT'S JOURNEY AWAY, RACES DOWN ON THE CITY WHERE HE KNOWS LITTLE ANNIE IS BOUND TO BE—
I'M CERTAIN, NOW, THAT ANNIE HAS COME THROUGH THIS FLOOD ALIVE— SHE MUST HAVE BEEN PICKED UP BY THAT STEAMER—
IF SO WE'LL FIND HER WHEN WE LAND IN THE MORNING— IT'S A BIG CITY, AND MUST BE CROWDED WITH REFUGEES— NO PLACE FOR A CHILD— BUT, ONCE THERE, WE'LL LOCATE HER IN SHORT ORDER—
HAROLD GRAY

U. OF C. TO GET $500,000 ESTATE OF MRS. ADLER

The will of Katherine Keith Adler, member of an old Chicago family and distinguished for a novel she had recently published, was filed yesterday before Edward S. Scheffler, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. It provides that her estate of $500,000 eventually go to the University of Chicago to establish a scholarship fund to aid needy students in cultural or medical pursuits.

The will leaves a trust fund of $50,000 for her parents, Edson and Nettie Keith, who now live in Sarasota, Fla. At their deaths the fund to be known as the Edson Keith Sr. scholarship fund is to be created. The balance of the estate is left to her husband, David Adler, Chicago architect, and a nephew, Frederick Keith, with the same provision.

Mrs. Adler was fatally injured May 25 when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband skidded and struck a tree on a rain drenched Normandy road between Le Havre and Paris.

Mrs. Adler, who was 34 years old, was a graduate of the University of Chicago, where she had been prominent in literary work. During her senior year she published an intimate biography of her childhood under the title of "The Girl."

ROSENWALD FUND FINISHES 5,000TH NEGRO SCHOOL

The 5,000th school built by the Julius Rosenwald fund for Negroes in the south has just been completed, the fund headquarters announced yesterday. This is the Greenbrier school near Hampton, Va.

The first rural public school was erected in 1913 near Tuskegee, Ala., a one teacher frame building costing $950, toward which Mr. Rosenwald gave $300. The Negroes supplied in money and labor an equal amount. Since then five thousand schools have been built in 930 counties in fifteen southern states at a total expense of $25,000,000. Of that amount, it was pointed out, the Rosenwald fund gave $4,000,000, the Negroes $4,000,000, individual white friends another million, and the remaining $16,000,000 from public funds of the counties and states.

Mr. Rosenwald expressed his pleasure at the completion of the last school and over the growth of the movement.

"These 5,000 schools are a fine evidence that the south is anxious," said Mr. Rosenwald, "to provide public schools for Negroes as well as whites. My share of this work has been insignificant in comparison with the splendid achievement."

New Kind of Salts Taking Country by Storm

They Revitalize the System — Induce Youthful Activity —Keep Body in Splendid Condition— Free From Fat.

It doesn't take long for Americans to wake up to a good thing—only a few months ago Kruschen Salts were introduced into this country and the welcome news of their superior goodness and swift rejuvenating power traveled so fast that at one time the supply was many carloads behind the demand.

All of which goes to prove that Americans know good salts when they take them and want their friends to benefit also.

Kruschen Salts are taken for their health building value all over the world—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain today.

Kruschen Salts are different from other salts—Kruschen is six salts in one—the very same six salts that nature put into the human body at the beginning of creation and demands you keep them there or your health won't be as good as it should be.

Unlike most salts Kruschen isn't simply a laxative—if that's all you want any old kind of salts with any kind of a label will do—but is that all you want?

When you take Kruschen Salts you not only stimulate your bowels, liver and kidneys to function naturally and perfectly, but you supply every internal organ, gland, nerve and fibre in the body with nature's own revitalizing and rejuvenating minerals.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85c at any drug store in America—take one half a teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—in just a few days indolence changes to activity and life grows brighter.

Before the bottle is empty you'll feel years younger — eyes will brighten—step grow sprightlier—nerves steadier—you'll sleep sound, enjoy your meals and after a hard day's work you'll be ready for wholesome recreation—one million Americans know all this—ask your druggist.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that s going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little appre- ve about the coming visit because she had received, just before sailing, a letter from Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a er and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't w the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris, Catherine little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. ey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she ses to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the ants, and Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine ts on staying in the apartment, as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning herine goes in to see Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells herine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and it is a relief for her to get out of apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey escorts back to the apartment.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner, re she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in apartment, she finds the gallery open for the first time, and she goes in, only to ver a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and maid says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is and believes she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful ence on Mme. Bender. Jeanne denounces Catherine to the invalid.

Geoffrey again takes Catherine out to dinner and she unburdens herself to him. He already put an investigator on the case. When he takes her back to the Bender tment he takes her in his arms as he says good-night. Catherine responds to his . He asks her to marry him, but she wants time to be certain of her feelings. On way to her room she hears Germaine sobbing and goes to her. She retires hurriedly Jeanne's return. Next morning Catherine is violently ill and the doctor is called in. recovering, Catherine goes to visit Geoffrey's sister at Fontainebleau.

Geoffrey discovers that Blom, the mysterious person seen around the Bender apartment, seeking a possible heir to the Bender fortune. Shortly after this discovery Blom's gement to Mme. Baron, a widow, whose maiden name is the family name of Mme. der, is announced.

A fire breaks out in Mme. Bender's apartment early in the morning and she is burned death. Most of the building is saved. Catherine had returned suddenly to Paris the ht before, and when Geoffrey hears of the disaster he rushes to find her. The servants y she came to the apartment. A search of the premises reveals nothing. Geoffrey es to telephone and sights Eduardo hurrying into a taxi. He follows the butler to 's office, then calls his father, and together they call on the commissariat de police, assigns Inspector Bazin to hear their case.

INSTALLMENT LXV.

PREPARED FOR THE WORST.

The interview had been a nightmare. To begin with it had used up luable time, far more than seemed necessary, and as Geoffrey's eyes had atched the hands of the clock on the wall moving inexorably forward the stracted idea had come to him that anything, everything disastrous might n be happening. Moreover, the commissaire, while according him respect- attention, had appeared throughout exasperatingly dense and lacking in agination. Now yet another ordeal faced him. He must go through his ry once more to the inspector, and in anticipation of an additional rebuff steeled himself for the encounter.

However, Bazin proved considerably more human. He listened with keen terest, asked many questions, and showed that in his mind he was already olving a plan of action. Drawing a note book from his pocket, he prepared write down every salient detail of the affair. When he had finished he d aloud briskly:

"American, United States. Age twenty-four. Slender, dark, height one tre sixty-three centimetres. Well dressed, beige coat trimmed with castor, small hat of pale green felt, gown to match. Luggage, one fairly large kin case initialed C. W., and one round patent leather hat box, black. there anything else, monsieur? Why, jewelry, for instance?"

Geoffrey thought for a moment.

"Only a ring, a ruby, oval shaped, set in gold, and—but I am not sure out this—a flat gold necklace worn close round the base of the throat."

"Should you say she had any large amount of money on her?"

"I don't know. I imagine not."

"Now, then, monsieur. At what time did she leave Fontainebleau?"

"Eleven forty-five, which means she must have arrived at the Gare tainebleau-Avron at about twelve-fifty."

The inspector spoke with decision.

"As I see it, monsieur, we have three distinct possibilities to consider. rst, the young lady may have gone elsewhere of her own accord—either cause on reaching the apartment she found herself bolted out, or for some her reason. In either event you will no doubt soon hear from her. My ond surmise is that some fate may have overtaken her on the way, so at she never arrived home. I suppose I need not explain my meaning?"

Geoffrey's rigid face showed that he understood. Already his mind had wn to accounts of persons robbed, murdered, and thrown from moving ains.

"Go on," he said briefly.

"In consideration of this second theory, I shall try at once to get in ch with the chauffeur who drove her from the gare: also find out if any identified bodies of young women have been discovered in the vicinity of e city. Bien! Let us look at our third possibility, which I fear is not more asing than the last. You permit me, monsieur?" and he looked at Geoffrey ith grave hesitancy.

"I know what you are going to say. The servants themselves. . . ."

"Exactly. If your assumption of their guilt is correct, and if the young dy chanced to surprise them in the act, they would naturally have to re- ove her for their own safety. In such a case it is as well to be prepared r the worst."

The listener's eyes were bleak. This was the identical thought which d tortured him since the moment he learned of the disappearance.

"I suppose we may obtain a warrant for their arrest on suspicion?" he rced himself to say.

To his astonishment the inspector shook his head.

"That, monsieur, is exactly what I do not wish to do. Examine the tuation for a moment. Placed under restraint, they will stick to their pre- ared statement, and we shall be obliged to institute a tedious investigation. ven a sufficient amount of rope, they are certain to betray themselves in me way. My idea is this: Granting that it was mademoiselle's shadow u saw on the blind, whatever happened must have taken place between e-fifteen and one-thirty, when the fire engines were summoned—a bare arter of an hour. In so short a time they could not have taken her far. either case they dare not leave the body for long for fear of its being scovered and will take the first opportunity of removing it."

A shudder passed over Geoffrey as he noticed the speaker used the word "body."

"What I propose to do is to surround the building with a cordon of police plain clothes, so that if the suspects attempt to go out their movements ll be watched. If our third surmise is the right one, then before many —probably tonight—one or the other of them will lead us to the missing dy."

"Remember they have an accomplice—the notaire in the Rue d'Amster- am. The butler was with him at noon today."

"That fact is suggestive. Give me the man's address and I will see that also is shadowed."

Geoffrey complied and the inspector wrote it down.

"Am I to understand that you and your father are Mme. Bender's legal ecutors?"

"That is very useful, as in your position of authority you can take ngs in hand and issue certain orders. My advice to you is to suggest that ese servants remain in the apartment till the inquest is over. In all events ey will be required to give evidence. As soon as I have set my plans in eration I shall question them and conduct a thorough search of the build- g, but in such a way as not to arouse any needless alarm." He glanced t his watch. "It is now three o'clock. I will meet you at the apartment at little before four. Meanwhile, monsieur, bear in mind that we have been opting an extreme view of things and that at any moment we may find r fears groundless."

Five minutes after this Geoffrey entered Claridge's hotel and hastened ough to the central lounge, at this hour almost deserted. At his approach figure in rusty black, as conspicuous as a lone crow in a cornfield, rose om one of the little tables and came to meet him.

"Well?" cried the young man eagerly.

"I am afraid, monsieur, I have not much to report. Twenty minutes ter I left you the Portuguese came out, then took a taxi back to his own ighborhood. I trailed him all the way, but instead of returning at once the apartment he paid a call on a concierge, apparently a friend, several uses farther along the street. I made a point of dropping into the loge the pretext of inquiring for an imaginary locataire, and found the two dis- sing the fire. I did not see anything that looked wrong."

"Did you do anything further?" Geoffrey demanded.

"I hurried back to the notaire's office, hoping to hit on something in that rter. I saw him for a moment, representing myself as an insurance agent, d tried to get him to talk, but it was no good. He was preoccupied and, I ink, a little suspicious—all but shut the door in my face. However, I found t this much—his marriage takes place at the mairie on Tuesday next— three days off."

Club Women Avert Movie Policy Debate

Protest Resolution Sent to Committee.

Denver, Colo., June 12.—(AP)—Today's session of the twentieth biennial convention of the General Federation of Womens clubs saw reintroduction of the question of the "commercialization" of th federation by the motion picture industry. It was believed that problem was disposed of Monday with the adoption of the report of Mrs. Ambrose Diehl of Pittsburgh. Its revival caused surprise. Mrs. Allen Hoover of Baltimore had a resolution apparently designed to place the federation on record as opposing any mention of the organization in connection with the work of Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of Pasadena, Cal., associate director of public relations for the motion picture producers and distributors of America.

Mrs. Hoover sought, unsuccessfully, to bring that question up on the floor. But an objection by the chair sent the resolution to the committee.

"Certain members of this body," Mrs. Hoover declared, "have said that I showed the 'white feather' in not bringing up this question before. I am here to refute that assertion."

The federation's executive committee last Saturday tabled a telegram from the executive board of the Baltimore District Federation of Women's clubs protesting against "commercialization," of the general federation. Reference of Mrs. Hoover's resolution to committee was taken as evidence that similar action probably would be taken with the Baltimore protest.

By an overwhelming vote, the convention adopted the report of Mrs. Ben Hooper of Oshkosh, Wis., chairman of the department of international relations. Mrs. Fred Eric of Philadelphia, objected during discussion in the convention to approval of the report on the grounds that it was "misleading."

She said the convention was going on record as endorsing the world court, without qualification, before the Washington government's reservations had been accepted at Geneva.

Mrs. Eric was opposed by the committee chairman and others. They asserted that the report in no wise could be construed as endorsing anything but the stand taken by the United States state department and the interpretation put on American relations with European countries as set forth in the Root protocol.

Mrs. Eric at earlier sessions also had opposed the adoption of the resolution urging the speedy ratification of the London naval treaty.

Prohibition also appeared at today's session in the report of Mrs. John N. Urquhart of Los Angeles, chairman of the division of law enforcement. She said, "Every member of the federation is considered as a speaker for the cause."

"No great reform ever has become reality without long sustained and patient effort," she added. "Prohibition is no exception to the rule . . ."

The problem of prison reform was presented in the initial reading of an emergency resolution offered by Mrs. Julia K. Jaffrey of New York, stating that prison riots and their attendant horrors "have disclosed our inadequate methods of handling prisoners." The resolution will be considered tomorrow. Reëlection of Mrs. John F. Sippel of Baltimore, president, and other officers excepting treasurer was announced today.

Mrs. Edward Hammett of Sheboygan, Wis., was chosen to succeed Mrs. H. G. Reynolds of Paducah, Ky., who did not seek a second term as treasurer.

Would Control Movies.

Boston, Mass., June 12.—(AP)—The moving picture was accused of distorting and misrepresenting American life, creating hostility in foreign nations, and affecting international relations by Rev. Frederic Siedenburg, S.J., of Loyola university, Chicago. He spoke today at a meeting on neighborhood and community life in connection with the national conference of social work. He favored a federal motion picture commission to exercise control of production.

"Vice is made pleasant while it lasts," he asserted. "Working girls are always the intended victim of an employer's greed or design; people rarely work unless they live in tenements and virtue is generally made to appear depressing. Emphasis is placed on wealth, luxury, and laziness.

"American films are exploited in foreign lands, and frequently those most indecent and demoralizing which have been rejected by state censorship boards are selected for sale abroad."

Skalski Orchestra Will Repeat "Papa Haydn" Tomorrow

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Grateful and comforting to eye and ear alike, "An Evening with Papa Haydn," pursued its pleasant way at the Goodman theater last night. It will be heard again tomorrow night, and it is commended as worth hearing.

The final item in André Skalski's list of attractions for the season, it divided itself into three parts, all in costume of the eighteenth century. The first was the "Farewell Symphony," the Skalski orchestra in white wigs, white stockings, black coats and knickerbockers, Mr. Skalski rather more scenically magnificent in a costume of blue. As the final movement took its turn, the players, one by one, arose, blew out their candles, and left the stage until only two violinists and the conductor remained. If you are insistent upon your musical history, you may be permitted to allege that the conductor did not use a baton in the time of Haydn, but an anachronism may be permitted for the sake of what turned out to be a highly attractive stage picture and some well played music.

There followed two vocal ensembles, sung by some sixteen or seventeen young artists, with Mr. Skalski again as director. Excellent voices they were, too, and the Haydn music had not only melody but humor. Again the period costumes gave brilliancy to the picture.

An intermission, rather a long one, and the final chapter opened in the form of a one-act operetta called "The Apothecary." Preceded by an overture that came from somewhere else, it turned out to be a fairly amusing comedy on the ancient model, an apothecary with ideas about marrying his ward, losing her at the end to his apprentice, and with plotting, confusion, and excursions in between.

Here there were Leslie Arnold as the apothecary, Marie Bronarzyk as the ward, Pedro Espino as the apprentice, and Ruth Heizer as a young man who assists in upsetting the original plans, all with liberal opportunities at music that was always lively and sometimes highly charming. You will find music of the same general character in "The Barber of Seville" and "Don Pasquale," although the melodies plainly bore the Haydn stamp. He would seem to have been the forerunner of comic opera as well as symphony.

The performance was full of life and, considering that it was a first performance—first time in Chicago, by the way—smooth to a praiseworthy extent through some music that sounded uncommonly difficult. The same participants will appear tomorrow night. Berenice Taylor, who was to have sung the part of the ward then, will be unable to be present.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Do you ask the price of food before you do your buying?

Miss Leila Sullivan, 3335 South Union avenue, secretary—What interests me most is the quality, with price secondary. I seldom ask the price first. Of course, I will not pay an exorbitant price.

Hal Alperstein, 3001 West Jackson boulevard, supervisor—I usually make my selection first, then ask the price. I purchase the best of everything. Often I buy at sales, taking advantage of the cut prices.

Mrs. Olive Clausen, 1144 West Eighty-fourth street, secretary.—When one really desires to purchase something of little or great value one should not be so penurious as to ask the price. At least that is the policy I have pursued. No, I don't often ask the price first.

William Wallner, 4044 North Mason avenue, elevator starter—If something is worth having, it's worth paying for. I almost never ask the price first, even though at times I am a victim of unscrupulous merchants.

Miss Rose Kristy, 2225 West Chicago avenue, stenographer—I always inquire the price of articles before making purchases. If I can not get value for my money, I go somewhere I know I can do better. In advertisements I believe the price attracts me rather than the article itself.

Ruth Scribbens of Glencoe Wins Chemistry Scholarship

Miss Ruth Scribbens, daughter of John A. Scribbens, an architect, living at 600 Vernon avenue, Glencoe, was notified yesterday she had won the National Chemical society essay award. It entitles her to four years at any accredited university and $500 a year for expenses. She is a member of the graduating class of the New Trier High school.

N. U. Law Clinic Gets New Help to Guard Poor

Mrs. A. L. Raymond Adds Fee for Lawyer.

Recently Mrs. Anna L. Raymond established a foundation in Northwestern university for the support of a legal clinic in its law school. It is for the defense of the poor in criminal, civil, and industrial cases. The principal of the gift is $200,000, all of the income of which will, when certain prior obligations have been met, be available for the support of this clinic.

Mrs. Raymond also has given to Northwestern university $15,000 to create a fellowship of $750 a year. This fellowship is to be given to some worthy graduate student of the law school who is working for advanced degree and who will use the fellowship in the service of the legal clinic.

Pending the receipt of the full income from this endowment members of the Chicago bar are making annual contributions for the support of the clinic. The money is used in providing a salary for an attorney and clerical force constantly at the service of the courts of Chicago for the defense of poor or destitute persons. The work has been thought so valuable that the county has furnished this attorney and his staff an office in the new Criminal court building.

In addition, the attorney in charge, Mr. De Witt Wright, supervises a group of Northwestern university law school students in the investigation and trial of these cases.

The clinic affords the student very practical experience and an understanding of his obligations as a member of the legal profession. At the same time it gives the poor person, charged with crime, the benefit of trained counsel. In numerous cases the work of the foundation has been of the greatest value in aiding the courts to give protection to a class of persons who not infrequently are dealt with harshly in the administration of criminal law, under the conditions that prevail in the Chicago district.

In addition this fund partially supports another branch of the clinic which deals with the claims of poor persons against employers. These claims come before the industrial accident board. An attorney is kept busy handling this class of cases, and he also supervises Northwestern university law school students in handling such cases,

THE STAGE

THE Philadelphia "civic" production of the "Lysistrata" of Aristophanes, a classic Greek comedy regarded as the drama's first expression of feminism, is a tremendous hit in New York at present. Its management is considering the organization of a special company for a Chicago engagement, opening early in the fall.

"The Second Little Show" will open at the Royale theater, New York, on Monday, Aug. 25, after a two weeks' tryout beginning Aug. 11. Players at present engaged for the revue include Al Trahan, Ruth Testor, and Carl Randall.

Max Gordon will produce in early October a revue, tentatively called "About Town," which will employ several of the authors and principals who contributed to the successful first "Little Show," which will end its Chicago engagement tomorrow night. Mr. Gordon has engaged Fred Allen, Clifton Webb, and Libby Holman to appear in his revue, which will be completed by Howard Dietz and will have music by Arthur Schwartz. Hassard Short will stage the show for Mr. Gordon, who will be associated with the Erlanger office in its production.

The productions scheduled to close tomorrow night along Broadway are "Virtue's Bed" at the Hudson; the Ed Wynn show, "Simple Simon," at the Ziegfeld; George M. Cohan's revival of "The Tavern" at the Fulton, and "The Blue Ghost" at the Forrest. "Virtue's Bed" will go to the Brighton theater on Monday for a week's engagement in place of "Jungle Love," previously announced. The opening of the last-named play at the Brighton has been postponed until June 23, by which time it is expected that the production, now playing in Atlantic City, will have been revised.

Charlotte Greenwood will end her Chicago appearances in "Mebbe" at the Studebaker theater tomorrow night. The company will return to Los Angeles, where it originated, immediately and will resume its activities there, no doubt under the original New York and California title of the play, which was "She Couldn't Say No." Before coming east this farce was acted for six months on the Pacific coast and it holds the season's record for that region.

Lou Holtz, the minstrel boy who used to sing a comic version of "O Sole Mio" with great diligence and effect, will lead the Palace theater's new vaudeville program, beginning tomorrow. Of recent seasons he has abandoned the burnt-cork mask and appeared without disguise in musical comedies and revues, such as "Tell Me More," "Manhattan Mary," and one of George White's "Scandals."

Other entertainers on the bill will be Gloria Foy, who has been prominent in the musical shows, with Sam Critcherson and Allen Davis as her assistants; Naughton and Gold, Scotch comedians, and the Berkhoffs in a dancing skit called "Russian Revels."

"Reunion," a play by S. K. Lauren, will be placed in rehearsal for a summer try-out near New York on Monday, June 23, by Bela Blau and his associates. In the cast will be Charles D. Brown, Cora Witherspoon, Edward Pawley, Rachel Hartzell, Alan Ward, and Mark Smith.

Grads Are Told World Has Use for the Egoists

B. E. Sunny Warns Against Inferiority Complex.

The graduating class of the Armour Institute of Technology yesterday was advised to cultivate a little egoism for use in life rather than an "inferiority complex." The advice was given in a commencement address by Bernard Edward Sunny, chairman of the board of the Illinois Bell Telephone company.

"If I had to choose between a young man of extraordinary ego and one with an inferiority complex, I should choose the former," Mr. Sunny said. "While aggressiveness and conceit may be unpleasant, the aggressive man is apt to make others think. Napoleon and Col. Theodore Roosevelt were examples of the egoist. One would not have become emperor of France and the other would not have built the Panama canal if they had been timorous.

"I have sympathy for the studious, retiring young man who is possessed with an inferiority complex, but I urge him to rid himself of it. It will be a heavy burden on his consciousness. If we don't fit into the world as it is, we are failures."

Mr. Sunny told the young men in caps and gowns that they constituted "the best of youth," because they were unspoiled by wealthy homes. The modest home has supplied most of the world's successful men, he said.

A record graduating class of De Paul university, numbering 288, will receive degrees tonight. Commencement exercises will be held at 8:15 o'clock in the Chicago Civic Opera house. The Very Reverend Thomas F. Levan, president of De Paul university, will confer the honorary degree of doctor of laws on the Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, president of the University of Notre Dame, and William J. Bogan, superintendent of Chicago public schools. Dr. Robert Emmett Kane, chief of staff of the new De Paul hospital of St. Louis, will deliver the commencement address.

Fifty-four students were graduated from the Marshall Field & Co. junior academy, the store's school, yesterday afternoon at exercises in the music room of that State street store. The Rev. Ernest F. Tittle, pastor of the First Methodist church of Evanston, delivered the address to the graduates. D. M. Yates, vice president of Marshall Field & Co., presented the diplomas, and W. B. Towsley, superintendent, presided.

Gov. A. W. Norblad of Oregon and Gov. Doyle E. Carlton of Florida, both graduates of the Chicago Law school, will receive the degree of doctor of laws from their alma mater at the school's commencement convocation at 8 o'clock Tuesday night. Chief Justice C. J. Ramate of South Carolina will receive the doctor of jurisprudence degree. Dr. William Pascoe Goard of London, deputy president of the Anglo-Saxon Federation of Great Britain and America, will speak on "The World State." He also will receive a doctor of laws degree.

Between 1,400 and 1,500 graduates of Northwestern university, including eleven members of the class of 1880, will gather on the Evanston campus tomorrow for the annual alumni day celebration.

Dr. Nels E. Simonsen, president of the class of '80, and Miss Ettie L. Smith, secretary, have completed plans for the fiftieth reunion of that class. Dr. Simonsen founded the Norwegian-Danish seminary in Evanston and Miss Smith has been for many years a teacher of Latin in the Chicago public schools.

All classes from 1880 to 1925 will be represented in the alumni parade, to be held just prior to the alumni luncheon at the Patten gymnasium. Associate alumnae will give a garden party on the woman's campus in the afternoon.

Twelve girls from Chicago and suburbs will be among the graduates to receive degrees on Monday at Wellesley college, Wellesley, Mass. They are: Eleanore Bear, 1145 Sheridan road, Evanston; Malcolm Carr, 4824 Kimbark avenue; Barbara Cook, 1420 Davis street, Evanston; Mary Dunbar, Wheaton; Marjory Gale, 2424 Elm avenue, Evanston; Sallie V. Hamilton, 5430 Ellis avenue; Elizabeth Hansen, 6 North Michigan avenue; Alice Jaques, 5754 Sheridan road; Marion Knoblauch, 411 Fullerton parkway; Dorthea Pflager, 701 Judson avenue, Evanston; Elizabeth Read, 496 East Illinois road, Lake Forest; and Elizabeth Reniff, 4447 Beacon street.

Many Uses for Tougher Cuts of Pork, Beef

Ground Meat Makes Delicious Loaf.

BY META GIVEN.

A butcher told me not long ago that meat cookery has undergone a great change within the last few years. As a result of this change, the butcher offers meat in a different form. What started the conversation was my inquiry about the big tubful of sausage that he was making. He answered, "You know it is impossible to sell certain cuts of meat—cuts that used to be most popular with housewives. These days women demand cuts that will cook quickly and at the same time appear and taste well. Therefore, our porterhouse, sirloin and center cuts of pork chops are sold first. The cuts that used to be so much in favor for stews, pot roasts or boiling go begging. Women will not take so much time for cooking."

If the whole animal were porterhouse or sirloin this would not be a serious accusation. The increasing demand for a small part of the animal, tender and easily prepared, is one of the main reasons for the high price of the choice cuts. The butcher must sell the whole carcass.

In order to do this he grinds the tougher cuts. Grinding removes some of the tough connective tissue. It is this tissue that requires moist heat and slow cooking to become tender. Therefore, its removal results in a product that will cook more quickly. Then, too, ground meat which is rather porous in texture is more readily penetrated by heat than unground cuts and the quicker that heat penetrates any food the quicker it is cooked.

Cheap Cuts Best.

The necessary work required in grinding the meat into sausage or hamburg and the additional care which must be given to ground meat to prevent spoilage and drying out necessarily increases the cost of these cheaper cuts.

Of course, this argument may be offered—"Why not pay a little more to the butcher rather than increase our gas bill in cooking and entail extra labor?"

I am sure that a little experimentation will prove that this argument is not as sound as it might appear. These facts are in favor of the purchase of the tougher, less expensive cuts. A great variety of flavors and textures are possible if meat from all parts of the carcass is purchased, and long, slow cooking of such cuts may be accomplished with little expense in fireless cookers, steam pressure cookers, and ovens that may at the same time contain other foods requiring long cooking.

There is one way, however, of using ground meat to advantage, and that is in meat loaves. The use of bread crumbs and rice in meat loaves makes the meat go farther, thereby reducing the cost. And a great variety of meat loaves is possible.

Selecting the Meat.

In purchasing meat for loaves it is always best to select meat before it is ground. This insures a more desirable flavor, juiciness and tenderness than when cuts of all descriptions have been used.

The tougher cuts are as nutritious as tender cuts and have just as much flavor. One pound of beef sirloin has a fuel value of 1,098 calories, of which 332 are protein and 766 are fat. One pound of beef neck has a fuel value of 1,038 calories, of which 365 are protein and 673 are fat. So it will be seen that if it is the protein about which we are concerned, neck is the more valuable cut. And we are always concerned about protein when we buy meat because it is this part of the meat that builds tissue, repairs waste and supplies minerals and flavor.

Neck at 17 cents a pound, therefore, builds body tissue in just as satisfactory a way as sirloin does at 50 cents a pound. For most of us it is good business management to occasionally invest in the cheaper cuts.

PORTO RICAN POT ROAST.

2 teaspoon minced onion.
Salt.
Pepper.
1 teaspoon lemon juice.
Pinch nutmeg.
1 egg yolk.

Combine ingredients and mix. Shape into 6 round flat cakes. In shaping the cakes handle as little as possible, for if pressed too compactly the cakes will be solid and hard. ½ pound veal.
½ pound pork.
2 eggs.

Put meat through food chopper. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Add salt if needed. The ham is usually sufficiently salty to flavor the rest of the meat. Shape into a loaf and place in a small roaster. Pour 1 cup hot water over loaf. Cover and bake 75 minutes in a moderate oven [400 degrees Fahrenheit]. Yield: 7 servings. One serving: Total, 283 calories; protein, 127 calories; fat, 132 calories; carbohydrates, 24 calories.

Place in an oiled baking pan and lay pork slices over the top. Bake in a hot oven [425 degrees Fahrenheit] 15 minutes, then reduce heat to slow oven [250 degrees Fahrenheit]. Baste every 10 to 15 minutes with fat that collects in bottom of pan. About 1¼ hours are required for cooking. Garnish with parsley and serve with tomato sauce. Yield: 6 servings. One serving. 2½ cups whole wheat flour.
2 tablespoons sugar.

Sift flour, then measure. Resift with other dry ingredients. Beat egg yolks, add diluted milk and fat. Stir liquid quickly into dry ingredients until flour disappears. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites until well blended. Pour enough batter into a hot waffle iron to cover. Bake to a golden brown. A thin waffle is more desirable than a thick one. The waffle iron may or may not need greasing, depending upon previous use. Yield: 6 waffles. One waffle: Total, 380 calories; protein, 54 calories; fat, 131 calories; carbohydrates, 195 calories.

COCOA.

2 tablespoons cocoa.
2 tablespoons sugar.
Few grains salt.
3 cups milk, scalded.

Mix cocoa, sugar and salt and add hot water. Cook over a low flame 10 minutes, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. Add hot milk and continue cooking over hot water 10 minutes. Whisk with a rotary egg beater before serving. Yield: 4 servings. One serving: Total, 185 calories; protein, 36 calories; fat, 80 calories; carbohydrates, 69 calories.

CHOCOLATE BLANC MANGE.

2 tablespoons cornstarch.
1-3 cup sugar.
¼ tablespoon salt.
1-3 cup cold water.
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Melt chocolate over hot water. Add milk and continue heating until mixture is smooth. Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt thoroughly; add cold water and stir to a smooth paste. Pour slowly into hot chocolate mixture, stirring vigorously, then add egg mixture to blanc mange and cook 2 minutes longer. [Beaten eggs should never be added to hot cooking mixture because the egg cooks in strings and does not blend well.] Remove from fire, add vanilla and pour into molds. Chill. Yield: 4 servings. One serving: Total, 263 valories; protein, 34 calories; fat, 105 calories; carbohydrates, 124 calories.

Shortage of Strawberries Stops Canning

Peach Crop Is Low Also, Due to Freeze.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Strawberries will be absent when Chicago housewives call the roll at the end of the canning season, this summer, according to reports from areas which normally produce enough strawberries to permit buying by the crate for hulling, cooking and canning in the home.

Michigan usually supplies a large portion of the strawberries which come into the Chicago market during June in such quantities that the price induces buying large amounts for winter consumption. Apparently the Michigan crop is in the height of its flow to Chicago's principal fresh fruit and vegetables markets, the South Water and Randolph street centers, and within 10 days Michigan berry patches will be plucked practically clean for the season.

W. P. Hartman, president of the Michigan Canners association, reports that the crop for canning in that state will be around 50 per cent of normal on the west side of Michigan. Because of the individuality of the fruit, he says, a shortage of strawberries cannot be made up by the normal crop expected this year in the black and red raspberry areas.

Shortages in Several Crops.

Even if one crop could replace another in popularity for the year, he says, the normal raspberry crop in relation to the short strawberry crop would be overbalanced by the short peach crop. In the January freeze the peach trees were damaged so that there will be practically none of this fruit in southwest Michigan, although there will be a fair crop north of Grand Rapids.

His latest reports on the cherry situation, altered unexpectedly by a heavy freeze, two weeks ago, are that in southwest Michigan there will be about a 20 per cent crop; from Grand Rapids into Oceana county he estimates cherry picking will be 35 per cent of normal, with a good crop, however, from Mason county north through the Traverse City center.

Indiana, also, did not have a large crop of strawberries, this year. Prices remained at approximately the same level as when berries were being received from Missouri and Tennessee after the Louisiana crop was harvested.

Present Quality Is Good.

The quality on the market from Michigan fields, at present, appears good. V. L. Church, federal crop statistician for the state of Michigan, reports that unfavorable weather, including several frosts, cut the crop somewhat, although rains recently permitted what fruit had survived to mature to good size and quality.

Berry prices have ranged from the beginning of the season when they were around 30 to 35 cents per pint to two pints or a quart for 23 to 28 cents. Now many of the berries are being sold for 30 to 35 cents per quart with little prospect of cheaper strawberries between now and the end of the season, which will be within a month.

PRISONERS ON SUGAR ESTATES.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, June 12.—[Special.]—More than 100 native prisoners have been removed from union jails in Zululand and sent to the sugar estates at Doorn Kop, replacing whites. The whites are regarded as unsatisfactory as sugar planters, and it is unhealthy in the sugar belt.

MARKET NEWS TO EXPAND; BUREAU TO DES MOINES

Increasingly large shipments of corn fed hogs from Iowa to packing plants instead of through public stockyards has caused the federal department of agriculture to announce additional market news services, with headquarters in Des Moines, to report quantities and current prices of this "direct shipping" marketing practice.

The service will start Aug. 1, under W. O. Fraser of Chicago, from the capital of the state supplying over one-fourth of the nation's entire pork supply. From this one state, on the average, 180,000 carloads of hogs are sent to slaughter annually, furnishing a gross income of about $282,000,000 to Iowa farmers.

Growth of direct shipping is shown by Leslie M. Karl, federal agri tural statistician at Des Moines, these figures: In 1920 about 67 cent of all marketed hogs went stockyards and 33 per cent to pack houses. In 1929 Iowa farmers 46 per cent to public stockyards 54 per cent direct to packers.

There is a constant increase in amount of the nation's pork, bac and lard supplies coming from called interior or small local pack plants, government reports indicate

Doctors Create Amazing New Cookie to end worries about what children should eat

SunWheats give your child 5 of the 6 essential vitamins.*

They do away with forced feeding of children.

And children love to eat SunWheats.

To keep little bodies growing at their best, children should have an abundant supply of vitamins and minerals, say authorities. No other food ever devised offers children such a rich supply of these protective foods as SunWheats.

MOTHER, scientists in the Universities of Wisconsin and Toronto have created an amazing health cookie for your child.

These scientists studied the food needs of over 7,000 children. They saw that even urging and coaxing fails to get children to eat enough vegetables and drink enough milk to supply all the different vitamins and minerals growing little bodies need.

So they took from wholesome foods these elements so vitally necessary to child health. And combined them into a delicious cookie. They called these cookies "SunWheats" because one of the precious vitamins in SunWheats is the wonderful sunshine vitamin . . . stored there by the method discovered by Professor Steenbock of the University of Wisconsin.

SunWheats do away with forcing children's appetites

Consider what the discovery of these scientists means to your child. By the old method you had to coax, urge, and often force children to make sure they ate all the "necessary" foods.

By the new method you give children as much of wholesome foods as they crave. Then supply possible deficiencies by giving them 5 or 6 SunWheats during the day. Thus you let SunWheats help protect against dangers of vitamin and mineral deficiencies.

Start at once to give your child this protection. Serve SunWheats with meals, as a delicious dessert, between meals and before going to bed. Your grocer has SunWheats.

	In health growth vitamin B . . . . 1 dish carrots

In addition each SunWheat offers the energy value of a slice of whole-wheat bread . . . vitamin A to build up resistance to infections . . . vitamin G to build strong nerves and vitamin E to foster normal development.

Table Setting Reveals Much About Hostess

ives Chance to Show Originality.

BY SALLY LUNN.

One of the most interesting entries the small but exquisitely carried t flower show the Kenilworth Gar- n club held last week was a garden table set so that it told a romantic tle tale without words. It was beled "Engagement Tea," and by genious arrangement it conveyed e picture of a lad and lass enjoying garden tete-a-tete, a proposal, and en desertion of the scene as the ung things flew off to impart the ws of their betrothal. An empty tin box, where the engagement ring d reposed, was the most significant tail in the setting.

Any table setting reveals, not neces- rily such a dramatic episode as this, t something of the character and ste of its designer. If a table is set a pleasant but not unusual and not riginal way, it indicates that the oman who selected the appoint- ents and planned the decoration is are of the fundamental principles table etiquette, but is either un- terested in expressing her own ideas, r unaware of the increased effective- ess she might achieve by so doing.

able Represents Hostess.

She is bound to be as conventional s her table, or else she does not pos- ss the initiative to try something ifferent than what her friends are robably using. An ornately set table ertainly shows pride of possession nd the desire to be impressive, and modest table reveals similar quali- es in its designer. Try this sort of assification out with your acquaint- nces whose characters you are fa- iliar with and see if it isn't so. If ou find, as I'm quite sure you will, at it is you will realize how desira- le it is to exercise your talents for pression in your own table arrange- ents.

They should, first of all, be correct ccording to conventional standards. hey should, of course, be immacu- te. It is not necessary to have ex- nsive things, but it is absolutely ssential that they should put forth e shiniest and best appearance pos- ble.

ppropriateness Essential.

Any table should be set in a manner ppropriate to its particular occasion, d for this, knowledge of customs d conventions is necessary. This t of information is usually passed wn from mother to daughter, so housewife first assuming her re- onsibilities is usually equipped with If she hasn't acquired the ele- ntary etiquette of setting her table, e can get it in etiquette books or y observation, but she should thor- ghly master its details before she ttempts to entertain.

All this is, of course, taken for anted as necessary to good house- eping, but we reiterate merely to ress the background that is essen- l to the setting of effective tables.

Summer Squash in Newest Vegetable to Arrive Here

Summer squash from Texas and Southern California, with other shipments also arriving from Louisiana, are now on the Chicago market for those who demand variety in vegetables not yet in season on near by truck farms. The star shaped squash are among the newest of 1930 crops and sweetcorn has been on the market for several weeks, principally from growers along the Rio Grande river in Texas.

Kingsford-Smith Calls Off Hop; Awaits Fair Weather

Aldermen Will Consider Beach Theater Monday

Members of the city council committees on parks and playgrounds and on conventions will hold a joint meeting Monday to consider the feasibility of a $500,000 bond issue to build a semi-open air auditorium on the city's Clarendon beach property for municipal concerts and opera at popular prices. Last week the committees ordered Walter Wright, director of the city playgrounds, to cooperate with the Music Lovers' league in a study of the project.

Pick Portrait of Harding to Hang in White House

Washington, D. C., June 12.—(AP)—After seven years, a portrait of President Harding has been chosen to hang in the White House alongside of those of other chief executives. The fine arts commission today designated an oil painting by Luis Mora of Gaylordsville, Conn., as being a truer likeness than any other presented.

Peaches, Plums Make Appearance on Fruit Stands

Peaches and plums have made their first appearance this week on the fresh fruit market. The peaches are from Georgia, according to W. H. Hall of the federal fruit and vegetable market reporting service at the South Water market.

The plums mainly are from California. Blueberries, to make fresh blueberry pies, in many homes where this fruit is popular, have been on the market for a month and the supply is increasing in the last few days. They are being picked in North Carolina patches for shipping north.

The blackberry is one of the newest fruits of the season. The present supply of the large berries is coming from Tennessee. Pears now on the market are not this season's crop, dealers explain, but are being supplied from the part of the crop that was placed in storage last year. Modern packing methods have kept them in excellent condition, as a whole. Sour cherries soon will be on the market, as reports from Iowa indicate that farmers are beginning to pick from their small home orchards.

LOIS A. HEALY AND R. M. ATWATER MARRIED

Autumn Dates Set for Two Society Nuptials

BY THALIA ——.

June's continuing popularity as the month for weddings is being affirmed almost every day, still, at the same time—future brides are making plans for autumnal marriages.

Miss Jean MacLeish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce MacLeish of Hubbard Woods, has set 4 p. m. Sept. 20 in Christ church, Winnetka, as the date and place for her marriage to John Dern II., son of Gov. and Mrs. George H. Dern of Utah.

Miss Ada Josephine Bruce, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Bruce of Mattapoisett, Mass., and Henry Kent Chapin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kent Chapin of 2430 Lake View avenue, have set Oct. 24 for their wedding in Boston. That is the wedding anniversary of Miss Bruce's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress of Fenbrook, Hubbard Woods, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to Burwell Dodd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Dodd of New York. Miss Fentress made her debut at a garden tea at the Fentress residence in Hubbard Woods in the fall of 1924, and later in the season her aunt, Mrs. John W. Gary, and the Fentresses gave a tea and dinner-dance for her. She attended Vassar college, and Mr. Dodd attended Hotchkiss and Yale. No date has been announced for the wedding.

The marriage yesterday afternoon of Miss Lois Andrews Healy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jay Healy of Evanston, to Robert Morrisson Atwater, son of the Walter H. Atwaters, was attended by a small group of relatives and friends of the bride and groom. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Horace Bridges at 4 o'clock at the Healy residence.

The bride wore her mother's wedding dress of white crêpe de chine, with shirred sleeves, a white velvet bolero jacket, and a long train falling from the waistline, and a tulle veil gathered under a snug lace cap. She carried a boquet of yellow roses and white sweet peas.

The maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Morrow, wore a green organdy frock with close fitting bodice, short puff sleeves, and full, ruffled skirt, and a wreath of daisies for a headdress. The bridesmaids, Miss Lydia Atwater and Miss Peggy Healy, were garbed in blue and raspberry organdy, respectively. All three attendants held clusters of spring flowers.

Brewster Atwater served as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Ralph C. Otis, Kinney Smith, Allan Healy, James Otis, Winston Healy, and James Patterson. Mr. and Mrs. Atwater will reside in Evanston on their return from a wedding journey.

Mrs. John F. Jelke Jr. has been appointed chairman of the newly organized finance committee of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, which includes Mrs. Kent Clow, Mrs. Charles Cushing, Mrs. Charles B. Pike, Mrs. Farley Hopkins, Mrs. Harry Shearson, Mrs. George D. McLaughlin, Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, and Mrs. Huntington Henry. The committee members are to meet this afternoon at Mrs. Jelke's residence.

The Fort Sheridan horse show is to take place Friday and Saturday, July 18 and 19, for the benefit of the educational, religious, charitable, and recreational activities of the post. There are to be 35 classes and 200 entries are expected. Capt. James S. Rodwell is executive chairman of the horse show association.

Mrs. Lawrence H. Vilas of 2608 Lake View avenue and her children have departed to spend the summer at Wianno on Cape Cod.

Mrs. Aldis J. Browne and Mrs. Augustus W. Eddy and their children left this week also for Cape Cod and will be near Osterville. Mrs. Warren Ripple and her youngsters are to spend the summer on the cape, too, Mrs. Ripple having waited until after the Red, White, and Blue carnival was over before making her departure.

Mrs. James R. Montgomery of 219 Lake Shore drive and her children leave this week to spend the summer at Coburg, Canada. Mr. Montgomery will be with them the latter part of the summer.

The sons of Mr. and Mrs. Knowlton L. Ames Jr. of 1330 North State street are all going to camp for the summer. The oldest, Knowlton III., is to go to a camp in Colorado, and the little ones, Thomas and Robert, are to be at Oconomowoc at a summer establishment on the camp order for youngsters. Meanwhile, Mrs. Ames works at her job for the Dramatic league.

Miss Julie R. Adams of the Pearson hotel is to sail on June 25 for Europe with a group of speakers and writers who are to study conditions in Europe. Her itinerary will include London, Paris, Geneva, Oberammergau, Berlin, Leningrad, Moscow, and Warsaw, and she is to return on Sept. 12.

Miss Ruth Robinson came from Old Westbury to join her aunt, Mrs. Ferdinand Roebling.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., June 12.—[Special.]—President Hoover gave a dinner tonight in honor of the president elect of Brazil, Dr. Julio Prestes, who is spending a few days here. Señor Prestes is at the former home of the late Henry White, who was an ambassador to France. The house now is held by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Meyer who placed it at the disposal of the Brazilians. The same house was used by Marshal Joffre and his staff during their war time stay here.

The Brazilian ambassador, Señor Do Amaral entertained at luncheon today in compliment to the president elect of Brazil.

Miss Grace Burton, niece and former hostess of the late Senator Burton of Ohio, has returned from a fortnight's stay in Atlantic City, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. George Burton of Lincoln, Ill., who has spent the winter here with her.

Doctor Urges Rest for Boy Violinist; Calls Heart Enlarged

New York, June 12.—(AP)—Dr. Oswald Laraponde, a diagnostician, testified today, after an examination of Ruggiero Ricci, 9 year old violinist, that, in his opinion, a proposed concert tour of the country this winter would be injurious to the child's health.

The physician appeared as a witness for Pietro Ricci of San Francisco, father of Ruggiero, who is attempting through habeas corpus proceedings to regain custody of the boy and his younger brother, Girgio, from Miss Beth Lackey, their legal guardian. The father charges the boys are being exploited.

Dr. Laraponde testified that when he examined Ruggiero today he found an enlargement of the heart, unusual for a boy of nine, and a more than normal emotionalism. Otherwise, he said, Ruggiero appeared to be in good health, well nourished, and in pleasant surroundings.

The physician said he would advise strongly against all public appearances. Ruggiero made four public appearances last winter and is scheduled for a tour of the east and the middle west this winter, in which he will play ten concerts in little more than that number of weeks.

Miss Lackey's attorney pointed out that Fritz Kreisler was playing recitals at the age of 12, Jascha Heifetz at nine, and other great violinists at earlier ages, but Dr. Laraponde said that would not cause him to change his opinion.

"They are the successful ones," he said. "We hear nothing about those who failed."

Dr. Laraponde was the day's only witness, hearings being adjourned until next Tuesday.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Miss Jean Hogue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver R. Hogue of Highland Park, and Paul Stone of Oconomowoc, Wis., took place yesterday at the residence of the bride's parents, with the Rev. Christoph Keller officiating. Miss Hogue attended the Bennett school and Mr. Stone is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. Mr. and Mrs. Stone have gone to the Lawsonia Country club for their wedding trip, and are to reside in Oconomowoc. Their romance began last summer at Lawsonia at a regatta.

The marriage of Leona Marie Barthelmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Barthelmes, 2640 Morse avenue, to George Carolen Foy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Foy of 6446 North Claremont, will take place Saturday, June 14, at St. Margaret Mary's church, Chase and Elmwood avenues.

Finley Peter Dunne, 10741 Avenue B, nephew of the creator of "Mister Dooley," obtained a license yesterday to wed Miss Josephine Marine Egan of 1631 East 85th street. He gave his age as 34 and hers as 25. He is a bond broker.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Moulds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fryer Moulds of 5739 Kimbark avenue, to Ernest Street Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Stevens of 1314 East 58th street, took place at 8:30 o'clock last evening at the Hyde Park Baptist church. The bride wore her mother's wedding gown and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Jane Beach served as maid of honor and George Francis James Jr. was best man for the groom. Mr. Stevens and his bride have left for a two months' motor trip to the Pacific coast.

Art Institute Student Show Sets New Mark

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Art institute student show hung in the east wing gallery is this year a better exhibition than it was last year or the year before that. It is a stronger show and more selected. The various departments of the school are illustrated in terms of the best work each course called out.

Charles Fabens Kelley, dean of the school, was most interesting yesterday in the discussion he gave in the morning concerning the merits and opportunities and achievements of the school. It is due to him that the instruction now covers a four year period instead of a three, and it is due in great part to him that the standards for the various years are increasingly being raised.

It is not quantity production that the professors and instructors of the school are looking for; it is quality. There is enough mediocrity in the industrial world without the Art institute school being party to giving birth to more. Scholarships which in other years might be found offered in fairly generous number to the lower school students have been cut in two, one for the best man student and one for the best woman student, so that the incentive a scholarship brings will carry over to the longer period of study. Mr. Kelley suggested that those who in former years had won prizes of notable value in their first two years of work were not as patient of discipline or restriction or instruction in the succeeding years. The winning of a scholarship was practically felt to be an "open sesame" to conclusive success.

The present theory of instruction in the lower school is based on the three dimensions. Problems are approached from that angle whether they deal with actual substance, such as boxes or pottery, or such material as patterns and painted design. Some of the work carrying out this thesis is very clever. The introduction of the moving picture as an instructive element has opened other doors to the imagination and to the practice of draftsmanship. Motion is a composite and the significant moment during its duration is the riddle the pupil must solve.

The upper class work is greatly improved over that shown last year. The figure studies and the portraits have more vitality and character and the still life more brilliancy of color. To enter the advanced figure classes a committee must pass the student in a resumé of his previous work in still life and figure drawing. The standard again is raised.

The Art institute art school is one of the most famous in the country and one that ranks among the best. It is not endowed. In times of financial panic the mortality is ghastly. Last fall's stock market losses were reflected in the number of students who discontinued their courses. A great many students work their way through by jobs in advertising offices. The offices cut their forces and the students suffer. The tuition of the school is kept low purposely.

The greatest of credit and approval must be given to those in charge of this most important part of the Chicago Art institute. They are doing a great work. Each year the effort is made to better the results of the year before. The current exhibition gives the essentials of training the student receives. Of course, it cannot give it all. For a rapid survey, it does excellently. For more, we must look at the records of our teachers and students. They stand up well against any in the country.

Try This Japanese Foot Remedy

Costs Little and Makes the Feet Feel Fine.

Foot sufferers gather round; get right up close and listen. Here's good news for you.

The real "Corn Killer" is here at last. Ice-Mint, the New Discovery made from a Japanese product, is said to surely and quickly end all foot misery.

Hard corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes, also toughened callouses, just shrivel up and lift off easy. It's wonderful. There is no pain or soreness when applying Ice-Mint or afterwards, and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

Think of it; just a touch or two of that cooling, soothing Ice-Mint, and real foot joy is yours.

Ice-Mint prevents foot-odors and keeps them sweet and comfortable. It s the real Japanese secret for fine, ealthy little feet, and keeps you free om foot troubles. Every person who s suffered with stubborn corns or nder feet can appreciate the cooling, oothing comfort that it brings; especially women who wear high heeled shoes, and men who have to stand all day on their feet. Try it. Get a few cents' worth of Ice-Mint from your druggist today and give your poor, tired, suffering, burning feet the treat of their lives. There is nothing better.

Are You a 'Yes' Father, a Terrible Ogre, or Your Child's Friend?

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

A booklet by Mrs. Bevans on "Books to Be Read to Children or by Them" will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A question for fathers: What is your place on the home scene? Do your children think of you merely as the hard working breadwinner?

Do your children think of you as the one who always says "yes" to them, who gives them money when they ask it, and always gives in to them? Don't let them think of you as just that. Or do they think of you as a terrible ogre who will mete out punishments for the day's misdemeanors, which have been saved up to tell father when he comes home?

Don't let anybody, even the children's mother, force that rôle on you. It isn't fair to you and it isn't fair to the children. Instead, be a regular father to them. They need you as much as they need their mother. And you need them.

Articles on children and books on children are addressed infinitely more to mothers than to fathers. Often I myself, say mothers when I mean both parents. But partly because "parent" seems to me to be such a cold sounding word. For instance, if a college boy on the campus says "Those are my parents over there," it hasn't nearly the warmth that it has if he says "That's my father and my mother over there." But since parents is the only word we have we should use it and not write to mothers when we mean fathers, too.

Fathers should be in the picture much more than they are. To be sure, it takes time to be a regular, all-around father. It takes time and caring to be interested in the children's school work, their hobbies, their friends. It takes time to talk with them, walk with them, play with them. It takes time to show them the consideration you would show a grown person. It takes time to win their obedience by courtesy and by understanding their point of view.

It takes time to be a force, an influence in their lives. It takes time to enjoy them. But there's no time you spend that profits you or them like this.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Increasing attention on farm woodlots is being focused by projects in states around the great lakes, according to news releases from Ohio, Illinois, and Wisconsin. In Washington county in Wisconsin 75,000 white and Norway pine and spruce seedlings are helping farmers turn idle land into potential crop production of timber.

The state nursery sold the small trees for $4 a thousand. Hillsides, odd corners and partially grubbed out cut-over land found to be difficult to put into production of cultivated farm crops are being used. Wisconsin has 21,850,000 acres in farm lands, it is estimated, of which 5,650,000 acres are in woods.

In Ohio attention is being directed to C. N. Wilcox, a Huron county farmer, who is said to have made a profitable move by keeping a 20 acre woodland tract which he almost permitted to be leveled in 1910. In the last ten years he estimates nearly $1,000 worth of saw logs have been taken out of the tract and yet he still has an excellent stand of young timber. Recently he sold several hundred dollars' worth of sugar maple, beech, tulip, poplar, white elm, white ash, red oak, and black walnut.

L. E. Sawyer, extension forester of the college of agriculture at the University of Illinois at Urbana, is sending out warnings that Illinois has but 3,000,000 acres of timberland left out of its original bequest from nature of 15,000,000 acres and that even this remaining portion is being mistreated. The average farm woodlot should yield from $3 to $5 an acre if protected from fire and live stock.

Yours Hands Will Quickly Respond to Lotion or Cream

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Of course you are conscious of the importance of the manicure, but are you as conscious of the importance of the rest of the hand? Well manicured nails will prove any hand, of course, but it is foolish to put all the care into the tips of the hand and let the hand proper look red, withered or oldish.

The skin on the hands is subject to far more daily punishment with soap and water than the skin on the face. So, more preservative treatment ought to be given hand skin than face, really.

The natural lubricating oil that keeps skin on both face and hands young, soft and pliable is removed more frequently from the hands by soap and water. Hands must be washed. They should be washed often, too. But one can avoid extremes of hot and cold water on them.

A hand lotion should be just as much a fixture on the toilet table as a cleansing lotion or a powder jar. And it should be used. It's the only way one can possibly hope to combat the natural oil removal.. If you haven't a favorite hand lotion, a manufactured product, use olive oil or cocoa butter, or a good cold cream. You might just as well have one of the good lotions on the market, for they are pleasant to use, and if you have to pay out money for something you are more apt to give it a conscientious trial.

It's just a matter of habit to add a thought for hands when you are doing your face creaming job. When you you are giving your nightly face ritual, remember the poor digits and what they are appended to. Have a heart and give them a taste of the cream or something from the bottle marked "Hand Lotion."

Protect them against wind and burn as well as you can. Once they get red from burn it's hard to get the skin back in clear, smooth shape again. And we certainly are right in an era of hand observation never before as penetrating. I mean an era in which hands are observed for flaws as complexions now are.

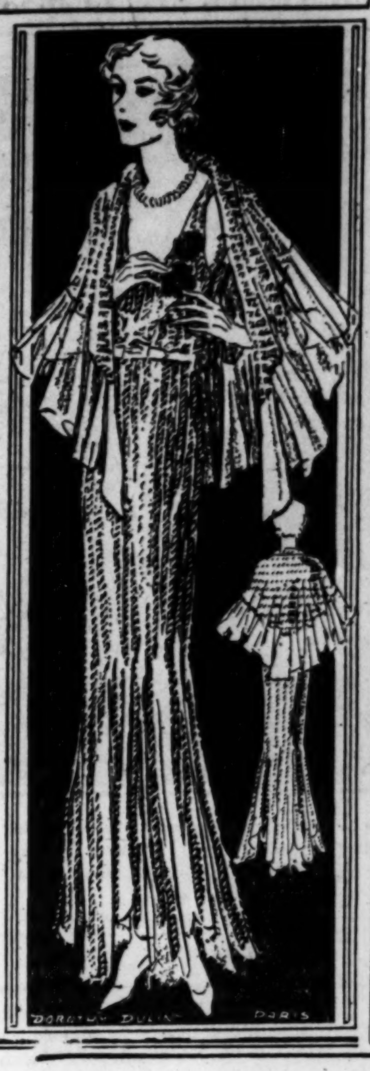
Molyneux Embroiders Chiffon with Crystals

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—As the summer evenings grow warmer the Paris elegantes look cooler, thereby performing an important duty towards panting humanity. Paris couturiers just now are busy studying pictures of icebergs and arctic expeditions to put themselves in the proper state of mind for supplying a little sartorial refrigeration to the new costumes. The colors they use are doubly important now that practically everybody but the color blind has become color conscious. Water green, moonlight blue, iris mauve, are all cool colors that have a soothing influence on the nerves and eyes.

But better than any cooling color is snowy white, and when it is embroidered in the new manner with frosty crystal tubes, it turns the evening elegante into a veritable snow maiden.

Molyneux makes this evening ensemble of white chiffon and embroiders it all over with trompettes of clear crystal, attached at only one end to the material, so that they hang free in a fringed effect like tiny icicles. The frock is quite simple, the skirt being widened toward the hem by means of petal godets. The little shawl is crystal embroidered like the dress with a circular flounce of plain white chiffon. Molyneux's favorite tailored belt with a crystal buckle marks the high waist. A single touch of color is added by two bright red carnations worn in an unusual way below the left shoulder strap. Their lower edges are appliqued to the dress, leaving their upper petals free and giving a charming bas-relief effect. White satin slippers, eight button white gloves, and a clear crystal necklace are the prettiest accessories for this ensemble.



Chicago Normal Dance.

Members of the senior class of the Chicago Normal college will give their annual spring dance this evening in the north ballroom of the Stevens hotel. Brita Jonsson, chairman of the dance committee, and Ruth Weske, class president, will lead the two wings of the grand march.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

It was Jimmie's first day at kindergarten, and he came home all excited. When I asked him what he did he said, "We all marched in a line and I was leader at the end."

HARD-SOFT LARGE-SMALL CORNS

Out To Stay Out—Roots and All
Magic Oxygen Salts Bath Never Fails.
No More Burning, Aching Feet.

No matter how many corns you have or how painful they are—soak your feet for 15 minutes in a delightfully soothing and revitalizing Radox footbath for 3 or 4 nights—then lift corn and callouses right out—roots and all, and they won't come back, either, unless you wear shoes again which aggravate your feet.

No cutting or digging is required because Radox liberates oxygen which softens hard outer layers of corns, each night penetrating the pores further and further, carrying the salts right to roots of corns which are so loosened they can be lifted out bodily.

Your feet are made strong—healthy—vigorous—hard skin on heels and toes goes also.

All good drug stores are stocked with Radox—if they aren't, insist upon their ordering it if you want to experience great foot-joy and comfort.

Give the children plenty of cake!

. . it's good for them

HOW children do crave sweets—it's a natural healthy appetite. Have plenty of cake on hand for them; but don't tie yourself to the oven making it. Oh, no! there's a better way than that.

Get one of the many varieties of Ward's Fine Cake that you will find at the store where you usually trade. It is made with the very same fine butter, eggs, sugar, milk, flour and flavoring that you would use in your own kitchen. And costs less to buy than you could make it for.

Give the children a slice or two at meals and in between times. Or give them the smaller 5c or 10c cakes. These small cakes are also great for picnics and for the lunch-box of the man of the house. They are wrapped in protecting paper to keep them moist and fresh.

Larger cakes for the family dessert, for serving with or without fruit or ice cream. A great convenience in the modern household.

PLEDGE OF FRESHNESS—You don't have to ask your grocer if Ward's Cake is fresh. Our special system of distribution is your guaranty that every Ward's Cake is fresh. If any Ward's Cake should not be satisfactory in any way, take it back to your grocer in the original wrapper or package. He will give you a fresh perfect cake or refund your money.

Too Many Women Regard Lightly the Job of Matrimony

BY DORIS BLAKE.

To look on at the way some women hold down jobs as wives supposedly, gives one to wonder what special dispensation from life they seem to think they've cornered to absolve them from the duties that belong to a wife's job.

Maybe the idea never occurs that being a wife is a job. Perhaps the type has honestly convinced itself that it is a long time recreation period which some women are never slated to enjoy and others who are in a position to enjoy are just silly enough to occupy their time making a job of.

I don't know. I wonder, sometimes, what does go on in the back of the heads of girls who go through the legal procedure of becoming a wife and from then on seem to have no idea of what the world, its men particularly, have a right to expect in return for the marriage diploma.

A case in point, an exaggerated one, of course, as most cases in point are, is that of a girl about five years wed. Time and again she bursts out with: "Well, when I got married I never expected I'd have to do this." THIS being always a household duty, one of the many that honest working wives accept as part of the day's work and never think of raising a question about.

A noble restraint keeps you from bursting out with: "Well, darling, when you got married, what in the name of all that's good and holy did you expect you would have to do? Decorate the landscape? Sit on a throne, or whatthe?"

It doesn't matter how soft is the berth you are about to fall into through your marriage break, there is a job ahead in it. There's work in it. There's more than yourself to think about in it. And if you lie down on the job you're a quitter, worthy of the just desserts that quitters usually enjoy.

Of all the jobs, however, it is universally voted the grandest. Regardless of suspicions to the contrary founded on divorce hearsay, it is the securest—if you work at it. But it is a job, and it should be viewed as a job by aspirants for its favors.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Change of Heart?

"Dear Miss Blake: My boy friend's brother was speaking to me over the phone. Not knowing who I was, he said: 'Walter only likes one girl and her name is Marty.' But two weeks ago he gave me a standup.

"MARTHA."

Boys do not disappoint those they are fond of, unless something unexpected happens, and then they immediately explain.

No Real Barrier.

"Dear Miss Blake: My girl is four months my senior. She says she could never marry a man younger than herself. Please advise. T. C."

The difference is so slight I don't believe it will be a barrier if she learns to care for you.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Request for Diabetic Scale.

"I have just returned from the hospital after a bad case of diabetes and need a diabetic scale, which it is impossible for me to buy. As my husband has been out of work for almost a year and we owe rent and other bills, we cannot get all the things we need, and I would be so grateful for your assistance. MRS. E. A."

If you or another member of your family has suffered with a similar ailment and you no longer need the scale which proved so helpful in maintaining your diet, may not this woman have it? It would help so much to insure her comfort.

Offers Bird Cage.

"I have a brand new bird cage of brass fully equipped with swings and dishes which I will give to anyone who can make use of it. You probably will know of someone. L. W."

If your pet canary is becoming dissatisfied with his old quarters I am sure this new home of shining brass would catch his eye and lift his spirits. Write me, if you can make use of it; please do not telephone.

Chicago Death Rate from Tuberculosis Lowest for Years

The death rate from tuberculosis in Chicago during 1929 was the lowest in the history of the city, Dr. Benjamin Goldberg, medical director of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, made known yesterday. He spoke at the annual field day of the Service league of the sanitarium.

Last year's death rate, which can now be correctly computed with a completed census, was 76.6 per 100,000, a decrease from 84.9 per 100,000 for 1928, Dr. Goldberg said. The first five months of 1930 show a further decrease of 197 deaths from tuberculosis over the same period in 1929, a new low death rate of under 70 per 100,000 for this period of 1930.

"This new rate can be continued and improved upon as time passes," he continued. "Tuberculosis as a disease, which 20 years ago stood out as the first cause and captain of the men of death, has in that period dropped to its present fifth place as a death cause. With a continuance of present methods, another 20 years should see tuberculosis on the list of inconsequential causes of death.

"However, tuberculosis as an infection is still widespread, and only through the education of the public in hygiene, sanitation, and dietetics, and our more recent concepts in actual treatment of those already afflicted, preventing further spread, can we hope to obtain this goal. Chicago today leads the world in tuberculosis control methods, and the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium has created this preeminent position."

Connecticut Politics Weary Him; Joins U. of Chicago

A report from Storrs, Conn., that Dr. George Alan Works, president for the last year of Connecticut Agricultural college at that city, had resigned to accept a professorship in the school of education at the University of Chicago, was confirmed last night by Dr. Frederic Woodward, vice president of the University of Chicago. Dr. Works handed his resignation to trustees of the agricultural school after commencement exercises last Monday because, according to the report, he was unwilling to "buck the Connecticut state political machine, which had opposed his plans to improve educational facilities there."

CO-OPERATIVE APARTMENTS.—SOUTH.

AN ENVIABLE RECORD

Seven years ago JOHNSTON BROS. built the first structure in Chicago to sell as a co-operative building, and to date they have built and sold 218 co-operative apartment homes in Woodlawn and South Shore. Through the years these buildings have shown and do today, a substantial surplus from operating expense. With this successful history we anticipate your interest in knowing that we offer for resale in Jackson Park Highlands, close to the lake, South Shore Country club, I. C., and Jackson park, two five and one six room apartment homes. Excellent floor plans, large rooms, fireplaces, canvased walls, tile baths, garages, all with reasonable terms and a total monthly payment as low as $91, which includes payment on mortgage. Call us for appointment. Inspect these homes and let us explain the benefits and satisfaction of owning your own apartment in a JOHNSTON CO-OPERATIVE BUILDING. Phone State 1727.
